TAXIS BANNED TO PROTECT PUBLIC FROM VIOLENCE, MAYOR DECLARES

Today

Big Corporation Useful. They Drink and Tell. On Crime's Highway. Russia Says Shut Up.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE General Electric Company has perfected a device to transport electric power over longer distances at less expense. The invention, called a "thyratro," is described as a modified vacuum tube, adapted to power transmission uses.

SOME day science will "hook up" the world's great power stations of North America, Niagara, those in the Rocky Mountains, on the Columbia River, Brazil, with other great stations in Africa and all over the world, as radio stations are now hooked up.

Then will come wireless transmission of power, so that airplanes will be able to "pick up power" at various points in their journey, instead of carrying tons of fuel.

The research work done by such institutions as General Electric, United States Steel, Westinghouse, Standard Oil, etc., will give back to the public in increased prosperity, a hundred dollars for every one that those big corporations have ever received.

A "BIG business man," Mr. Murphy, of New York, says he doesn't know any big business man that doesn't drink. He, himself, drinks.

A COMMITTEE in New York's big Republican club, including the president of Columbia College, demands a vote on prohibition. They say in substance, "We all drink, why not say so, like men?"

WHEN you have a law and a constitutional amendment openly flouted, by ninety per cent of the powerful men in the country, there is something wrong with the law, or something wrong with the powerful men.

THIS country is traveling rapidly on the road that leads to thoroughly organized crime and complete contempt for law.

A United States grand jury reports that officials supposed to suppress the sale of drugs are organized on a "racket" basis, misrepresenting their activities to get more money from the government.

Some of them are alleged to be narcotic addicts. The charge is made that the big men in the business can "buy their way out," if they get in trouble.

IN the seven months past, criminals and others have purchased three times as many pistols as were sold altogether in the twelve months of 1928. A big demand for killing machinery.

THE American Jewish Congress yesterday joined with the Pope, British bishops of the Anglican church, and others, demanding that Russia cease persecuting religion.

THE United States government is requested to take a hand and tell Russia what to do.

The last time we told Russia what to do, in connection with events in China, Russia told us to mind our business. And apparently we did.

Russia, in this case, would remind us that we have no official religion in the United States, and while it pleases us to tolerate all religions, it is no concern of ours what Russia does about her religions.

WALL Street was not so cheerful yesterday, with a "reactionary tendency" toward the close.

One expert says "prices are coming back to peak." Pray for it, if you like, but don't bet on it.

ANOTHER expert says that in nine years, from the end of 1920 to the end of 1929, stocks were going up 66 per cent of the time, and going down 34 per cent.

The difficulty is to pick out the time when they are going up.

A WISE plan is to find out what property a stock represents, what the property is worth and how many shares are issued.

One ingeniously arranged promotion scheme issued more than sixty million shares. If you bought one share you owned less than one sixty-millionth part of the combination. That's worse than watered stock.

It is like taking apart the molecules of water, separating the hydrogen and oxygen atoms, dividing up atoms, and selling the electrons and nuclei as separate shares.

GERMANY continues airplane development, the government interesting itself in flying, in spite of restrictions created by the Versailles treaty.

Captain Boykow produces an "automatic pilot," enabling the human pilot to leave his seat for half an hour at a time. In foggy, or stormy weather when regular air traffic is stopped, the automatic pilot drives its plane in a straight line, or in curves as desired, with great accuracy.

POSTMASTER GENERAL BROWN, who has done a great deal to encourage American aviation, will be interested in that news.

Fog has ben the great danger for our air mail and commercial pilots.

BLAST KILLS MAN, RAZES HOUSE

Naphtha Cleaning Fluid Is Blamed For Herron Hill Explosion; Three Injured

A man was killed and three persons were burned, one seriously, this afternoon by a blast which shook the neighborhood and demolished the frame house of Theodore Simon, 3511 Beethoven street. The cause was believed to be naptha used as a cleaning solution.

A body was taken from the ruins after a 20-minute search. It is believed to be that of Theodore Simon.

Mrs. Martha Simon, 40, was rushed to the West Penn Hospital, suffering serious burns and other injuries.

SUFFER BURNS

Mrs. Jennie Carver, 67, owner of the two-story frame house, was taken from the place suffering burns. She is being cared for in the home of a neighbor, C. T. Getz, of 3447 Bigelow boulevard.

Fireman Michael J. Berkley, of No. 14 Engine Company, suffered burns of the hands and face and was treated at the scene.

BLAME NAPHTHA

According to neighbors and firemen, Mrs. Simons was believed to have been cleaning a dress with a naphtha solution when the liquid ignited.

Mrs. Carver was on the second floor, and was probably saved more serious injuries by escape from the blaze that followed.

Police, firemen and ambulances from nearby hospitals rushed to the scene.

Ralph W. Fink, of 1111 Tennessee avenue, Dormont, saw the blast from a window of his nearby garage.

ROOF IN AIR

"The roof of the Simons house suddenly went up into the air," Fink said. "A sheet of flames followed it. I rant into the street and climbed into the house through a window and got through to the upstairs. Mrs. Carver was pinned between the wreckage of the roof and the second floor.

"I worked my way through the wreckage and pulled her out. Neighbors came to my aid and we took her to a nearby home.

"May father, Samuel A. Fink, ran to the house with me and found Mrs. Simons semi-concious on the first floor. He pulled her out and by that time an ambulance had arrived."

Mabel Willebrandt Pays $10 as Speeder

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, for some years the nemesis of prohibition law violators, paid a $10 fine in traffic court here today for speeding. A traffic officer testified that he clocked her car at 38 miles an hour.

Mrs. Willebrandt paid her fine and quickly left the courtroom, pursued by a small army of news photographers.

BRIDAL PARTY HELD IN THEFT

A prospective bride and bridegroom, together with their bridal party of three men, were held for trial today under $1,500 bail by the United States commissioner. The charge was transporting a stolen automobile, owned by R. E. Hoffheins, of Warren, O.

The hearing ended a trip of thrills for Orville Dove, 21, prospective bridegroom; Patricia Lusk, 20, bride-elect; Russell Meyers, 19; Benjamin Lewis, 18, and Clarence Cole, 18, all of Cincinnati, O. The pre-honeymoon was made, according to police, in the stolen automobile from Warren, O., to Prizzleburg, Lawrence County. At Prizzleburg, state patrolmen caught up with the party.

The intended bride said that the party was bound for Pittsburgh for the wedding.

Hoover Will Honor First President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—President and Mrs. Hoover will observe George Washington's birthday by going to Alexandria, Va., the home town of the first President, to review the annual parade in that city tomorrow. The chief executive, accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, George Akerson, a secretary, and his naval and military aides, will motor today to the city across the Potomac for the celebration.

FIRST WOMAN HANGED IN ARIZONA

Mrs. Dugan Meets Doom With Smile; Spectators at Gallows Horror-Stricken

FLORENCE, Ariz., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Mrs. Eva Dugan, the first woman to be legally executed in Arizona paid with her life on the gallows for the slaying in 1927 of A. J. Mathis, Tucson rancher. The trap was sprung at 5:11 a. m.

As the trap clanged and she dropped more than six feet, the noose tightened, severing her head, and the body catapulted to the floor.

DIES WITH SMILE

Six women were among the 100 horror-stricken spectators.

Warden Lorenzo Wright immediately cleared the gallows room and turned the body over to the prison physician and an undertaker.

Mrs. Dugan, unshaken, had calmly climbed the 13 steps to the gallows and smiled as the black hood was adjusted over her head. She said she had no statement to make.

Warden Wright clasped her hand and said, "God bless you, Eva."

Mrs. Dugan smiled and said, "Goodby, Daddy Wright."

A few seconds later the steel trap was sprung.

Warden Wright a few minutes before the hanging revealed to newspapermen the discovery of what he believed was a plot by Mrs. Dugan to cheat the gallows by taking poison before she was removed to the death chamber.

DISCOVER POISON

Acting on a tip that the woman had procured poison, Wright said he transferred her from her prison

TAFT'S FAMILY CALLED TO SIDE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Failure of William Howard Taft to gain ground during the last week today prompted those who are at his bedside to summon members of the family who are out of the city to come to Washington.

While there was nothing to indicate his condition had taken a sudden turn for the worse, it was said those caring for the former president and chief justice felt some apprehension over a lack of improvement.

Today's noon bulletin said the ill man was "just about the same." It made no further comment.

The members of the family who are out of the city are his daughter, Mrs. Manning, and two sons, Robert P. and Charles A., and his brothers, Henry W. Taft and Horace Taft.

10 COURTS IDLE WITH 3 JUDGES ILL, 3 ABSENT

Common Pleas Bench Hit By Vacations and Sending Of 4 to Criminal Branch

Ten of the 14 courtrooms in Common Pleas Court were vacant today. Of the 14 judges, the four hearing Common Pleas cases were Judges James R. Macfarlane, Joseph M. Swearingen, George V. Moore and Elder W. Marshall.

Three were on vacations. They were Judges James B. Drew, Josiah Cohen and Thomas J. Ford.

Three were ill. They were Judges Richard W. Martin, Thomas D. Carnahan and President Judge John A. Evans.

Four were assigned to Criminal Court. They were Judges Harry H. Rowand, Ambrose B. Reid, Frank P. Patterson and James H. Gray. When Judge Martin reported off today, Judge Gray was shifted to his place in the assignment room of Common Pleas Court.

There will probably be no jury trials in Common Pleas Court next week because the panel of 220 jurors probably will be discharged today. This week there have been 12 jury trials, a low number, and approximately 150 of the panel were idle much of the time, at the rate of $4 a day each. The jurors were originally called for two weeks' service last Monday.

MERCURY HITS NEW HIGH

Pedestrians sweltered today as the mercury established a new high record for this date.

The official temperature was 67 degrees at 2 p. m., with likelihood that it would reach 70. The previous maximum for February 21 was 61 in 1915.

Continued springlike weather is in store, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said. Skies will be overcast tomorrow, he said, with possibility of rain Saturday night or Sunday. Temperatures in the Northwest were far above normal.

Taxis Banished to Save Public Lives, Kline Says

Mayor Charles H. Kline early today issued his promised formal statement concerning the taxicab strike and its violence. He reviewed the failure of efforts to settle the taxicab strike and defended his verbal order banishing cabs from the streets. His statement:

"The paramount right to the safe enjoyment of our streets belongs to our people. Any cause, therefore, which interferes with or molests that inherent right of our citizens to pass in safety over their own thoroughfares is a menace and must be eliminated without loss of life or destruction of property. For some weeks now the strike has been waging between our local taxicab corporation and its employes.

"At its inception, and for some time thereafter, there were indications that it might be settled by negotiations.

"Many conferences were held, which were participated in by James J. Davis, secretary of labor; Peter Glick, secretary of labor in our state administration, and the chief executive of the City of Pittsburgh. Many hours and much effort were expended in behalf of the settlement.

BOTH SIDES ARBITRARY

"The final outcome was failure because of the arbitrary attitude of both sides to the controversy. Then ensued a period of open war and an effort on the part of the company to restore its service by force.

"From the city police and Sheriff Cain, the chief peace officer of the community, the corporation received every protection and assistance consistent

FACES QUIZ OF COURT CONTEMPT

Officials of Cab Companies Confer on Move to Appeal Restoration of Service

Mayor Charles H. Kline today had cleared Pittsburgh streets of every Yellow and Green taxicab. He justified his order on the grounds that it was necessitated by strike violence and that lives were more valuable than property.

The Mayor faced the possibility of being called into court to explain interference with taxi service. A recent injunction prohibiting any interference with the cabs is a general one, declared counsel for the taxi companies. Taxi officials are meeting to consider future steps, probably court action.

In the first statement the Mayor has issued during the strike, which in six weeks has produced a casualty list of one dead and more than 200 hurt, the Mayor asserted:

CABS HELD MENACE

That both strikers and employers have been selfish; that the streets must be kept safe for the public; that at present taxicabs create a menace to safety on the streets; that they can be protected adequately in their garages; that the strike must be settled by negotiations.

Both sides have declared they would not arbitrate the chief question—unionism.

Attorney C. K. Robinson, counsel, and E. S. Higgins, vice president of the Parmelee Company, with Walter S. Laird, president of the Yellow Cab Company, went into conference at noon. After a short adjournment the conference was resumed.

"Our first concern is the restoration of service in

Mystery Waif Flees New Home to Evade Queries

Tubby Buddy Jones, 10, the mystery waif who resided for two days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Humes, Freeport road, Montrose, disappeared late today before authorities had an opportunity to determine his identity.

Buddy told Mrs. Humes he had lived with an aunt in New York, but that he left her because she loved his sister more than she did him. He went to Montrose on a freight train, he said.

FOUND CRYING BY BOY

Alden Humes, 12, took Buddy home with him when he saw him crying on the river bank near the Humes home. The ferryman, after taking the boy across the river, returned with him when he found he hadn't any money.

Juvenile Detention Home officials said, however, that they believe him to be a boy who escaped from the institution two days ago. They had planned to question him today.

SEEN WITH TRUCK MEN

Blawnox police said they saw the boy in company with two men on a truck. The men told police the boy sobbed out a story to the effect that he had been kidnaped by gypsies and that he escaped from them last night. The men promised to take the boy to the East End Police Station, police said, but late this afternoon he had not appeared.

HOOVER FAVORS REBELS ON TARIFF, DEMOCRATS SAY

BACKS CUTS, HARRISON CLAIMS

Old Guard Listens to Taunts In Senate; Grundy Hits Reductions as 'Menace'

International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Republican high tariff protectionists listened in silence in the Senate today to Democratic taunts that President Hoover is depending on the Democratic-Insurgent coalition to slash "exorbitant" rates in the pending tariff bill.

Senator Pat Harrison (Dem.) of Mississippi raised the issue by jibing Republican leaders over a Kansas City Star article purporting to reveal the President's attitude on the tariff. The story said the President favored the coalition's attitude in revising tariff rates downward.

GRUNDY HAS COPIES

Senator Grundy (Rep.) of Pennsylvania, meanwhile circulated copies of the story among his Republican colleagues. He added that he was opposed to the present bill with its slashed rates because of its "menace to American industries."

Harrison first called the Senate's attention to a Washington newspaper article telling how Grundy had circulated the Kansas City story. He then urged Republican leaders to arise and deny the article if it were untrue.

"One branch of the Republican Party contends the President favors the action of the coalition in revising rates downward," said Harrison. "Others are energetic in trying to create the opposite impression that the President agrees with the Republican Old Guard. The country is left in confusion as to his true attitude.

"We on this side (Democrats) have manifested in every way our desire to obtain from the Republican leaders the views of the President. They told us they did not know and almost they have gone to the extent of saying they did not care."

READS ARTICLE

Then Harrison read the Washington article telling how Grundy had circulated the Kansas City Star story among his Republican colleagues. "He must have shown it to Senator Smoot first," said Harrison.

"He did not do so," retorted Smoot.

"I suppose that's because the Senator has been accepting some amendments reducing the industrial rates," replied Harrison. "Or it's because Grundy doesn't believe you have fought as gallantly and persistently as you might to save his rates and is sore."

Then Harrison suggested that Grundy had shown the article to Senator Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut. The latter said he hadn't seen it and added:

"Perhaps the Senator will explain why he didn't show it to me."

"Oh, he felt the Senator has lost whatever influence he once possessed," replied Harrison.

TAUNTS GRUNDY

"It is said Senator Grundy saw months ago just what the President was going to do about the tariff," Harrison continued. "He then believed the President wasn't in favor of the House bill and was giving encouragement to those of us who wanted to reduce some of the rates for the benefit of the people. He felt the President was against Easterners. Now we get further light on the President's attitude from this newspaper.

"Even though it comes through the side door, I am proud to have the President with us at this late date."

Grundy, leading proponent of tariff protection, said afterwards that his attention had been called to the Kansas City Star story and "had about six copies of it run off which I showed to some of my friends on the Republican side."

"I am against this bill," he added. "I am opposed to this idea of tearing down in a few minutes the industries which have been built up over a period of 75 years."

'Public Safety' Mayor's Defense of Taxi Ban

with sane judgment and the saving of human life.

"But I want to point out that a taxi strike, when carried on in congested streets of any metropolitan community, presents a most extraordinary condition.

"If a man owns a factory and has a strike it is a comparatively easy matter with which to deal. The property is fixed and immovable. Guards, police and deputy sheriffs can be thrown in and around it, and some semblance of order can be restored.

PEOPLE OWN STREETS

"If force is used under such conditions, it will be his own property which will suffer destruction and only those who are directly involved would lose their lives.

"But in the case of a taxi strike and an attempt to operate, the peace officers are compelled to deal with movable, not immovable property. A taxi corporation, to attempt operation under such conditions, must have the use of something which does not belong to it, viz: the streets of our city, the supreme ownership of which has been invested in the people since time immemorial.

"There is, therefore, a distinct difference between restoring and maintaining order in a factory yard when none probably but the combatants are involved or could be killed and the quelling of riots in our crowded thoroughfares where the lives of non-combatants and disinterested women and children may be snuffed out if the peace officers start firing.

FORCE OPPOSED

"It is easy enough to say that the police and deputy sheriffs can use riot guns, blaze away into crowds and restore order at any costs. If they did this and if the killed and wounded comprise only those who were directly involved on one side or the other, it would be bad enough.

"But let each one of us bring the case home to ourselves. Suppose in the consummation of such a plan your wife or husband, your brother or sister, your boy or girl became innocent victims of the slaughter. What would your reaction be?

"I maintain that this taxi strike is one which cannot be successfully won by force of arms. If, by the exercise of every power, the taxi service could be restored without effecting a peace, the people would not ride because of fear for their safety.

"Therefore, corporations would be losing revenue and would have but an empty victory at the sacrifice of many human lives.

CONCLUSIONS REACHED

"Following the disorderly and riotous conditions of last week, the committee of public-spirited citizens unsuccessfully undertook to negotiate between the parties. Sheriff Cain proposed to the strikers that a committee representing them and one representing the corporations meet and select an arbitrator. He received his answer yesterday from the men to the effect that they intend to deal directly with the corporation, and desire no outside interference.

"With all these facts in mind, I have come to the following conclusions:

"1—That both sides to the controversy are more concerned about their own interests than they are about the transcending interests involved, that of the public and the saving of lives.

"2—That the police and peace officers have risen to every emergency consistent with the thought, which is fundamental with me, that human lives are more precious than property rights and that when the latter menaces and molests the former, they must be submerged.

"3—That the city streets, the supreme rights to enjoy which in peace and in safety, belong to our people, shall not be used as a battleground on which to settle the differences of the parties involved, particularly when the interests are merely incidental to and not fundamental in our civic life.

"4—That any further use of our streets by the taxi corporation, while present conditions continue, constitutes a menace to the safe enjoyment thereof by our people.

"5—That when the taxis retire to and remain in their garages it will be possible to give the corporation the fullest protection to its property rights without involving the lives of the public.

"6—That this is a strike which must be settled by arbitration and peaceful negotiations, and that if the parties involved have at heart the welfare of their city and their people, to whose patronage and good-will they both owe their livelihood, they will promptly proceed to think and act in terms of civic patriotism.

"7—That the taxicabs should be temporarily banned from the streets pending an amicable settlement, the responsibility for which rests on the heads of the company and its men.

"The people of Pittsburgh need and desire to have a taxicab service operated with efficiency and safety.

"They want to see the corporation make a fair profit on the investment involved. They wish to see their men make wages which guarantee them and their families satisfactory living conditions. But, to restore that service, shall newmade graves of innocent and disinterested victims in al. the cemeteries of our community, be the price to be paid?"

2.75 BEER NOTE IN CONGRESS RECORD

Revived Brewing Industry Predicted as Aid to Farm, Labor by Union Chief

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Prohibition developments today were:

1—A letter from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to George W. Wickersham, president of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission, appealing for 2.75 per cent beer, was read into the Congressional Record.

2—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon assailed the bill which would compel the government to discontinue the use of poison in denaturing alcohol.

3—Senators Norris and Wheeler continued their preparations to "blow the lid off prohibition enforcement conditions" by a senatorial inquiry. Authorization of the inquiry is expected Monday.

4—House liberals gathered more anti-prohibition evidence to be laid before the Judiciary Committee next week. Gen. W. W. Atterbury and Pierre S. du Pont, who failed to appear for the exciting hearing yesterday, are to testify then.

The Green letter asking 2.75 beer "to quell resentment against prohibition and relieve unemployment" was placed in the Record by Representative Bacon, of New York.

Wickersham has set March 5 for a hearing upon the proposal of Representative Dyer, of Missouri, to legalize beer.

AID TO FARMERS

A brewing industry, Green said, would consume, 2,500,000 tons of coal each year, require 130,000 freight cars for transportation, provide employment for metal workers, glass blowers and others.

It would relieve farm depression, he said, added because the industry formerly consumed $110,000,000 worth of barley, corn and other farm products annually.

Mellon advised Chairman Hawley, of the House Ways and Means Committee, that the Sirovich bill to provide discontinuance of the use of poison in denaturing alcohol was "impracticable" and "unnecessary."

Hawley had asked Mellon for comment on and recommendation of the measure, which would provide non-poisonous denaturants.

Mellon wrote that "such legislation would prevent the department from exercising its discretion in selecting suitable and proper denaturants and would prevent the proper administration of the various acts authorizing tax-free alcohol."

Owing to the illness of Judge Richard W. Martin, who heard the contempt case against three violators of the taxi strike injunction, sentence will not be imposed by him, although he had set today for action. Other arrangements to handle the cases were being planned.

CONTEMPT SEEN IN TAXI BAN

the interest of the public," said Robinson.

FOUR TAXIS SEIZED

Although the Mayor's order was not issued until today, its provisions were put into effect yesterday afternoon — mistakenly, it is said—by Public Safety Director James M. Clark.

Attorney Robinson was called to Clark's office yesterday, cab company officials revealed, and notified verbally that the Mayor had ordered all cabs removed from the streets.

Four Yellow Cabs at the William Penn stand, remaining after nightfall, were seized by the police and their drivers arrested, although their guards were turned loose. The drivers were held without bail, while the cabs were towed to the New Allies garage.

CONFERENCE SECRET

Those arrested gave their names as Neal Tiee, of 702 Cabot way; Paul Timko, of 132 Doria street; Joseph Vinimski, of 129 South Twenty-first street, and Ray Sinclair, of 702 Arch street. They were held over in Central Police Court today.

Several conferences were held in the Mayor's office yesterday preceding adoption of the ban, Sheriff Robert S. Cain having attended two of them. At the first meeting Police Supt. Walsh, Harrison Nesbit, president of the Bank of Pittsburgh, and James Rae, president of the Chamber of Commerce, were present.

None of the conferees would discuss the meeting upon leaving the Mayor's office. Later in the day City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley, Public Safety Director Clark and City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt met with the Mayor. No news was forthcoming from this meeting either, but it was generally conceded that the Mayor was contemplating drastic action as the result of the killing Wednesday night of W. F. Dreibhold as the aftermath of an attack on a fleet of Yellow cabs returning to the garage in First avenue.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED

The only semblance of disorder late yesterday occurred when police in the Oakland district arrested 14 men, all of whom were found, it is said, in the act of preparing for assaults on taxicabs with stones and other missiles.

At Morewood and Ellsworth avenues, Patrolmen Joseph Thompson and Charles Heh arrested Charles Moser, of Wexford; A. P. Suber, of 724 Fulton street; E. S. Moenices, of Mt. Hope road; Julius Ingelishs, of 810 Weteach street; A. G. Searight, of Veronica street; Albert Itecht, of 2069 Center avenue; Charles Hermann, of 1429 Woods Run avenue, and Joe Hammond, of 1406 Juniata street.

Five others were arrested at Devonshire and Ellsworth avenues when police say they found them loitering near piles of stones and bricks. They were Lester and Meri Kumpf, of 263 Thirty-fourth street; Fred Eckenhafer, of 4773 Yew street, and Ray and Milford Mantzel, of 4923 Cyprus street.

MARTIN PUTS OUT LEWIS PETITIONS

State Chairman Backs Joint Candidacy With Grundy In Plea to County Chiefs

HARRISBURG, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—The lines of battle in the impending contest within the Republican party at the May primary were more clearly drawn today as chairmen of county committees and other party workers over the state received blank nominating petitions for Senator Joseph R. Grundy and Samuel S. Lewis, a candidate for governor.

With the petitions, the chairmen found a letter written by State Treasurer Edward Martin, who is Republican state chairman, saying he was distributing the petitions as a private citizen and not in his official capacity. Rules of the party prohibit party officers from taking sides in a primary.

Over 700 of the petitions were mailed out late yesterday and last night from the offices of Chairman Martin at the state treasury after he left the capitol for Philadelphia. They were addressed to both men and women.

LEWIS' POSITION FIRM

If nothing else, the appearance together of the petitions for the two men gave almost definite assurance that Lewis would be the junior Senator's running mate. More than that, Martin's distribution of them, regardless of the capacity in which he served, gave the greatest credence thus far to reports that former State Treasurer Lewis has the indorsement of the leading elements in control of the party machinery.

The mailing of the petitions presented a Grundy-Lewis ticket against a slate composed of William S. Vare or James J. Davis, secretary of labor, for senator and Francis Shunk Brown for governor and attention of the state organization slate makers today was turned in the direction of the lieutenant governorship.

Since State Senator Frank A. Harris declined to be considered for the post, the name of his colleague, Senator Frank A. Baldwin, of Potter County, has been most frequently heard. Another prospective candidate is Robert G. Woodside, Allegheny County controller and a former service man.

Before leaving the capitol shortly after noon today for his three weeks' cruise in southern waters, Gov. Fisher said he had no statement to make concerning the Republican political situation in Pennsylvania. He will return about March 16.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, of Pittsburgh, who passed through Washington today, en route to Florida, told Pittsburgh representatives he was hopeful of seeing a compromise effected on the senatorial and gubernatorial candidates of the Mellon-Fisher-Grundy and the Vare factions before the campaign reaches the speech-making stage, and thus avoid internecine strife.

WOODSIDE BOOMED

Allegheny County friends today believed that Controller Woodside will be the choice of the Republican state organization as candidate for lieutenant governor on a Grundy-Lewis slate, instead of Senator Baldwin.

Consideration of Woodside is believed to be due to the urging of Western Pennsylvania leaders who are said to have pointed out that a widely known World War veteran should have a place on the organization ticket. Woodside is a past national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Joseph G. Armstrong, Allegheny County Commissioner and Republican county chairman, plans to be in Florida next week and said he probably will see James J. Davis, "if he is there." Armstrong did not expect to meet Vare, he said.

Barton Urges Temperate Views on Dry Problem

"Liberals" and "drys" were both assailed for the intemperance of their arguments by Bruce Barton, noted advertising man, today.

Barton is in Pittsburgh to speak at a dinner of Group 8, Pennsylvania Bankers' Association. He is the author of "The Man Nobody Knows" (Jesus) and "The Book Nobody Knows" (the Bible).

Barton's attention was called to Samuel Harden Church's remarks against prohibition at a congressional hearing yesterday, and he was asked to comment. He said:

URGES TEMPERATE ACTION

"One of the unfortunate facts about the temperance question is that so few people seem able to discuss it temperately. When Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist Church, talks about calling out the United States Army to arrest men and women who have a cocktail before dinner, he merely fans the fires of hatred.

"When opponents of the amendment class who support it as bigots, they do an injustice to many high minded and patriotic people. We have had the liquor question in the world for several thousand years. No nation has ever yet found a completely satisfactory solution.

"It is too much to assume that we Americans are smarter than all other residents of the earth and that we have hastily arrived at a solution which is going to be the last word. We are going to have prohibition discussion going on in this country as long as we live, and probably long after we have quit living.

MUST FORM HABIT

"We might as well begin to form the habit right now of carrying on the discussion temperately. Certainly the leaders of thought owe it to the country to set an example in this respect.

"There is as much conflict in the Bible on the subject as elsewhere. Noah, after performing the superb job of saving the human race, spoiled his record by getting drunk—a horrible example. On the other hand, Saint Paul prescribes a little wine for the stomach's sake."

Sidney C. Howard, Writer, Files Plea for Divorce

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Charging desertion, Sidney Coe Howard, the playwright, filed suit for divorce in Superior Court here against Claire Eames Howard, actress and member of a prominent Cleveland family.

The complaint brought an end to a romance which had its inception nine years ago when Miss Eames, niece of the prima donna of a decade ago, starred in Howard's production "Swords."

In the complaint Howard said his wife deserted him November 8, 1928. He asked for the custody of their four-year-old daughter, Claire Jenness.

A settlement covering community property was made out of court. Howard, the son of John L. Howard, president of the Western Fuel Company, married Miss Eames, June 1, 1922. A member of the Lafayette Escadrille during the war, he won the Pulitzer prize in 1925 for the play, "They Knew What They Wanted."

NAVAL PARLEY SNAGS WORRY WASHINGTON

Administration Faced With Threat Congress May Air Situation at London

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—A distinct note of pessimism over the prospective accomplishments of the London naval conference has developed in Washington this week. It has grown to such proportions that administration leaders were somewhat worried today over the possibility that the situation may be given a critical airing in Congress, which would be embarrassing for the administration as well as for the American delegates.

The enforced recess of the conference, owing to the French ministerial upset, the now practical certainty that the conference cannot accomplish any material naval reduction, and the persistent demand of the French for a treaty of security, have combined to make Congress exceedingly pessimistic concerning the whole project at London.

FEAR ROW

It is because of fear of "stirring things up" on Capitol Hill that the administration will refrain at this time from asking Congress for additional appropriations for the American delegation, notwithstanding that the initial appropriation of $200,000 is about exhausted, and the delegation is about "broke."

The critical attitude which many members of Congress are now assuming toward the conference is not confined to the old irreconcilable group nor to the so-called "big navy" men, who might be expected to be critical. It cuts across party lines to include even those Democrats of the Wilsonian school who have always leaned toward a little more commitment abroad.

The persistent suggestions advanced at London for "putting teeth" in the Kellogg pact, as a means of persuading France to come down in her naval estimates, are particularly objectionable to the Senate, and it seems reasonably certain that if the American delegates at London yield to any pressure of this sort it will cause a tremendous flare-up in the Senate.

SUBMARINE PROBLEM

LONDON, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Informal study of the question of the humanization of submarine warfare took place at the foreign office today between the legal experts of the big five powers. George A. Rublee, confidential adviser to Ambassador Morrow, and Keith Merrill, personal adviser to Secretary Stimson, represented the United States.

Secretary Stimson came to town today and had lunch with Lord Grey, former foreign minister.

TATE WINS JOB AFTER FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Hugh M. Tate, of Knoxville, Tenn., was empowered today to take office as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, his nomination to that post approved by the Senate over the vigorous objection of a small group of Democrats and Independent Republicans.

Forty-eight votes were cast in favor of his confirmation, while the opposition mustered 18 after voicing a general complaint against the appointment of "men interested in monopolies, trusts and combinations" to governmental regulatory bodies.

Tate was attacked as a representative of railroad and power interests.

The roll call vote, which was taken at the close of yesterday's session, showed 34 Republicans and 14 Democrats in favor of confirmation and eight independent Republicans and 10 Democrats voting against approval.

Freeport Road Crash Basis for Law Suit

Aaron D. Bowling, of Twelfth street, New Kensington, asked $15,000 damages from John Huss, grocer and meat dealer of Springdale, in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, for injuries growing out of a collision on the Freeport road November 22 last. Bowling alleged his leg was broken and he sustained other serious injuries when his automobile, attempting to pass a truck of Huss, was struck and forced against a pole.

TARDIEU BALKS NEW CABINET

PARIS, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Camille Chautemps, French premier-designate, after completing a tentative cabinet, ran into difficulty today and at noon asked President Gaston Doumergue to give him more time.

A full cabinet had been formed with the exception of a few of the under-secretarial positions, but the apple cart was upset by retiring Premier Tardieu's party, the "Republicans of the left," who refused to support the projected new government by a vote of 26 against 3.

Their action, which was taken at a party caucus this forenoon, eliminated three of the projected cabinet, Francois Pietri, minister of colonies; Pierre Etienne Flandin, minister of commerce, and M. Ricalfi, minister of pensions.

The Premier-Designate, therefore, had to make some last minute switches. He went to the Elysee Palace at noon and spent a half hour with the President, announcing afterward that he would have a cabinet formed later in the day.

No More Dry Raids, Hotels Promised

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—There will be no further liquor raids on hotels here, Director of Public Safety L. B. Schofield assured members of the Hotelmen's Association as an aftermath of the raid on the Benjamin Franklin Hotel here last Sunday, when 25 men and women guests were arrested.

The hotel association dropped its demands for Schofield's dismissal when he agreed to inform the management of any hotel where his men found liquor being used before raiding it.

HORST ACCUSER RETRACTS

WOOSTER, O., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Detective Ora Slater announced this morning that Charles Hanna has admitted that Tony La Facia and Charles Treska, both of Akron, who were arrested yesterday, are not guilty of participation in the killing of Melvin Horst, 4, of Orrville, or the disposal of his body.

In his confession yesterday, Hanna said he had conspired with La Facia and Treska to kill Melvin, and that they were to pay him 25 gallons of liquor and were to dispose of the body.

La Facia and Treska were arrested in Akron and brought here at once, but Detective Slater said nothing had been found to substantiate Hanna's previous claims that they were involved, and declared the Akron men would be released.

"Hanna said he couldn't even identify La Facia and Treska," Slater said.

According to the detective, Hanna had heard of La Facia and Treska and named them in his confession through some unexplained desire to "frame" someone else in connection with the killing, which he admitted having done himself.

Expect Oil Blast Injured to Recover

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Most of the 50 persons injured in the explosion and fire at the Linden plant of the Standard Oil Company, which killed 11 workers, will recover, physicians said today. For a few of the severely burned, chances of recovery were considered slight.

None of the surviving will be blinded for life, as was first thought, doctors said.

LATIN AMERICAN LAUDS MOORE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21.—The declaration that Ambassador Alexander P. Moore was an international worker for peace and friendship of all America was made by Don Jose M. Jardon, of Buenos Aires, in a cablegram received yesterday at the White House. Senor Jardon, member of a distinguished Argentina family, who knew Mr. Moore both in Spain and South America, cabled his regrets on the Ambassador's death to Lieut. Col. C. B. Hodges, military aide to President Hoover.

In a letter to Ambassador Moore's family here, Col. Hodges quotes Senor Jardon:

"Regret the decease of Alexander P. Moore. He was a great worker for peace and friendship of all America and personally I will always remember him as a sincere and loyal friend."

Col. Hodges, a personal friend of Ambassador Moore, will attend the funeral at Pittsburgh Sunday in his official capacity as the aide to President Hoover. He will be the guest of Col. Thomas M. Anderson, chief of staff of the Ninety-ninth Division, at the Pittsburgh Athletic Club.

The body of Ambassador Moore will arrive in Pittsburgh late tomorrow and will be accompanied from California by J. K. Emge and other friends from the Pacific coast. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 3 p. m. in Moreland's funeral home, North Highland avenue and Rippey street.

LEAPS FROM WINDOW TO STREET

Lord Westbury, Father of Aid In Carter Explorations Who Died, Loses Mind

LONDON, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—His mind harried by thoughts of the Pharaoh's curse and the recent death of his son, 78-year-old Lord Westbury today fell or threw himself to death from his bathroom window on the seventh floor of St. James Court.

His body crashed through a glass verandah ceiling 100 feet below, and knocked over a woman there. She was so badly cut by broken glass and so affected by shock it was necessary to take her to a hospital. Lord Westbury was dead when he was picked up.

An inquest into the death was held a few hours afterward and a verdict of suicide while of unsound mind was rendered. The dead man, who was the third baron of his name, has been in ill health for some time.

WORRIED OVER SON'S DEATH

Lord Westbury for months has worried over the strange circumstances of the death of his son, Richard Bethell, 46, who was secretary to Howard Carter, whose investigations in Egypt disclosed the treasures of ancient Tut-ankh-amen.

Bethell's death, while apparently from natural causes, revived discussion of the superstition of a curse resting upon meddlers with the tombs of the Pharaohs. His was the tenth death among people concerned with the exploration of Tut-ankh-amen's sepulcher, Carter, chief disturber of the tomb, is still alive.

OWNED MANY RELICS

In the very flat from which Lord Westbury presumably jumped were several important and exquisite works of Egyptian art from the Egyptian Valley of Kings which Bethell, who was his heir, had given his parents.

Lord Westbury lived alone in his flat in the care of a trained nurse. He took advantage of the nurse's temporary absence from his room early today to arise from his bed and go to the bathroom from where he plunged to his death.

Although there had been no reason to anticipate an attempt at suicide, the nurse testified, two farewell letters on black-edged note paper were produced at the inquest. On one of them Lord Westbury had written: "I really cannot stand any more horrors."

POISONER LIVED HERE AS CHILD

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Unless James Baker, talkative young man who says he killed eight men with poison and shot another to death, changes his mind, New York authorities can have him whenever they come for him.

Baker, who today remained in the county jail, declared that he would not fight extradition to the city where he says he poisoned Henry Gaw, watchman in the Guggenheim laboratory on December 28, 1928. The Gaw murder was the only one of the nine of which a definite record was found yesterday after Baker had made his remarkable confession to Detroit police.

ONCE LIVED HERE

Baker today elaborated and revised his story of the slaying of his stepfather in Ohio.

He told police that the man's name was Harry Parks instead of Cyril Parks and that the slaying was in Newton Falls, O., instead of Warren. The killing took place in 1924, when he was 16 years old, Baker said.

"My mother married Parks in Mt. Washington, Pittsburgh, when I was 3," Baker said. "A little later we all moved to Newton Falls."

Baker said Parks beat his mother and that he grew to hate him. His mother and his brothers and sisters are still living at Newton Falls, he said.

HOOVER'S RADIO BOARD STAYS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—President Hoover's reappointments of the present personnel of the Radio Commission for terms of two to six years were approved today by the Senate Interstate Commerce Commission.

This action assured confirmation of the reappointees late today or tomorrow, allowing them to continue in office without interruption. The terms of all five members expire Sunday.

The harmony of the session was broken by Senator Wheeler (Dem.), of Montana, who protested against the reappointment of Commissioners Charles McK. Saltzman and William D. L. Starbuck. He indicated he would fight their confirmation on the floor.

Dressmakers' Strike Peace in Balance

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Whether the strike of dressmakers will be renewed is to be determined after a conference tomorrow with Lieut. Gov. Lehman.

Dress contractors and jobbers disagreed over a form of contract, the contractors threatening to repudiate their recent strike settlement with the garment makers unless a contract is agreed upon.

COYNE GIVEN 3 MONTHS IN JAIL

Patrick Coyne, a brother of State Senator James J. Coyne, today was sentenced to serve three months in the county jail and fined $100 and costs by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar.

Coyne had been convicted of sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a common nuisance at 4731 Second avenue.

A co-defendant, Michael Higgins, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced to three months in jail today. Higgins said that he, not Coyne, operated the place and Coyne claimed that he had sold the place before the alleged offenses took place, but the jury found the Senator's brother guilty, nevertheless.

Ileana Backs Queen In Betrothal Break

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Princess Ileana, of Rumania, has agreed to the cancellation of her engagement to Count Alexander von Hochsberg, it was reported in a Bucharest dispatch to the newspaper Tempo today.

Ileana's agreement removes the last obstacle to annulment of the betrothal. Being of age, she could have insisted upon the marriage in spite of the opposition to it because of charges made against the count.

D. A. R. Lauds Washington Warning on Alliances

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—The unselfishness, modesty, kindness and reverence that comprised the character of George Washington was described by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in a radio address today for the National Radio Homemaker's Club.

Washington's most momentous question, one admonishing us now, is, "why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalship, interest, humor or caprice," said Mrs. Hobart.

In accordance wits its policy of promoting national defense and defending patriotic ideals, the organization has decided to sponsor a national series of radio talks by prominent persons that will be broadcast over a coast-to-coast hoop-up. A series of 10 addresses will be made in the program, the first of which will be on February 27, when Gen. Henry J. Reilly will speak on "The Whys and Wherefores of National Defense."

Preachers Enslaving U. S., Col. Church Says in Plea For Dry Local Option

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — Prohibition is merely the beginning of complete enthralldom for the people of the United States by a group of fanatical and bigoted preachers who have usurped the role of dictatorial lawmakers, Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute declared yesterday before the House Judiciary Committee, holding hearings on dry repeal bills.

Col. Church pointing to the reaction and mental revolt of millions of American citizens against the Eighteenth Amendment and its "attendant evils" advocated "reconsideration, examination" by the Supreme Court for unconstitutional flaws in its makeup, looking toward complete repeal, and proposed that its stead, local option liquor control in each state, county or city.

His address in part follows:

"Since making a proposal on February 4 for the creation of a new political party in the United States to be called the Liberty Party, I have had the opportunity of learning to a very considerable extent the reaction of the people of this country to that purpose.

"There is a swelling wave of evidence on every hand that in the opinion of many millions of the American people prohibition, after 10 years of trial is unenforceable because it is opposed by the popular will that it is a social and legal failure and that it has resulted in an increase of intemperance, corruption and crime.

Dictation By Churches

"Yet, when, in the interest of liberty, public order and sobriety we ask our representatives in the House and in the Senate for relief we are told in effect that a law that has been put into the Constitution cannot be taken out, thus denying the fundamental principle of a Republican form of government which our fathers fashioned.

"When we seek to uncover the forces which oppose a constructive policy of adjustment on that subject we find that there are some 20 religious organizations which have presumed to exercise dictatorial powers in the realm of lawmaking. Among these societies is the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, its most influential voice that of a medieval ecclesiastic, who is put forward as a pattern of public morals, although recently exposed as a bucketshop gambler, but pausing in his travels last week long enough to cable from Europe his instructions to amend the existing law so that every man who takes a drink shall go to prison.

"Then come the Presbyterian, the Baptist and the other religious morality leagues, proclaiming that tobacco must be outlawed as the twin evil of whisky.

"Next, the Lord's Day Alliance, composed of rich men who ride in their automobiles, play golf, and see the moving pictures at their clubs—all on Sunday — while withholding these innocent pastimes from the masses of the people under the threat of fine and imprisonment.

"Then there is the Anti-Saloon League, which advances money for the election of some of our lawmakers and bribes them by giving them fees for lectures on the temperance question.

"Then the Ku Klux Klan, organized to prevent the election of any Catholic, Jew or Negro to any office, and strange as it may seem, that Society has elected many men on such a principle as that, and it is still a powerful political force.

Other Bans Proposed

"Prohibition is the favorite child of all these organizations, and yet there is a brood of other misbegotten children coming behind prohibition and constituting a part of the program of public morals, thus: The suppression of tobacco, of public dancing, of all games played for a stake, including bridge, of horse racing and boxing, of love making in picture shows (that bill was introduced this week); while on Sunday we are to be carried back to the most stringent regulations of the Mosaic code; and as one of the spokesmen of the Lord's Day Alliance explained to me, the small boy playing ball in his father's yard will be arrested because of the fear that he may grow up to advocate professional baseball on Sunday.

"Just a few months ago, when President Hoover had courteously granted me an interview at the White House, as I came from his room I passed the 'Bucketshop Bishop' and 14 other ministers from the Lord's Day Alliance who were waiting to go into the President's office to persuade him into advocating the Blue Laws for Washington. And one of those men, during the war, was censured by Mr. Hoover for profiteering in foodstuffs.

"It is certain that these religious groups in no way represent the political aspirations of the American people. Recent statistics based upon the census reports show that the population of the United States is a trifle over 120 millions, some 18 millions of which are Catholic, 10 million Jews, with about 22 millions in all the Protestant churches, leaving us with the significant conclusion that some 70 millions of our people are entirely without church affiliations of any kind.

Plans For Repeal

"Without modification or compromise of any kind, the entire question of liquor control should be returned to the states, where drinking can be regulated by local option in each state, county or city according to the wishes of the people therein. With this local option control established, beverages should be permitted to be sold in stores in packages not to be opened on the premises, but in hotels and in genuine restaurants its use should be freely authorized by law.

"There are several ways in which a constructive program of repeal can be pursued. First, by an appeal to the legal conscience of the Supreme Court on the question of the quorum. Gouverneur Morris, who was Pennsylvania's representative in the Constitutional Convention, and was the draftsman of that great instrument, said that in regard to the adoption of an amendment by Congress, the vote of two-thirds of all the members elected is necessary to a valid action. And yet Congress adopted this Eighteenth Amendment, which makes a violent alteration in the basic structure of our government, by a mere majority of a skeleton quorum, and when this was done in both the House and the Senate, the Supreme Court declared the vote to be valid and sufficient.

Supreme Court Study

"When that decision was made, the safeguard which Morris and his associates—Washington, Franklin, Hamilton and Madison—had so carefully devised, was overthrown. We would ask a rehearing from the Supreme Court on that subject.

"Again, the language of the amendment declares 'that the states shall have concurrent power to enforce this amendment.' The dictionary defines concurrent as meaning the agreement of two parties upon one subject in which they have an equal interest, and therefore unless a state concurs or agrees, it should have the power not only to accept but likewise to reject a statute submitted for its action under such terms.

"And there is a third question on which the Supreme Court has not yet passed—that of the unheard of device of inserting the statute itself in the Constitution, instead of observing the universal practice of granting the power to make the statute up to any degree of regulation which Congress might choose to enact from time to time.

"These, and other questions, would justify the Supreme Court in a conscientious examination of this question. There are other questions—many of them in fact—through which the Supreme Court can give a deliverance to this nation from the ignoble conditions which now prevail.

Up To Congress

"When the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments were adopted, Congress passed its force bills and other legislation in support of them, which became so repugnant to the conscience of the nation that, after ten years, the Supreme Court, impressed by public opinion, declared them to be unconstitutional. The amendments were then permitted by the common will to become dead letters. Is it not a good precedent?

"But there can be no relief, no change, no rescue, until there is a will to that end on the part of Congress, and there cannot be a will while so many members of Congress are under the thralldom of this political religion.

"This despotic oppression of the people by a government that is insidiously influenced by well-meaning but misguided religionists has produced a state of mental revolt throughout the length and breadth of this country. The people are now realizing that the Republican party and the Democratic party have virtually become amalgamated into one immense Prohibition party which is totally deaf to the wishes and desires of the great masses of our population."

She Thought License Forced Her to Wed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — (INS.) — The District Supreme Court today was asked by Mrs. Evelyn Harris, a minor, to annul her marriage to Jesse C. Harris, because the girl thought procurement of a marriage license meant she had to go through with the ceremony. Both the girl and her husband are from Kansas City, Mo. She says Harris induced her to go from Kansas City to Topeka, Kan., where he obtained a marriage license. She married him then because she thought the law compelled her to.

Women Wiser, Men Smarter, 'Mind' Writer Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 — (INS.) — Women are wiser but not as smart as men, according to Dr. Karl Menninger, author of the newly-published "The Human Mind," who is in New York to study how people adjust themselves in a fast whirling metropolis.

By nature, women are unselfish and really a superior creature to man, who is a natural egotist, Dr. Menninger said. His home is in Topeka, Kan.

CHURCH'S TALK STIRS WRATH OF CLERGY

Pittsburgh Ministers Reply To Carnegie Institute Chief's Political Rebuke

Anger and resentment, irony and laughter, today greeted the address Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute, hurled at church organizations in politics when it reached prominent ministers and churchmen of the Pittsburgh district.

Church's talk given before the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives yesterday, charged that 20 or so church bodies were trying to impose laws on people that would bind them in manners and social existence.

He asserted the necessity of eliminating every law having a religious basis, and demanded banishment from Washington of hypocritical preacher lobbyists.

He charged they halted a readjustment of the prohibition problem, terming one prominent dry a "bucketshop bishop." Church accused the organizations of espousing hypocrisy in Sunday laws and other social measures.

Here are some comments on Church's speech:

JOHN W. VICKERMAN, of Bellevue, president of the State Bible Class Federation, and member of the Board of Temperance Morals and Public Welfare:

The drys and churchmen have very little to fear so long as the wets allow Samuel Harden Church to be their chief spokesman. The people of Pittsburgh where Mr. Church resides are quite familiar with his false charges and rambling statements. The wets started this Congress with about 120 votes in the House. After a number of speeches, they have now about two-thirds of that many votes left to be counted.

The Good Book says, "Oh that mine enemy would write a book." The drys and the churchmen say, "Oh that the wets let Samuel Harden Church make some more speeches."

Dr. P. S. BLACKWOOD, executive secretary of the Sabbath Association:

Colonel Church is too radical. His premises are not true. Laws are not necessarily a matter of imposing morals, but a matter of protecting human rights.

He critizes the Sunday observance laws. If there were no laws protecting the rights of men to rest on Sundays, they would nearly all have to work; churches themselves couldn't carry on without interference. The State Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has ruled that these Sunday laws are based on human rights as well as Divine command. Colonel Church thinks they are petty personal matters—these laws. I know what the saloon is. It wouldn't be safe to drive on the highways with the former high license saloons open again.

THE REV. EDWARD BLEAKNEY, pastor, Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church:

I do not argue with Col. Church his viewpoint on prohibition or the blue laws, or other issues of the type. But I do maintain that when he says these organizations do not represent the sentiment of the church people of this country, he is wrong. For they do. This very question was thrashed out at the last meeting of the executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches in Chicago, of which I am a member.

Another thing: the church people as such have a right to express their opinions to Congress, just as much right as the militarists, the tariff-makers—the various other interested groups. I think that sometimes a group may go too far, but certainly, it has a right to a voice. And not only that. Washington wants to hear what the church people have to say.

As to pushing opinions down other people's throats, whatever the issue, I agree with Col. Church that it is wrong.

THE REV. GEORGE A. LONG, pastor of the Homewood United Presbyterian church:

I don't think I'd like to make any comment on Mr. Church's talk. He has said similar things before, although I don't believe he went so far.

THE REV. JOHN B. MAGEE, pastor, Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church:

It's just the attitude we'd expect one in Col. Church's position to take.

THE REV. DR. CLARENCE E. MACARTNEY, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church:

I wouldn't dignify his remarks by answering them.

THE REV. DR. R. B. URMY, editor Pittsburgh Christian Advocate — Does anyone take Col. Church seriously after he was obliged to retract his accusations against students whom he had charged with carrying hip flasks?

UNIFORM MINE WAGE SOUGHT

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 21 — (AP.) — A resolution was passed here at a mass meeting of 800 coal miners and others asking stabilization of the coal mining industry in northern West Virginia. The resolution urged that coal operators and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America meet "in joint conference for the purpose of negotiating a uniform wage scale for the mines of Northern West Virginia."

Van A. Bittner, director of union activity in Northern West Virginia said: "We propose that a joint commission of operators and miners representatives be set up to study this all-important question and act in a spirit of co-operation with the Congress of the United States in having legislation enacted establishing a national coal commission."

William Dalrymple, an international organizer of the United Mine Workers, presided at the meeting.

WOMAN'S AUTO KILLS GIRL

YORK, Pa., Feb. 21 — (AP.) — Nellie Duncan, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Turner Duncan, was fatally injured, and Dorothy Zorbaugh, severely hurt, yesterday, when the automobile driven by Mrs. John S. McCoy got beyond control and plunged onto the sidewalk. Mrs. McCoy had approached the intersection just as the pupils of two high schools, one on each corner, had been dismissed for lunch.

Mrs. McCoy narrowly missed hitting a boy, swerved to the left, grazing a parked car, then careened back toward the right and barely missed a mailman. From there she turned the corner and plunged over the curb. Eight girls were in a group when the automobile struck them. Nellie Duncan received the full force of the impact. Both her legs were crushed and she received numerous cuts and contusions about the body. She was taken to the York Hospital, where she died.

WOMAN HANGS IN ARIZONA

cell to the condemned chamber about 1 a. m. A search of the abandoned cell the Warden said led to the discovery beneath a mattress of a two-ounce bottle of a "deadly poison." The bottle, he said bore the label of a Florence drug store.

Wright said the woman apparently intended to commit suicide but was prevented from taking the poison by the vigilance of guards. An investigation was started to learn the source of the poison.

The 52-year-old housekeeper who was convicted of the murder of Mathis, her employer, in January, 1927, to gain possession of his property, spent the hours preceding her execution in the company of the prison chaplain and a few friends.

DAUGHTER'S FAREWELL

Until after midnight she sat at a card table and played whist with two women friends and a woman prisoner, while outside her cell the death watch paced back and forth. Occasionally she reached out to caress a telegram which lay on the table—a farewell message from her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Loveless, of South Bend, Ind. The message read:

"Dear Mother: Be brave. God is with you. All my love. I will pray for you always. Cecil."

During the course of the game Mrs. Dugan requested that her "guests" be served with orangeade. Several minutes passed before the drink was served and the condemned woman called to a guard.

"Please bring on the orangeade. I want it now. Tomorrow will be too late."

Since early evening the sky had been overcast and a light rain was pattering on the graveled pathway as the woman was led from her cell in the prison proper across an open space to the death cell. She smoked a cigaret and joked with guards as she marched along, and as they neared the gallows house she laughed and sang, "I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way."

GUARDS AFFECTED

Mrs. Dugan kissed two of the guards who left her at the door of the death house and said:

"I love everyone connected with the prison. You have all been good to me, and I can't blame you for what the law is going to do to me."

The guards were more visibly affected than was the woman who stood in the shadow of the scaffold.

A telegram delivered to her in the condemned cell revealed a hitherto unknown chapter in her early life. The message, signed "Ada Hostapple, Seattle, Wash.", read:

"I sympathize with you and have the greatest admiration for your bravery and grit."

"Ada is an old friend of the Yukon days," Mrs. Dugan said. "Probably you didn't know it, but I was one of those who followed the gold rush into the Yukon."

SHIELDS SON

Mrs. Dugan refused to disclose the name of her son, and prison officials said no word had been received from him.

The condemned woman's 82-year-old father, William McDaniels, of Ceres, Cal., was not able to grant her last wish that he be with her during the hours preceding her death. Enfeebled and scarcely able to walk, the aged man expressed regret that he could not comply, and issued a statement in which he said he was convinced of his daughter's innocence.

"She was convicted on circumstantial evidence and prejudice," he said.

Mrs. Dugan, apparently resigned to her fate, was calm as the hour of her execution approached.

"I'll have nothing to say but good by," she said.

"I'm going to show the world that I can take it."

Mrs. Dugan will be buried in the prison graveyard, in a shroud of white silk which she made herself. Several weeks ago she purchased a casket and paid an undertaker to prepare her body for burial.

ALASKA AWAITS EIELSON'S BODY

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The long period of suspense over the Northland today awaited the arrival here of the squadron of planes bearing the bodies of Pilot Carl Ben Eielson and Mechanic Earl Borland from North Cape, Siberia, to the Alaskan mainland.

Wreckage of the plane was discovered January 25 and a searching party composed largely of Russians from the Soviet ship Stavropol, ice-bound near the Nanuk, finally recovered the bodies which will be brought to the Nanuk from the lagoon and from there to Nome as soon as weather conditions permit.

In addition to the American and Canadian pilots whose planes will form the aerial funeral procession, it is expected that the Russian Pilots Slipenov and Gladyshev also will make the flight.

From Nome the planes will take the bodies to Fairbanks, where they will be transferred to the Alaskan Railroad and sent to Seward to be taken to the states by steamer.

NEW ANTARCTIC LAND FOUND

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Wireless message from the Norwegian exploration ship, Norwegia, now in the Antarctic, today said the expedition Monday located new land between Enderby Land and Coats Land, on the northern fringe of Antarctica.

The two airmen, Capt. Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen and Capt. Luetzow Holm, made a successful flight from the ship over the hitherto undiscovered territory and mapped about 115 miles.

The northwestern point of the new land was said to be situated at 71.26 degrees south 11.31 west.

CHICAGO POLICE ROUT JOBLESS

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Several hundred men and women milled about the City Hall today in protest against unemployment.

Mounted police charged the throng, using billies to keep the leaders from haranguing the crowd that quickly gathered. Seven persons suffered bruised heads.

The boldest of the marchers was a young girl, who bobbed up again on a rostrum every time she was pulled down by the police. She was one of the dozen or more arrested.

Handbills urging unemployed to "join the international demonstration against unemployment Thursday, March 6," were tossed about.

The demonstration took place at noon, attracting thousands of loop workers out to lunch.

INQUEST HOLDS MAN IN KILLING

Thomas F. Molyneaux, of James street, was held by a coroner's jury on a charge of murder in the death of James H. Ryan, 75, of 416 Tripoli street, who was found dying January 17 at Montgomery avenue and Sandusky street, North Side.

Shortly after Ryan was found badly beaten, Molyneaux reported to the North Side police that he had been held up by two men, and had beaten one, the other escaping. Molyneaux was arrested when a substance resembling blood was found on the toe of his right shoe. Ryan died two days later.

At a hearing held February 14 the shoe could not be found by police and the inquest was deferred until it could be produced. The shoe was found and the inquest concluded today.

FRANK & SEDER TO OPEN ANNEX

A further step in their expansion program is being taken by the Frank & Seder store with the opening of a first floor and basement annex in the adjoining theater building tomorrow. The new annex extends through from Fifth avenue to Diamond street.

Last October the store leased the upper floors of the former Grand Theater Building in order to find additional space for a complete new furniture department, the enlargement of their second floor popular priced dress department and to increase the size of the rug and drapery departments.

The basement annex may be reached through the Fifth avenue entrance and the Diamond street entrance of the first floor annex. Wide stairways just inside these entrances lead by a few short steps into the basement. In addition there is a direct thoroughfare from the Frank & Seder main basement through the lower floor of McCrory's to the basement annex, so that the shopper may go from one basement to the other without leaving the building.

SHERIFF, AIDE NEAR DEATH

SIDNEY, Neb., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Sheriff James Nelson, of Cheyenne County, and Richard Carlson, a deputized citizen, today were near death in a hospital, having been shot yesterday by Thomas V. Tompsett, 32, a shell shocked World War veteran, who escaped from the state hospital for the insane six months ago.

Hope for recovery was slight. Sheriff Nelson was shot four times and his deputy twice while they sought to arrest Tompsett as the deranged man was walking to the ranch home of his father, seven miles northeast of here.

After the shooting Tompsett fled to the wild hilly country nearby. He was captured by a posse of 100 men after his leg had been shattered by a member of the posse.

At a hospital the insane man was found to have more than $1,000 in currency and an equal amount of securities secreted about his person.

NOTED PIONEER DIES IN WEST

WATERTOWN, S. D., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Gen. Mark W. Sheafe, 86, one of South Dakota's most picturesque pioneers, died at his home here yesterday.

Gen. Sheafe was commissioned brigadier general during the Spanish-American war by President McKinley.

His military career began as a soldier in the Union Army during the Civil War. He was colonel in command of the state military forces both during the last years of Dakota territory and the first years of statehood.

Although a veteran of the Union Army he consistently refused to join the G. A. R., contending that pensions ought not to be paid. Gen. Sheafe refused his own pension and gave the money to a Confederate soldiers' home. Two years ago he was decorated by Gov. Bulow with a gold medal in recognition of his services for the Democratic party.

JUDGE PERILED IN DOPE CASE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 21.—(I. N. S.)—Common Pleas Judge William H. Smaters, who imposed a seven-year prison sentence and $2,000 fine upon Samuel "Cappy" Hoffman and Tewfik Baroody on narcotic violation convictions, stated today that he had received threats, both orally and in writing, to "lay off or we'll get you."

Judge Smaters said he had taken precautions agains assault, but did not reveal their nature. Hoffman will go on trial Wednesday on a charge of maintaining a gambling house. No plans have been made for his trial on an indictment under the state White Slave act.

Kitty Harris, convicted proprietor of a disorderly house, was to have been sent to jail yesterday upon the expiration of a week of grace granted her if she revealed the names of public officials or politicians to whom she said she had paid protection money. Commitment was delayed when her brother and sister told Judge Smathers they would supply the names if Kitty does not.

Rum Labels by Truckload Seized

DETROIT, Mich. Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Whisky labels in wholesale quantity were seized by federal agents in a raid on an apartment house here. The labels filled four trucks and were destroyed.

Thomas H. Brennan, deputy prohibition commissioner, said dozens of makes of whisky were represented among the labels. He expressed the opinion that the place raided was a distribution point for the entire Middle West. Two men were arrested on charges of violating the federal prohibition law.

SHOOTS WIDOW, KILLS SELF

ALEXANDRIA, Ind., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Dexter Hinton, 56-year-old steel worker, late yesterday shot and killed Mrs. Eva Carney, 46, his nephew's widow, and then sent a fatal shotgun charge through his own breast at the Carney home.

A note found in Hinton's clothing by county authorities said that Mrs. Carney, whose husband, Thomas Carney, was killed in a recent bus accident near Eaton, O., had "paid no attention" to Hinton after "she received her money" and that he intended to "end it all." The money referred to was believed to be $5,000 which Mrs. Carney received from her husband's insurance policy.

The woman's body was found by her oldest child, Louisa, 14. Officials said she apparently was shot while trying to escape. Hinton's body was in an adjoining room. Three children of Mrs. Carney survive.

GIRL MAKES 46 LOOPS, RECORD

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Miss Mildred Kauffman, of Kansas City, established a new world's record for women at Lambert-St. Louis field yesterday when she looped the loop 46 times. Her accomplishment was witnessed by C. F. Schory of Pittsburgh, a member of the contest board of the National Aeronautic Association.

Miss Kauffman, who is a licensed transport pilot, used an American Eagle biplane, and climbed to an 8,000-foot altitude before she started to loop. Haze at 1,500 feet caused Schory to end his count at 46 loops although Miss Kauffman reported she made a total of 57 before landing. She was up 16 minutes. The previous record of 41 loops was held by Miss Mildred Steinaff of Akron, O.

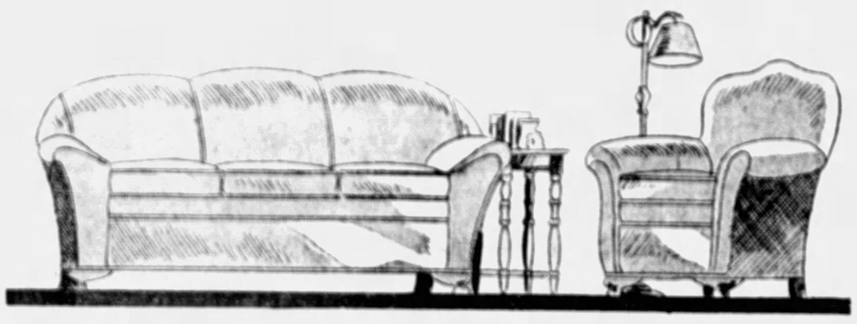
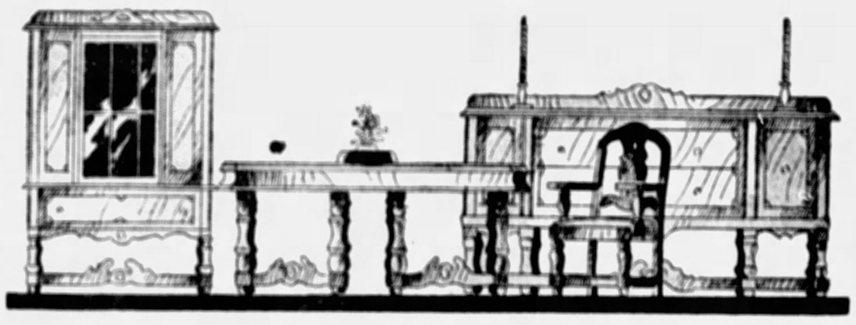
TOMORROW!

In Rosenbaum's Greatest February Furniture Sale . . .

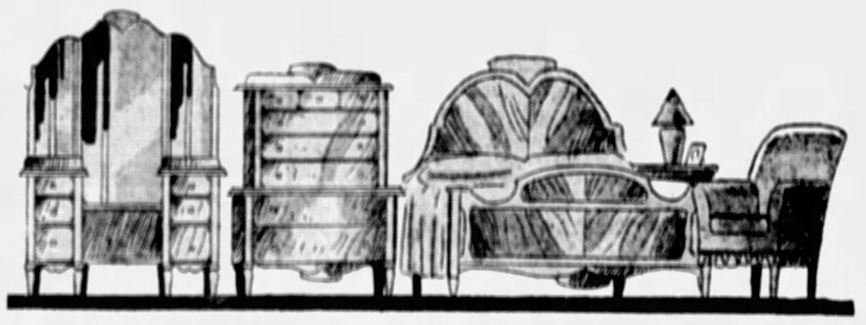
(Department Open Until 9 P. M.)



The Furniture Buyer could not see how he "could do right" by prospective customers unless he had at least two pages! He had so many beautiful exclusive suites of furniture (to say nothing of the occasional pieces)! Justice could not possibly be done his gorgeous and exclusive assortment in less than two pages. "You know," he propounded, "that there have been more customers on the Furniture Floors, during this February Furniture Sale than ever before—that practically every 'looker' became a buyer. If she came to look—went elsewhere to compare, she was sure to come back!" WE HAD TO AGREE WITH HIM!



The Credit Manager wanted space to tell how easy it is to buy furniture at Rosenbaum's (during the February Furniture Sale, especially) . . . how thousands of the most representative Pittsburgh homes had been furnished on Rosenbaum's BUDGET PLAN . . . a plan enabling patrons to furnish their homes out of incomes . . . by extending payments over suitable, convenient periods! WE HAD TO AGREE WITH HIM!



The Publicity Department contended that it was impossible for the printed picture or the written word to do justice to such furniture. "How," we argued, "can we make a Hepplewhite influence dining room suite, a marvel at $219, look any better than any other suite of similar design and price in any other store? Something must be done to 'get across' to customers the fact that they owe it to themselves to see the furniture in this, our Greatest February Furniture Sale . . . and then we know that they cannot resist buying." YOU MUST AGREE WITH US!

So all summed up, it comes to this: There's furniture for every room . . . for every home . . . at savings so noteworthy that we urge you to come . . . examine . . . COMPARE!

FURNITURE AND RUG DEPARTMENTS WILL BE OPEN TOMORROW NIGHT UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK

SCHWAB NAMED IN CONSPIRACY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Charges that Charles M. Schwab steel magnate and other financiers "connived and conspired" to acquire the $5,000,000 properties of the Tonopah Extension Mining Company through a $300,000 mortgage foreclosure were made in United States Circuit Court here during argument on the appeal of Will Friedrichsen, Los Angeles, from a Nevada court order permitting the foreclosure.

Friedrichsen, a minority stockholder in the Tonopah Company, alleged that under the court order the bondholders exercise absolute control and domination over the company.

The case arose in 1927 when the mining firm issued $300,000 in first mortgage bonds. Trustee for this issue was the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. Bondholders were Schwab, M. H. Ward, president of the company, the estate of Max E. Bernheim, Leopold Adler, S. A. Brown and John J. Kirchen. According to Friedrichsen, Schwab and Ward were also majority stockholders in the Tonopah Company.

TRUST MENACE ASSAILED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Charging giant industries of America were "hoarding the natural resources," Representative Schafer (Rep.) of Wisconsin today announced he would present data before the House showing the nucleus for a nation-wide monopoly in this field.

The Wisconsin representative asserted his resolution was drawn as a result of information that the United States Steel Corporation intended buying the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

"It is generally known," he said, "that the United States Steel Corporation already owns enough coal deposits to meet its needs for the next 100 years. Now coal is a product the price of which affects the pocketbook of every citizen of the nation."

The big corporations, Schafer said, were buying up coal and other deposits as fast as they could make money to invest. The ultimate result, he added, would be virtual control of resources by big business.

JAPAN MINORITY PARTY LEADS

TOKIO, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Early returns from yesterday's election, being reports from Minseito strongholds in Tokio and other cities, today gave the Minseito party 42 seats in the House of Representatives as against 20 for the Seiyukai party, one of the Proletarian group and five for the Independents.

The Minseito party, which has held the reins of government with Premier Hamaguchi as leader despite its minority in Parliament, is seeking to replace the Seiyukai as the majority party.

In the Parliament which was dissolved a month ago preliminary to the election, the Minseito held only 173 of the 466 seats. The Seiyukai had 237 seats. Economic issues featured the pre-election campaign.

Panhandler Held In Women's Murder

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—An unkempt hobo, William Luckner, 26, picked up by police, startled detectives here today when he admitted he had begged a dime from Mrs. Agnes Lavander, 35, shortly before her bullet-riddled and battered body was found along a railroad right-of-way here.

Two women's handkerchiefs found in Luckner's pockets caused police to hold him until they could summon the woman's husband to the detective bureau, possibly to identify them as those of his wife.

1,000 Volunteers Fight Village Fire

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Gibbsboro, a village of 800, near here, was threatened with destruction for a time today when fire wrecked two buildings of the paint manufacturing plant of John Lucas and Company. More than a thousand volunteer firemen from nearby villages and the Camden fire departments were called out before the flames could be brought under control.

War United England, U. S., Says Sir Esme

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Present friendly relations between Great Britain and the United States are due to the World War, according to Sir Esme Howard, retiring British ambassador who sails for England tonight. Talk of war between the two nations he termed "absurd."

Speaking at a dinner of the Pilgrims' society last night, Sir Esme said the two countries were drifting apart because of misunderstandings when the war united them. The war showed Englishmen that they are "not very different" from Americans, the diplomat said.

Use Plain English, Al Smith's Advice

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Alfred E. Smith believes the way to gain a person's confidence is through use of plain English. Addressing a convention of the trust company division of the American Bankers Association he deplored the habit of talking "over the head of the man in the street."

The clearer you make it," he told the bankers, "the better he thinks you understand it yourself."

CHICAGO BACKS WAR ON CRIME

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Plans for a relentless campaign financed by unlimited millions and aimed to end the terrorist methods of gangsters and racketeers will be submitted today to the executive committee of the Association of Commerce for approval.

The campaign will be based on a highly efficient secret service and the crime information resources of the nation are to be utilized in the war on criminals and gang terrorism.

If the sum needed be one million or five millions, the business men of Chicago will furnish it," Col. Robert I. Randolph, president of the association said in announcing the drive.

The business men's millions will employ investigators known only to the "secret committee of six" which has formulated the campaign. Similar to military espionage systems, the workers will not know each other.

Gales Sweep Spain; Wires Down in North

MADRID, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Terrific blizzards swept many parts of Spain today. Railroad, telegraph and telephone communications were completely disrupted in the northern part of the country.

IRISH LOTTERY BILL PASSES

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—President William T. Cosgrave was overwhelmingly voted down last night in the Dail Eireann, on a private member's bill legalizing for a three-year period a sweepstakes to aid in the raising of hospital funds. Mr. Cosgrave opposed the bill on the ground that it was contrary to the lottery act.

The Dail, however, taking the position that the hospitals were in a serious financial position, without prospects of raising money otherwise, insisted on the passage of the bill. When Mr. Cosgrave called for a division, only five of his followers supported him.

HARD COAL PACT SEEN BY LEWIS

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—John L. Lewis, International president of the United Mine Workers of America, speaking at a labor banquet here last night, expressed "the hope and belief that the next 90-day period will witness the execution of another anthracite agreement for a substantial period of years."

The present agreement will expire September 1, 1930. It was executed in the spring of 1926, following a strike that lasted more than six months.

The Lewis statement was given added significance by reason of the fact that earlier in the day at a general meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, E. H. Suender, vice president of the Madeira Coal Company, Frackville, Pa., declared "there must be no more strikes and in my judgment there will be no more strikes."

Lewis praised the anthracite operators for the spirit of cooperation they have shown since his speech at Mount Carmel, Pa., two and a half years ago, in which he advised such a course.

"It is my own hope and belief," Lewis said, "that the next 90-day period will witness the execution of another anthracite agreement running for a substantial period of years from September 1, 1930. Such an accomplishment will be of inestimable value, not alone to the anthracite producing regions and the vast business interests located therein, but to the social and economical welfare of the nation. All elements of our citizenship could unite and acclaim the beneficence of such an arrangement.

"The leaders of the anthracite industry are entitled to the commendation of all for the systematic and scientific efforts which have been put forth to reorganize and modernize the physical and commercial problems of the industry. The operators have recognized the menace of the existent keen competition of the substitute fuels with the anthracite product. They have in many instances revamped their sales methods, reorganized and consolidated their above-ground manufacturing processes, and in the many ways improved upon the physical processes of mining. The quality of the product has been substantially improved and in a word the operators are undertaking to lessen their cost of production without decreasing the wages or reducing the earning power of their employes. Such a policy is progressive and in keeping with the spirit of the times."

BAN ON TEXAS GRAIN FOUGHT

FT. WORTH, Tex., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—The Ft. Worth Grain and Cotton Exchange has charged that the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, which whs organized by the Federal Farm Board, was discriminating against Texas grain shippers in the purchases of wheat. The charge was made in a telegram to Alexander Legge, chairman of the Farm Board, and William G. Kellogg, manager of the grain corporation.

Signed by Gaylord J. Stone, president of the exchange, the telegram stated:

"Texas wheat growers and holders appeal to you for relief against discrimination resulting from the fact that the Farmers' National Grain Corporation local buyer has failed to take wheat on basis of the Galveston loan value, although such wheat was tendered him, resulting in much wheat which naturally moves through this market, being forced to move to Kansas, where your agents are buying, also forcing much wheat of Texas and Oklahoma origin to be sacrificed at less than the Galveston loan value.

"This rank discrimination against Texas and Oklahoma wheat holders is also crippling the organized market here."

Nine Persons Held in Westmoreland Raids

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 21.—Nine persons, one a woman, were arrested, and whisky, beer, wine and stills were seized by county detectives in a series of raids in Westmoreland county. Those arrested included Joe De Primo, of Greensburg; Frank Catalana, of East Huntingdon township; Jay Reed, of Hecla; Glenn Ament, of Derry; Rocca Delia, of Derry township; Daisy Marcondia, of Mt. Pleasant; Tony Zaffy and Joseph Welsh, both of Mt. Pleasant, together with three dwellings in Hutchinson mine.

County Home Inmate Slashes Wrist, Dies

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 21.—The body of John Knepper, 58, an inmate of the county home, was found in a stone pile near the home. Perry Snyder, superintendent, Coroner J. P. Caldwell and other county officials found that he had bled to death from an apparently self-inflicted cut which had nearly severed the left wrist. It is believed he was melancholy due to ill health.

DOPE BRIBERY INQUIRY URGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(Universal.)—Congressional investigation of charges of corruption in the federal narcotics service, made in a presentment by the New York federal grand jury, is proposed in a resolution introduced in the House by Representative Fish, (Rep.) of New York.

A committee of five would conduct the inquiry.

Meanwhile, the Treasury Department, under supervision of James M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, is making an inquiry.

Fish said:

"The presentment handed up by the federal grand jury of the Southern District of New York is of such nature that it requires an immediate investigation by Congress, in order to either sustain charges of inefficiency and corruption or to give an opportunity to the New York narcotic enforcement officials to present evidence to prove the efficiency and honesty of the administration of that office in the enforcement of the narcotic laws.

"The charges made are of such a serious nature that unless they are acted upon immediately by Congress or by the executive the morale and usefulness of the New York agents would be seriously impaired.

"It is estimated that approximately 90 per cent of all the contraband habit-forming drugs that come into the United States is smuggled in through the port of New York."

WIFE DIVORCES RAIL OFFICIAL

BALTIMORE, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Mrs. Molly Burke Hughes, of Towson, daughter of the late Judge N. Charles Burke, of the Court of Appeals, was granted an absolute divorce from Adrian Hughes, Jr., an official of the United Railways Company, by Judge Walter I. Dawkins in Circuit Court.

The couple were married in 1912, and separated seven years ago, according to Mrs. Hughes' petition, when Mr. Hughes left their home in Towson and moved to Baltimore after a period of coldness toward her.

The divorce decree ratifies an agreement between Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, which stipulates that she "shall not at any time hereafter molest the said Adrain Hughes, Jr., or prosecute anyone as having been instrumental in bringing about this separation." Mrs. Hughes is given custody of their three children, the oldest of which is 16.

RACING DRIVER KILLED IN CAR

LITTLETON, Col., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—The mysterious crash of his speeding racing car brought death to Joe Unser, auto racer, who for the past four years in succession drove his machine to second place in the annual Pike's Peak auto race.

Unser died at a hospital here last night four hours after he was found, unconscious and badly crushed, at the wheel of his car which stood upright beside the highway near a railroad underpass south of here.

No one saw the accident and authorities were at a loss to determine how it occurred. The racing car, the same that Unser drove to second place in the Pike's Peak race last Labor Day, was little damaged. Apparently it had become unmanageable at high speed and turned over several times, coming to an upright position.

ROB STORE 3RD TIME, ESCAPE

Harry Bluestone, proprietor of the Shady Avenue Pharmacy, 527 Shady avenue, today regrets that he was absent when a masked gunman, with two accomplices in a waiting auto outside, held up his brother, Louis Bluestone, in the store and escaped with $20.

This is the third time in 13 months the store has been held up. After the first holdup Harry bought a revolver and engaged in a gun battle with bandits in the second robbery. These bandits were chased away, although one of their bullets probably would have killed Bluestone if a packet of papers in his coat hadn't stopped it.

Theodore Brown, porter, fired two shots at the automobile last night.

Jack Elder's Double 'Slips,' Lands in Jail

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Ralph Radey, 25, of Los Angeles, looked the part, but by one little slip he landed in jail here today instead of continuing to be regarded as Jack Elder, famous track and football star of Notre Dame University. Radey resembles Elder, was arrested after he demonstrated he did not know John Nicholson, Notre Dame track coach, while he was being entertained at dinner by Herman Veit, a Notre Dame booster.

Mrs. Bella Davis, 78, of Long Beach, Cal., a former Pittsburgher, will get the $30 monthly old-age pension granted by California, according to a letter to Frederick Marshall, manager of government affairs of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Marshall was responsible for the pension. Some time ago Mrs. Davis applied for a pension, but it was held up. The proof was rushed to California by airplane.

ARREST SYRIAN IN SMUGGLING

Nasseb Massod, a Syrian of Aleppo, said to be an eye specialist, was arrested on a Federal warrant charging him with smuggling a balance of oriental rugs and other merchandise into the United States. He was held for court by a United States commissioner and in default of $3,500 was committed to jail.

The merchandise was alleged to have been unlawfully brought into this country and concealed in 1927. The goods had a foreign valuation of $8,000, according to the information filed by a United States customs agent, and were subject to import duties of more than $4,000, it was said.

The customs authorities learned of the alleged unlawful importation when Massood sought to collect on a fire insurance policy after the furs were burned. At the time of his arrest he was in Pittsburgh and registered at the Seventh Avenue Hotel.

U. S. AID LIKELY IN NEW CANCER TREATMENT

Unlimited Experimentation With Extract in Prospect Due to Promises of Aid

Universal Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—Prospects of aid from the United States Government, as well as from the eminent scientific research agencies, has given promise of almost unlimited new experimentation with the Coffey-Humber anti-cancer extract.

A senate committee considering means of government aid in the quest for a cancer cure wired an invitation to Drs. Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber to appear before the committee to suggest possible methods of federal co-operation.

The invitation was dispatched by Senator Hiram Johnson, chairman of the Commerce Committee, and Senator William J. Harris, of Georgia, chairman of the subcommittee on cancer.

WELCOMES U. S. AID

Dr. Coffey, pleased with the invitation, said he would be delighted to appear before the committee when it is possible for him to find time from his work to do so.

"It is just what we need," he said. "We have no intention of standing alone in this endeavor, nor do we pretend to have said the last word. Through such co-operation we might find a genius who would add something to our extract to make it more effective and complete."

Other outstanding tenders of co-operation have come from the United States Public Health Service and Dr. Joseph Cold Bloodgood, eminent surgeon of Johns Hopkins University, at Baltimore, Dr. Coffey revealed.

"Bloodgood wrote me a very cordial letter," he said, "stating that he would be happy to place our project before the American Association for Cancer Research, which has funds available for just the sort of work we are trying to do.

"He first wired a request for a sample of the extract, but I was forced to reply that under our established rules it is impossible for the present to comply with his request. His proposal was to carry on experiments at Johns Hopkins."

Although Dr. Coffey was suffering from a cold, he and Dr. John F. Humber, his associate, continued their treatment of some 500 cancer cases which had been declared hopeless.

RESEARCH FUND GIVEN

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21.—(Universal.)—Thorough and scientific study of cancer and its treatment, including the Coffey-Humber method, will be made through the establishing of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation for Cancer Research of Southern California, organization of which has been announced.

Funds sufficient to carry on the work "for an indefinite time" have been given by Kellogg, although the exact sum was not disclosed.

The foundation will be operated in connection with the College of Medical Evangelists, the teaching unit of White Memorial Hospital.

The 225 Southern California patients who have already received injections of the extract that forms the basis of the treatment originated by Dr. Walter Coffey and Dr. John Humber will be the nucleus of the research work. A limited number of other patients will be accepted later.

Study of these cases and their progress is to be complete and thorough, with X-ray observance, microscopic study of tissues and other details.

Kellogg, whose home is in Battle Creek, but who spends his winters in Southern California, has aided the White Memorial Hospital on numerous occasions.

Charming Wash Dress

Pattern 312

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

Printed cottons make such delightful dresses for house, garden or vacation. Here is a lovely example that is easy to make, launder and wear. It is the wrap-around type well secured by a belt attached to the left side and buttoned on the right.

Printed gingham, percale, rayon, pique or cotton broadcloth may be selected to make a perfectly ravishing dress. The binding around neck, armholes and belt may be of the same fabric, or contrasting bias binding may be purchased by the yard.

Designed for sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our NEW SPRING BOOK of PATTERN STYLES is now ready. Price FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

EX-DOPE AGENT WINS APPEAL

BALTIMORE, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Judge William C. Coleman, of the United States District Court, granted a writ of habeas corpus to Sarro Vaccaro, former employe of the federal narcotic service, sought by the Dominion of Canada on charges of murder and kidnaping.

Granting the writ Judge Coleman reversed the findings of United States Commissioner J. Frank Supple, who, after an extradition hearing, ordered Vaccaro held for action by the State Department.

Dominion counsel, after the ruling of Judge Coleman, releasing Vaccaro, said an appeal would be taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va. Vaccaro was defended by Amos W. W. Woodcock, United States attorney for this district.

Canada accused Vaccaro and another narcotic employe with killing a Canadian, Amedee Billodeau, and kidnaping another, Robert Price, during negotiations for the purchase of opium at the international border, near Canaan, Vt., in 1925.

Judge Coleman ruled Vaccaro was justified in actions at the time of the alleged crimes because of an agreement between American and Canadian narcotic officials.

U. S. TOURISTS AID TO FRANCE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—The tourist business is France's best source of income from the United States, Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, told the French Chamber of Commerce here.

Pointing out that export and import figures show the value of American exports to France as much greater than imports from that country, those figures, he said, do not show the "invisibles" in the economic exchange, that is the expenditures of tourists.

"For example," he said, "our purchases of merchandise from France in 1928 totaled nearly 159 millions of dollars. But, the purchases made by our tourists of French services were estimated at 215 million dollars that year. And, incidentally, these were, of course, all on a retail footing with corresponding additional profit to distributors. The addition of this item to the balance results in a net total favorable to France by well over 100 million dollars."

The French colonies are in increasing measure becoming larger and larger purchasers of American products, Dr. Klein said, and in that way are strengthening the economic ties that have bound the two countries together for so long.

Man Faces Charge Of Shooting Raider

BELLAIRE, O., Feb. 21.—Charged with shooting with intent to kill Guy Casino, former state dry agent, Fred Fatigati, 44, of Powhatan, O., was arrested last night by Sheriff Ford Moore, of Belmont County, and is held in the St. Clairsville jail.

Casino, who was shot as he alighted from a bus while en route to his home, is reported to be in a critical condition at the Bellaire Hospital.

Man Fleeing Insane Hospital Shoots 2

SIDNEY, Neb., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—William Thompsett, escaped inmate of the State Hospital for the Insane, shot and seriously wounded Sheriff James Nelson and Deputy Sheriff Richard Carlson as they attempted to arrest him. Thompsett was captured a few hours later by a posse after being wounded in the leg. Sheriff Nelson is not expected to live.

Accuse Junk Dealer Over Stolen Brass

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Feb. 21.—Albert J. Marino, a junk dealer, furnished bond of $500 on charges of purchasing stolen scrap from minors. Police charge Marino bought scrap from 12 Freedom boys who stole it at the Conway Yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The boys have been held for Juvenile Court.

RAIL, VET LAWS UP IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 21 (AP)—Proposed legislation regarding the various railway companies formerly privately-owned, which the Canadian National System now embraces, and for "more adequate provisions" for World War veterans and their dependents were mentioned by Gov. Gen. Viscount Willingdon in his speech which opened Parliament.

Cairine Wilson, Canada's first woman senator, was sworn in immediately after the opening ceremonies.

Viscount Willingdon also said in his speech that further amendments to the elections act, the bankruptcy act and the criminal code would be sought and that a bill would be introduced to consolidate the Canada grain act.

Discussing the wheat situation, the governor general, after referring to the Dominion's strides in manufacturing, mining and agriculture, asserted:

"The Dominion is already recovering from the seasonal slackness evidenced at the end of the year, and it is not to be forgotten that the bulk of the 1929 wheat crop still remains in Canadian hands for final disposition."

Viscount Willingdon called the members' attention to the reports of the royal commission on radio broadcasting and the royal commission which investigated the salaries paid to professional and technical employes of the civil service. The government plans to introduce legislation based on the radio commission's report, the governor general added, but the latter commission's finding probably will not be laid before the House before Tuesday.

He expressed the hope that the present London disarmament conference "will result in a marked lessening of international rivalries and the growth of security and good will."

5 VASSAR GIRLS HURT IN CRASH

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Five Vassar College students, all juniors, were injured here last night, one critically, by a motorcyclist who drove into them, police said, while they were walking near the college grounds. It was believed the motorcyclist did not see them in the dark. His name was not immediately learned.

Anna Margaret Deering Noyes, of Portland, Me., was reported in a critical condition at Vassar Hospital. Less seriously hurt were Marian Jay Wurts, Englewood, N. J.; Nancy Adair Sullivan, Salt Lake City, Utah; Virginia Vea Davis, Honolulu, Hawaii, and Sara Lopez-Fitueroa, of Mexico City, Mexico.

Pipe Forgotten; Home Wrecked By Gas Blast

HARRISON, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—Joseph Visceglea, 40, has read many times that one should not go looking for gas leaks with matches, consequently when he went into the basement of his four-story apartment house seeking such a leak he intended to rely entirely upon his nose. There wasn't a match in his pockets.

However, no sooner had he set his foot on the bottom cellar step than he was blown back up the stairway, badly cut and bruised. Every window in the building was broken and excited neighbors put in a call for firemen, the sheriff and state police.

Joseph had overlooked the pipe he was smoking.

VIRGINIA WINS ON BOUNDARY

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 21 (AP)—Eight and a half miles of territory, bordering on Maryland, including several square miles of valuable oyster beds, have been added to Virginia by the Virginia-Maryland commission on the Potomac boundary line, final decision submitted to Gov. Pollard.

The report of the commission, established the new boundary under authority of law conferred by acts of the general assemblies of Virginia and Maryland. The decision amicably terminates a question in dispute since colonial times. However, Congress must pass a law, as a mere matter of form, acknowledging the change before the new boundary will be authentic.

The commission included two men, Dr. Wilbur A. Nelson, head of the geology department of the University of Virginia, and Edward B. Mathews, state geologist of Maryland, appointed two years ago by governors of their respective states. Their task was to settle the boundary controversy on the basis of the award of 1877, establishing the principle that the line should run along the low water mark on the Virginia shore from headland to headland. In more than a dozen changes definitely fixing the headlands, only one small shift of the line favored Maryland, Virginia being the great gainer under the principle interpretation.

Leviathan Officer Visiting in Sharon

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 21—C. P. James, former Sharon man who is here on a visit with his cousin, Constable John James, has crossed the Atlantic Ocean more than 200 times. More than one-half of these trips have been made on the Leviathan, on which he is chief storekeeper. Previously he was on the S. S. Kroonland.

REVEAL FATAL STORM NEWS

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Feb. 21 (AP)—First word of a terrific southeast gale that claimed three lives and caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage in the fishing ports along the southwest coast of Newfoundland early last Sunday morning, has reached here.

The dead at Lamaline were Alexander Boland, survived by a widow and six children; Sydney Maddikan, survived by a widow and four children, and Louis Boland, single.

Interrupted telegraph communications prevented the receiving of news as to how the men were killed.

The meager reports of extensive damage filtered in with little more than generalizations of heavy tolls.

Lamaline reported the loss of three lives. Burgeo, on the Burgeo Islands, one of Newfoundland's most valuable fisheries and a rendezvous for artists, reported damage to shipping, dwellings, stores and fishing stages to the extent of $100,000. Burgeo is on the extreme southwest coast and has one of the finest harbors in that part of the country.

Bay Largent, Little Bay East, Harbour, all situated at the foot of Fortune Bay, reported large damage to property, fishing boats and fishing stages.

The heavy damage has made communication impossible, and only the most meager of reports were coming through.

DRY CHIEF FREE IN BRIBE CASE

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—After two hours' deliberation, a federal jury freed Joseph E. Courtney, former chief prohibition agent in the Miami district, of charges of conspiracy to violate federal prohibition laws.

It was Courtney's second trial, the first having been declared a mistrial.

The government's case was built around testimony given by Julian Venable, who said he had been a dealer in illicit liquor here for 10 years. Venable's testimony was attacked by the defense after he asserted he had paid Courtney $300 a month for a year for protection. Under cross examination Venable apparently became confused as to the manner in which the money had been paid.

Courtney, on the witness stand, denied having received payment from Venable.

"A number of Bill's friends have remarked lately about his smart appearance too, Helen. Fintex is the answer. I told him what fine clothes they were and that the price was only $23.50. He took my advice and phoned afterwards to thank me. Says they're the best clothes he ever bought!"

2 AUTO PARTS PLANTS MERGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Announcement was made here that consolidation of Eaton Axle and Spring Company and Wilcox-Rich Corporation, both manufacturers of automotive parts, has been unanimously approved by the boards of directors.

Wilcox-Rich has plants in Detroit, Saginaw, Battle Creek and Marshall, Mich. Eaton Axle in Cleveland and Massilon, O., and Detroit.

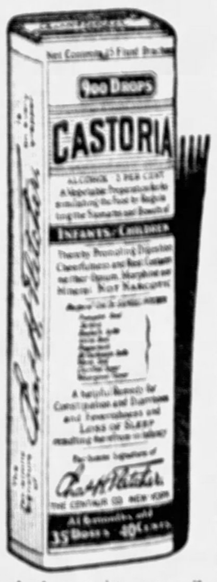
Restless Children



Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

MAWSON RADIO MUZZLED

By SIR DOUGLAS MAWSON,
Comander of the British, Australian and New Zealand Antarctic Research Expedition
(Radio via London.)

S. S. DISCOVERY, Kerguelen Island, Antarctic, Feb. 18.—(Delayed.)—Radio communication has been limited this week, which was spent chipping boilers. Our only power available was that generated by the small auxiliary gasoline motor, operated for two hours each day.

Although full power is restored now, we are still unable to maintain free communication with Australia.

The same effect—"screening"—from the eastern localities, is experienced, as when we were last here at Kerguelen Island, but the difficulty does not exist a few miles away from the Island.

During the voyage into and away from the pack ice and back to our base, Radio Operator Williams met many curious irregularities in radio distribution. For example, although we have been within 2,000 miles of the base of Rear Admiral Byrd, on the other side of Antarctica, we never were able to communicate with it directly.

Our coaling is now far advanced, and we expect our engine overhauling to be completed Friday morning. Meanwhile, besides assisting in these operations, our scientific staff, though hampered by the hurricane winds, descending at frequent intervals, is busy mapping and collecting specimens about the neighborhood.

On these excursions white Samoyed dogs, in fine fettle and most wild, are frequently sighted. It is reported they descended on the sledge dogs left by the Goss expedition of 1911-12, and are destructive to birds and seals.

FATAL CRASHES AIR MYSTERY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—What was described as one of the most unusual air accidents in the history of the flying service yesterday took the lives of Lieutenant Joseph Leon Wolfe, of Coeburn, Va., and Second Lieutenant William R. Ostertag, of Columbia, Pa., marine corps aviators.

Persons who witnessed the crash said that the two planes were flying in formation with Wolfe leading when they dived from a comparatively low height into the Potomac River near Quantico, Va., a short time after their takeoff for an afternoon in the air.

Officials at the field said there had been no collision in the air and that they were unable to account for the accident.

The bodies were pinned in the cockpits of the planes and were extricated with difficulty by a detail of marines.

Wolfe was the son of Dr. J. E. Wolfe, of Coeburn, and graduated from the naval academy in 1926. He served a year in China, and later at the naval air station at Pensacola, Fla., before his transfer to Quantico.

Ostertag was graduated from the naval academy in 1924, and served a short time in the marine corps before resigning. He later was commissioned in the marine corps reserves and had been on active duty at Quantico for a year.

SUSPECT FREED IN 1892 KILLING

STARKE, Fla., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—John Morgan, 66-year-old farmer, was given his freedom on a habeas corpus writ after four days in jail, charged with a murder 38 years ago in North Carolina.

Morgan was arrested Sunday on a warrant from Albemarle, N. C., charging that he killed Francis Talley, wealthy bachelor, near that place in 1892.

Release came on granting of a writ by Judge A. Z. Atkins after a hearing in which two men testified Morgan was in Florida at the time of the North Carolina slaying.

North Carolina authorities have announced they would seek extradition papers for Morgan. E. M. Johns, Morgan's attorney, said that if this course is pursued, he will demand a hearing before the governor.

Albemarle authorities said they connected Morgan with the killing several weeks ago, when a farmer residing several miles from that place, told friends he had taken Morgan on horseback to the South Carolina line just after the slaying. Morgan has denied all knowledge of the affair.

Musty documents on North Carolina records stated that Talley apparently had been slain for a sum of money which he was believed to have kept in the house.

New York Barge Canal Builder Dies

He had been named by President Hoover to a commission to map a route for the proposed Nicaraguan canal. He had been ill several weeks. He formerly served in Ohio with the Portage County Improvement Association.

POISONER WIFE GETS 25 YEARS

KINGSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 21 (AP.)—Mrs. Maud Long was convicted of poisoning her husband, Jim Long, by a jury here today and her punishment was fixed at 25 years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Long was outwardly calm when the verdict was read, but a few minutes afterwards she broke down and wept.

Long, a painter, died from poison placed in a harmless effervescent drug last September 7.

An intrigue with a 14-year-old boy, Pat Smith, which led her to wish to be rid of her husband, caused Mrs. Long to place the poison in the drug the state contended. The boy, a freckled, red-headed youth, who frequently drank home brew with Jim Long, confirmed the state's theory insofar as it related to his affair with the woman, who is 31 years old.

2 IN MULE RUM CASE GUILTY

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 21 (AP.)—Two men accused of conspiracy to bring liquor from Canada to the United States by means of mule pack trains entered pleas of guilty in Federal Court. The men, Roy Critzer and Jess Cummins, were sentenced to McNeil Island prison to serve a year and a day each.

Twenty-three other defendants, including one woman, were named in the indictments, and will go on trial in Federal Court here Monday.

The indictments alleged that three separate rum rings brought thousands of dollars worth of liquor into northwest cities from Canada, hauling it in on mule back.

PRICES OF FOOD SHOW DECLINE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Retail prices are coming down.

Returns to the Department of Labor today indicated there was a decrease of slightly more than 1½ per cent decline in January from December prices. However, there has been an increase of about one-half of 1 per cent since January a year ago.

Pittsburgh reported a decrease in the average cost of food during January of 2 per cent.

For the year period, January 15, 1929, to January 15, 1930, Pittsburgh prices decreased 1 per cent.

Wife Settles Suit 'Against Husband

BEAVER, Pa., Feb. 21.—The suit of Mrs. Alice G. Moore, of Cleveland, O., formerly of Brighton Township, against her husband, Walter N. Moore, Jr., and his father, Walter N. Moore, of Piedmont, Cal., has been settled out of court.

Mrs. Moore claimed she had been forced to leave home because of excessive use of intoxicants by her husband. She said she later returned to him when he signed an agreement to refrain from drink and in the event he did not, to pay her $50,000 and $200 per month for maintenance. She declares her husband broke his agreement and refused to pay. His father was guardian of an estate left to Moore by his grandfather, and was made a party to the suit.

J., had three masks and several cartridges, and when searched by Matron Mary Marshall, a loaded 38-caliber pistol was found strapped to the girl's waist.

OUSTED BOARDER HELD IN SHOOTING

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

CONGRESSMAN STEPHEN G. PORTER tells another story concerning the late Alexander P. Moore. Mr. Moore, then ambassador to Spain, was in Toledo, Spain, as the guest of the city. With him was Mr. Porter. On this particular day the ambassador gave the congressman instructions to appear at a certain function. Porter was conveyed in an official embassy car, and all along the route crowds cheered him. At his destination a committee received him with much pomp. He was paid homage fit for a ruler. Porter was puzzled. Later he asked the ambassador for an explanation.

"That was all meant for me," Mr. Moore said, "but I couldn't go and inasmuch as you and I look alike I thought you'd make an appropriate, if unknowing, substitute."

Dan Davis, a veteran newspaperman who refuses to look his age, recalls a story of the Johnstown flood which has to do with reporters. The city editor of the Pittsburgh Times was dissatisfied with the work of a reporter covering the flood and fired him. A few days later, from Johnstown, a Philadelphia reporter submitted by wire a sob story of the flood.

"That," pronounced the city editor, whose name was Waltham, "is a great story. I'm going to hire that fellow. Who is he" he asked an assistant.

"Why, that's the reporter you fired the other day," the assistant replied. "His name's Richard Harding Davis."

ANDREW M'GLYNN, of Beechview, was cross-examining his 5-year-old son, recently introduced to the Bible.

"And do you know who Pontius Pilate was?" the father asked.

"Sure," the son answered confidently, "he's the fellow that drives the airplane."

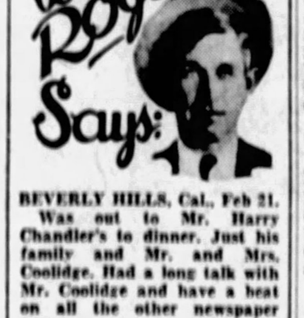
We are very self-conscious about this business. Twice recently we have watched men reading Sidewalks on the street cars. The first gentleman was hunched up in his seat, his paper folded on his lap. When he reached the crease in the page he turned to other items rather than flip over the page to finish Sidewalks. The other gentleman was standing up and reading. The car was fairly crowded. As he finished each line of type he had to raise the paper higher bit by bit. He read about eight lines and gave up. The street car service in this town is terrible.



BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb 21.

Was out to Mr. Harry Chandler's to dinner. Just his family and Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge. Had a long talk with Mr. Coolidge and have a beat on all the other newspaper men.

"Mr. Coolidge, what is your impression of the general condition of our country?"

Mr. Coolidge, "Yes."

"How long do you think the disarmament conference will last?"

"No."

Is this tinkering with the tariff good for the country as a whole?"

"Meby."

"What do you think of the way the Senate has formed this obstruction co-lition?"

"Uh."

"What's the President going to do about this prohibition situation?"

"Huh."

"Who is the logical candidate in case Mr. Hoover don't care for another term?"

"Uh huh."

"Will you have another biscuit, Mr. Coolidge?"

'Probably."

Yours, WILL.

FORTUNE SEER GETS 2 YEARS

Casting aside his pose of mysticism and his non de plume of Prince Rajah, Brice Rodgers, Negro, of 2052 Center avenue, began a two-year stretch in the workhouse today following his conviction before Judge James H. Gray for fortune telling.

It was last October that Prince Rajah, saying he was from India, was sentenced to 60 days at the same workhouse by the same judge, and a month later paroled for six months upon his representation that he would cease telling messages from the stars.

December 2, the police arrested him as a common fortune teller upon complaint of Susie Cleveland, Negro, of 2523 Wylie avenue. Assistant District Attorney Jacob Kalson, who prosecuted both cases, brought out at the second trial that Rodgers had Miss Cleveland write her name and address on a slip of paper, which he burned and then told her what she had written. After that she said he told her fortune.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Gray told Rodgers that he might listen to another appeal for parole after one-third of the sentence has been served, but would then require that Rodgers go back to his family in Detroit and never return to live in Pittsburgh.

Woman Struck By Sign Brings Suit

Mrs. Anna M. Borland, of the East End, averred she was seriously injured when a large metal sign fell upon her from a building at 6487 Frankstown avenue, in her suit against Mr. and Mrs. Daniel N. Boistel, owners of the building, filed in Common Pleas Court.

Damages of $25,000 are asked by Mrs. Borland in the suit, in which her husband, George R. Borland, joined. Mrs. Borland was walking along Frankstown avenue September 10 last, when the sign, projecting from the building, fell and knocked her unconscious, the suit alleged.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Chickie Bryce is attending business college when the story opens. Her father, Jonathan, fears the pitfalls ahead of her, but his wife allays his fears. Chickie gets a position in a brokerage office. Through one of her co-workers, Janina Knowles, she meets Jake Munson, a rich bachelor. Mary Blake, Chickie's closest friend, marries a poor young chemist, much to Chickie's regret. Mary's brother, Jimmy, begs Chickie to marry him, but without success. Chickie meets Barry Dunne at a party given by Munson. She learns that the party is to last all night and Barry takes her home. The next night Barry calls at her home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XV.

CHICKIE opened the door softly, half expecting some loud, precipitate talk to rush against her ears. Instead, Jonathan—quite a jovial, hospitable Jonathan—was coming down the hall. He said, pleasantly, "I was just going for you, Mr. Dunne is here," Kindly, like that, as though Mr. Dunne were his life-long friend.

Chickie, standing on her toes, pinched his mustache, whispering smartly, "Well, Smarty!"

Yet she was so overjoyed and relieved to find no crude scene clashing in the living room that she became very magnificent and airy, saying, "Why, how do you do? I expected a phone."

Then, seeing Barry Dunne, very snappy in gray tweeds and a glad, holiday look about him, she ended gaily, "It won't take me a minute to get ready—gorgeous day, isn't it?"

"I thought we'd take a run down the country. We can have dinner later on when we get back. How's that with you?"

"That will be very charming with me." She winked daringly into Barry Dunne's eyes. "But how about you, Jonathan, old dear?"

She was immediately frightened at her flippant boldness and ran out of the room before Jonathan could answer. When she returned in a little while, very shiny eyed and flushed, in a soft green hat and a black dress, he only said, casually, "Don't stay too late. Now, mind you, it was all hours when you got to bed last night."

"Well," he said cheerfully, "we can't let him get away with that! Doesn't he like Jake?"

"He doesn't know him."

"I thought you and Jake were old friends."

"Why, no—Jake is Janina's friend."

Barry Dunne shot one of the quick, dubious glances he had several times given her. He said nothing. After a while he shrugged: "Well, neither you nor I will be much of a friend to Jake henceforth."

"Will he be very furious?"

"He is already. I've got to take that flivver back. I phoned him. He's murdered men for less. I should worry! But, of course, he'll think I abducted you on purpose."

"I suppose it was a terrible thing for me to do, but I don't care now. Some one should have told me they were going to stay all night. I wouldn't have gone."

"When you're on a party like that you've got to be ready to take a chance."

Chickie winced. "You think I should have stayed, then?"

"Of course, we should have stayed! But, thank heaven, we didn't! This is a lot better than baking on a yacht and seeing you with Jake and myself with the subtle Janina in my arms! Or perhaps you'd rather be there?"

"I would not!"

Smart Looking

To Chickie Barry Looks Very Distinguished

To her astonishment, Barry answered, "We'll be home around ten or so. We've both got to work tomorrow." Quite a master stroke, Chickie thought.

As she took her place he gave her a quick, winning smile, helping her most gallantly. She wondered if the neighbors might be watching behind the curtain; if they were saying: "Now, who is that? If that girl hasn't enough admirers!"

He had an "air" about him, Chickie thought — no more attentive than Jimmy—yet different—a little distinguished. You'd know, she was certain, that he was an attorney full of ambition and that he had a high destiny before him.

They sped out through the park. She felt him every now and then glancing at her. It heightened the vivid sense of suspense; of something wonderful happening that kept the bright color tingling in her cheeks. She was glad now that she'd missed the cruise on the bay. She wondered if he was.

Suddenly, with a slow quizzical inquiry: "That dad of yours is pretty sore about last night?"

"Oh—what makes you think that?" After all, had Jonathan said some bald, stinging things? "He didn't call you about it, did he?"

"No—just put two and two together — my business, you know. He keeps tab on you all the time?"

"Indeed, yes; I'm his little pearl, you know. And I think he'd be pleased to have me live and die in my shell without anyone ever once giving me the glad eye."

She spoke with hurried earnestness, for his red hair with his pleasant eyes, his beautifully set head, had such a clear, kind look of understanding.

Chickie Looks Guilty When Barry Produces It

"All right, then, I'll take you to my favorite tree and I'll sing you an old song."

PAYS REFLECT INDUSTRIAL GAIN HERE

February Shows Increase Over January; Clearings Exceed Same 1929 Period

Increased industrial operations throughout the Pittsburgh district is reflecting itself in increased payrolls, it was learned at the Pittsburgh branch of the Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank.

Figures are not yet available for February, but payroll withdrawals to date show an increase over the same period of January. Several weeks, it was stated, will be required to learn the full effect of increased operations.

Clearings in the Pittsburgh area show an increase of more than 5 per cent for 1930 to date, as compared with the same time in 1929. This is regarded as an encouraging sign.

There also has been a slight increase in savings deposits, regardless of the fact that many persons have been required to draw on their savings accounts.

Demand deposits of banks of the district also show a slight increase for the year to date, as compared with the same period of 1929.

Reports from industrial sections in particular, indicate men are slowly returning to work, increased payrolls indicating this condition.

5TH WARD VOTE PLANS GIVEN

Four proposals for redistricting the Fifth Ward for the installation of voting machines were presented last night at a hearing before the redistricting commissioner in the Watt school. Three plans would make 19 districts of the present 33 and the fourth would reduce the 33 districts to 21.

Former Councilman James F. Malone was one of the ward residents to present a plan. He said his plan, one of the three proposing 19 districts, had received the indorsement of 30 out of 33 present district chairmen in addition to M. B. Donnelly, Democratic chairman of the ward.

Harry Feldman, of the Kline group, also offered a plan for 19 districts, as did J. S. Patton, Jr. A. S. L. Ballinger presented a plan for 21 districts. William H. Zierfel, who presided at the hearing, announced all plans would be given careful consideration before any action would be taken.

Blast Through Window With Shotgun Injures 2 While First Victim Is Being Aided

John Pack, 50, a former boarder at the home of Charles H. Dietz, 38, near Clinton, Findlay Township, was being held by police today in connection with the shooting last night of Dietz, his 4-year-old daughter, Helen Louise, and Roy Stevens, 26, a boarder, police reported.

Stevens, shot in the chest and face, was reported in a serious condition in the Valley Hospital. Dietz and his daughter, struck in the legs and arms by the pellets of Pack's shotgun, were treated at the hospital and taken home.

The Dietz family was to move to Groveton tomorrow and most of the household goods was packed, police say. Dietz and Stevens, who worked on the Dietz's three-acre farm, were beating a rug in the rear of the house when, police say, Pack appeared with a shotgun and, without warning, fired. The charge struck Dietz in the legs. He was assisted into the house by Stevens.

SHOOTS IN WINDOW

The victim's wife, Mrs. Esther J. Dietz, dressed his wounds while Stevens and the three Dietz children, John, 13; Ornadean, 9, and Helen, looked on. A shot crashed a side window of their living room. Its charge struck Stevens in the face and chest and wounded Helen.

Mrs. Dietz then ordered her son to get help. He ran across the roadway to the home of his uncle, A. W. McAllister, Sr. McAllister and his son, A. W. McAllister, Jr., hurried to the Dietz home and summoned a physician. The three victims were then ordered removed to the hospital.

The younger McAllister, with Constable Howard Quinn, then began a search for Pack. He was captured a short distance from the scene and taken to the Carnegie Police Station.

Last November Pack, police said, was dismissed by Dietz because of his drinking. Threats followed the dismissal, it was reported, resulting in an information being filed against Pack before Justice of the Peace C. B. Burns, of Clinton. Dietz dropped the charge when his former hired man promised to keep peace.

DENIES SHOOTING

After leaving Dietz' employ, Pack found work at the floral garden of J. W. Mellot, father of Mrs. Dietz, who lives nearby. Several days ago Mellott discharged him because of drinking, according to police.

The shotgun used by Pack was found hidden in a shack near the Mellott home by Constable Quinn and young McAllister, the officers say.

Pack denied the shooting when questioned by Carnegie police.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Has apartment house living and other modern ways of living killed the traditional American home spirit?

CONSTANCE MACKENZIE, downtown: "While the mode of living has changed somewhat during the past few decades, with more freedom from the old family fireside tolerated, I don't think apartment house living and the other modern activities of life have dimmed the traditional home spirit. Most people now think as much of their home as they ever did. It is my opinion that this will always be true."

Miss Mackenzie

GEORGIA LUSTIG, singer, Sixth avenue: "In some instances the modern way of living has ruined the old home and fireside spirit, but still deep under the skin of most everyone is that sentimental feeling for one's home and loved ones. If the old procedure of life was still with us I think it would appear pretty tame compared to the opportunities afforded in this day and age for recognition in the arts, sciences and professions."

Miss Lustig

GEORGE HIRST, orchestra director: "The change from the older mode of living for the more modern way hasn't made much difference to the American people. In days gone by we didn't have radios, phonographs, music and other divertisements to occupy the attention of the occupants of the home. Today it is different, and much more enjoyment is received out of life. I don't believe there are many people who would welcome for long the idea of going back to the way of living in vogue in the not too distant past."

George Hirst

ARTHUR HOUGHTON, manager "Show Boat," Nixon Theater: "No, the modern spirit of life has not desecrated the traditional home life of America. Nothing can kill the traditional American spirit any more than prohibition. True the old family fireside is deserted in many cases, but the new avenues of knowledge, such as the intelligent arts, have been opened to them. This was hardly possible in the old days. As a result the nation is broader-minded and more learned."

A. Houghton

JOSEPH DERDEYN, cellist, downtown: "No, I don't think the modern ways of living have killed the traditional American Home Spirit. The opposite is true in this case, with but few exceptions. In the days gone by, the family didn't have as much intelligent freedom as now. There is more freedom today and it is a good thing. One great feature about modern life is that it has made children more intelligent and independent. They have better facilities at their disposal for knowledge. In the same manner are the parents affected."

Joseph Derdeyn

IRENE DUNNE, star, "Show Boat," Nixon theater: "If the traditional home spirit has changed somewhat it is possible that the change is for the better. The American youth today has so many distinct advantages over those who lived before him that he does not know the traditions of old home life and consequently can not miss or kill it. Any changes that have resulted provide for greater intelligence for all."

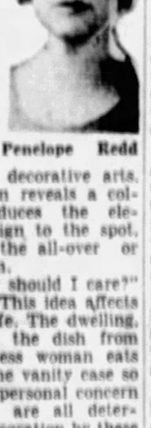
Art Exhibit at Tech Revelation to Laymen

By PENELOPE REDD.

The layman who would learn the "a, b, c's" of art might do well to visit the Hewlett Memorial Museum and make a few aesthetic anagrams for himself from the stimulating teaching-exhibition arranged by the College of Fine Arts of the Carnegie Tech.

For all who puzzle about the whys and wherefores of modern art, the exhibition selected by W. A. Readio, will prove that whether the primitive or sophisticated artist may arrive, they both had but three sources from which to choose their ultimate designs.



Penelope Redd

At first glance the exhibition would sem to be an exotic asortment of textiles, metals, illuminations, and other examples of the decorative arts. Close examination reveals a collection which reduces the elements of all design to the spot, the border, and the all-over or distributive design.

You say, "Why should I care?"

But we all do. This idea affects every detail of life. The dwelling, the broker's tie, the dish from which the business woman eats her lunch, and the vanity case so necessary to her personal concern with decoration, are all determined in their decoration by these universal principles of design.

At the exhibition in the Tech school, the abstract principle is illustrated through concrete examples for the future architects, painters and decorators. In the objects on view, we find the spot identifying itself as any compact group of forms closely knit through their proximity to one another and through the insistent domination of a principal form—a type of decoration frequently used in the Chinese brocades exhibited.

Excellence in border proceeds from the unifying influence of a recurrent movement in the design or such repetition as insists upon the similarity of the parts. Borders, probably the most commonly used decoration, appear frequently on pottery.

The third type, a well designed all-over pattern, will be characterized by an equitable distribution of the various elements of form and color usually coupled with such aids to the movement of the eye as will enable it to traverse the surface readily in all directions. In the exhibition at the Hewlett Memorial Museum are examples of oriental metal work where this type of decoration is admirably demonstrated.

Whereas the majority of art exhibitions are deliberately presented to provoke the emotional appeal through sensuous objects, the exhibition at the Tech school requires the exercise of the observer's intelligence.

Half Hour Collections To Speed Mail Delivery

An experiment to speed up mail collections in the downtown district will begin Monday, according to George W. Gosser, postmaster.

After 4 p. m. daily during the trial period mail collections will be made every half hour. The mail will be rushed to the central office so that its delivery will be expedited. This tentative schedule clips five minutes off the one now in effect.

"The men will be almost on each other's heels in gathering the mail from the downtown boxes," Gosser said. "We hope to get all the mail out of town by this method the same night."

TRIPLE CRASH ON BIGELOW BOULEVARD INJURES FIVE

OFFICER HURT WHILE AIDING VICTIMS

Suspect Arrested After Fleeing From Accident; Third Car Hits Wreck

Patrolman Edward J. Wagner, of the Center Avenue Station, was seriously injured this morning when an automobile crashed into two wrecked machines on Bigelow boulevard near the Seventeenth Street Incline while the officer was removing an injured man from the wreckage.

Four other men were hurt in the triple crash, two of them seriously. Two hours later police arrested a man who, the police said, had fled from the scene after the car in which he was riding figured in the wreck.

FIVE IN HOSPITAL

John Donac, 26, of 1334 West North avenue, and Raymond Gradionarado, 24, of 1015 Sheffield street, are in the West Penn Hospital. The policeman and Samuel Finn, Jr., 34, of 921 Federal street and Norman K. Mary, 32, of 305 Walters avenue, Mt. Oliver, are in the Mercy Hospital. Patrolman Wagner suffered fractures of both legs and hips. Gradionarado and Finn are internally injured. Mary suffered deep lacerations.

Police say a machine driven by Finn collided with the car in which Gradionarado, Donac, John F. McCabe, of 107 Steuben street, Crafton; Ross Martin, 40, of 209 Franklin street, and Alex Boggs, 40, of 1444 Hamlin street, were riding.

CRASHES WRECK

While Wagner was standing between the wrecked cars aiding the injured, police say, a car driven by Mary crashed into the wreck, pinning the officer between the two wrecked cars.

Police charged Mary with violating the automobile laws and Finn with reckless driving. The other five men are charged with being suspicious persons until it is learned who was driving the automobile. Police say McCabe fled from the scene, but was arrested two hours later.

Engineer Awarded $10,000 for Injuries

A verdict awarding $10,000 to Joseph D. Miller, an engineer of New Texas, and $1 to his wife, Mrs. Mildred A. Miller, in their suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company for injuries in an automobile collision, was found by a jury in Common Pleas Court before Judge Joseph M. Swearingen. Miller asked $25,000 for injuries to his back, leg and chest, and Mrs. Miller asked $10,000 for less serious injuries, alleged to have been sustained when their automobile was struck by an emergency truck of the railways company, October 6, 1927, at Frankstown and Hamilton avenues.

Woman Who Eloped At 16 Asks Divorce

Mrs. Anna Foster, 21, of Cronemeyer avenue, McKeesport, seeking to end a marriage that began with an elopement to Wheeling, W. Va., when she was 16, told Judge Richard W. Martin in Common Pleas Court that her husband, Andrew Foster, cared more for drinking and playing cards with his friends than for her.

She asked a divorce on the grounds of cruelty and indignities. She testified her husband abused her, called her names and slapped her. They lived in Clairton and have one child.

A luncheon and a tour of industrial plants of the McKeesport district were included in the program.

Thomas W. White, of New York, past grand knight of the council, was toastmaster. The speakers were William J. Yester, John B. Sweeney, the Rev. Thomas O. O'Reagen and John Hickey, all of McKeesport. The Rev. William Fromme and the Rev. J. C. Fallon, lodge chaplain, delivered the invocation and benediction.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY STAGED

The Rev. Dr. J. W. Claudy, executive secretary of the Pittsburgh Council of Churches, addressed members of District No. 9, of the Allegheny County Sabbath School Association, at a rally last night in the Point Breeze Presbyterian Church. He declared that the young people of today want a sense of reality in their religious teachings; that they are tired of endless debate and have enough doubts of their own without ministers and Sunday school teachers adding to them.

Dr. Claudy's address was delivered at the rally which followed a convention of the four divisions of the district, E. S. McClelland, past president of the association, presided. The convention opened with a fellowship dinner. About 160 persons attended, representing more than a dozen churches. Officers were installed.

BREWERY ASKS PERMIT RETURN

The St. Marys Beverage Company of St. Marys, Pa., in an equity suit filed in the Federal District Court, asks for a review of the revocation of the company's government permit to manufacture cereal beverages. The permit was revoked January 10 by Administrator John D. Pennington.

The suit is directed against the latter, Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, and James M. Doran, commissioner of prohibition.

The bill of complaint, presented by Attorney C. J. Margotti, avers that the evidence was insufficient to warrant the revocation, and that the administrator did not start the revocation proceedings immediately upon receiving knowledge of the alleged violations.

It was the second revocation of the permit, the first on December 17, 1927, having been set aside by the court as "not justified and was arbitrary."

M. E. LEADERS HOLD BUDGET SURVEY

Efforts to Underwrite $10,000,000 During Year Subject at Meeting Here

Reviewing worldwide conditions requiring the expansion of the missionary and benevolent program of the Methodist Episcopal Church, leaders in that denomination from widely separated areas of the United States meet in the Pittsburgher Hotel today.

They are making a final survey of their efforts to underwrite a sum of $10,000,000 to be raised this year ending October 31.

IS CHEST ACTIVITY

The canvass is in fact a community chest activity within the Methodist Episcopal Church for the maintenance of its various mission activities and philanthropic and educational work.

Material increases have been reported in the proportionate share of the Episcopal areas of the church, and it was announced that the campaign is making encouraging progress. Bishop Herbert Welch, of Pittsburgh, is presiding.

The Rev. Dr. William A. Brown, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Buenos Aires, Argentina, emphasized the significant developments of Methodist missionary work in South America.

NEED IS IMPERATIVE

Rev. Dr. R. E. Diffendorfer, of New York, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, in an address on world conditions, declared that social and religious movements in various countries constitute an imperative need for the mobilization of the whole force of the church in the extension of its mission and benevolent work.

The timeliness in these activities was pointed out by Rev. L. O. Hartman, editor of Zion's Herald, in his interpretation of the meaning for modern life of the observance by Protestant denominations of Pentecost, Sunday, June 8, 1930, as the nineteen hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Christian Church.

Miss Clark said the dog has been her constant companion and that she is worried over his disappearance. "Laddie Boy" is described as being light brown, 1 year old, and having white markings of three legs.

CRAWLS UNDER TRAIN, KILLED

Injuries sustained when he crawled under a freight train at Garfield avenue, Natrona, yesterday, just before it started to move, resulted fatally today for Julius Balkowski, 52, of 56 Chestnut street, Natrona, in the Allegheny Valley Hospital, Tarentum.

Witnesses told the coroner Balkowski wanted to cross the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at Garfield avenue, but the idle train blocked his path. Becoming impatient the victim crawled under a car. As he did so, the train began to move. He was crushed by the wheels, it was reported.

CHARITIES LOSE BEQUESTS

Because he died less than 30 days after he made his will, the $4,700 which John Dooley, of 918 Beech avenue, left to 10 Catholic charitable organizations of Pittsburgh will be lost to those organizations.

Mr. Dooley, whose will was signed three days before he died on February 4, apparently anticipated such a possibility, and stipulated that if such a condition came to pass the $4,700 be given to a sister, Katherine. The law requires that bequests to charity must be made at least 30 days before death.

The sister, Katherine, who was chosen executrix, three sisters and a brother are named beneficiaries of the residue.

WOMAN DEAD, 4 ILL FROM GAS

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 21.—(INS.)—Gas fumes seeping from a main believed to have been disrupted by a mine settling, caused the death of one woman, overcame four persons and threatened many others in West Scranton today.

Mrs. Peter Rupp, 70, was found dead in her home when a workman broke in after detecting the gas odor and getting no response to his rapping.

Peter Rupp, the husband, was found unconscious where he had fallen on the floor in his desperate efforts to reach a window in the bedroom to get relief.

John Rupp, 35, a son, was rushed to the hospital here with his father.

He arrived here on the liner H. R. Mallory after being rescued from his 37-foot launch, adrift two days off the Bahamas.

Siverson said he was taking the liquor from Nassau to another island when the engine of his craft went dead. For two days he drifted.

When the Mallory passed he asked for a weather report. Told a hurricane was threatening, Siverson opened the seacocks of his boat and climbed aboard the Mallory.

EX-FIREMAN FOR ANNEXATON

A movement for the annexation of a part of Stowe Township to McKees Rocks was underway today, led by David Simon, ousted township fire chief. Howard Millard, president of the township commissioners, today, regarded the plan as absurd.

Simon would have the Pressed Steel Car and the Schoen Steel companies tracts including the corporation owned town of Preston and the adjoining section known as the "bottoms," situated between the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad tracks and the Ohio River, join the borough.

The twonship had five volunteer fire companies until early this year when the commissioners ordered two disbanded; dismissed Simon, and named Max Horner chief of the department.

Simon asserted lack of proper fire protection caused him to sponsor the movement.

Balmy Days Have Jasmines and Others Fooled

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—If yellow jasmines in bloom and a high temperature mark that has broken a 56-year record for February 20, are signs of spring, the season is already here—for the time being at least.

The languorous weather yesterday set the weather bureau to investigating, and the announcement was made that a temperature of 76 degrees, the highest since February 20, 1874, was reached during the afternoon.

The weather was still unseasonably warm today and another official announcement followed. Charles Henlock, chief of the horticultural division of the office of public buildings and parks, said yellow jasmines were in bloom at Hains Point and in East Potomac Park, and added that probably the scillas, crocuses and tulips were ready to unfold in sheltered places.

Strupeck's hands were badly cut. At South Side Hospital he said he received the cuts when he broke a window last night at the school.

Police learned of the boys' presence on the South Side from workmen in a Thirty-fourth street brickyard who reported that boys in uniforms were loitering nearby.

Juror Loses Pay For Keeping 11 Out All Night

Eleven members of a sleepy-eyed jury, including several women, complained to Judge H. H. Rowand in Criminal Court today that a twelfth juror, Charles B. Funk, a plumber, of 429 Ariston avenue, had kept them out all night.

"He told us if we stayed out all night we would be discharged for the rest of the week and would be paid for today," they informed the court. This morning Funk agreed with the other 11, they said, and voted to convict Francis Karolkowski, of Natrona, charged with aggravated assault and battery on Kuella Smith, of Natrona, last August 24.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Miami Beach Colonists Active

AFTER Venetian balls, society folks down at Miami Beach are becoming interested nowadays in circuses. There'll be a circus ball at the Bath Club on February 22 and another circus to last two days, March 7 and 8, at the Miami Beach Gardens.

Last night there was an outing for members of the Coconoo Cay Club and their families and guests. This event was highly suggestive of the old-time circus too. There was pink lemonade with popcorn and peanuts also alluring. Swimming and diving contests and vaudeville acts were featured. There was even a boxing bout.

The guests went to the clubhouse on their yachts, of course. And the William J. Morrises of Pittsburgh entertained on their yacht Wampus a number of folks including the J. B. Semples, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, the Junior Charles Wellses, Mrs. J. D. Hallman and George Hallman, the Jack Semples and many others.

And earlier in the week the James Hammonds entertained with a dinner in the Bath Club in honor of their house guest, Mrs. Edward Vose Babcock.

I've heard too that the J. D. Hallmans were guests of honor at a buffet supper and dance Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard gave earlier in the week in her Miami Beach home.

YESTERDAY afternoon a very lovely wedding took place at 5:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Harris Ewalt Wainwright, of Beechwood boulevard, when her daughter, Florence Wainwright, became the bride of Robert Kerr Pollansbee, son of the John Pollansbees, of Squirrel Hill avenue. The Rev. Dr. F. J. Van Etten, rector of the Calvary Episcopal Church, read the service, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church.

The living room of the Wainwright home was the scene of the wedding. The ceremony took place before an altar of palms and ciborium ferns. On either side of the embankment, seven-branch candelabra held tall cathedral candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Harris Edward Wainwright, wore a lovely gown of ivory satin, princess style, with short puff sleeves of rose point lace adding a quaint effect, and long white gloves. Her eggshell tulle veil, edged with rose point, fell from a cap-like effect of old rose point. The bride carried sweetheart roses, white lilacs and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor was Mrs. John Haynes Pollansbee, and Harriet Wainwright, Florence's sister, was the maid of honor. They both wore Edith blue crepe, featuring the short cap sleeves and the skirts ended in circular flares. Eggshell straw formed their hats, and they wore long kid gloves. And did you notice their slippers were of eggshell satin finished with small blue velvet bows?

The bridesmaids, Rebecca Pollansbee, the bridegroom's sister, Janet Hardie, Janet McKinney and Sara Yinkey, of Detroit, all wore similar gowns of eggshell crepe with matching hats and slippers, and they carried Johanna Hill roses and African daisies tied with ribbons corresponding in color with their gowns.

John Haynes Pollansbee was the best man. Albert Horne Burchfield, Jr., and Henry Milo Curry, of Coraopolis Heights, were the ushers.

The bride's mother was gowned attractively in beige chiffon and lace, with matching hat, and Mrs. Pollansbee in a gown of chiffon in soft rose shade and lace, with matching hat.

And of course a reception was held after the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with spring flowers in pastel shades. Tall blue and pink tapers were placed at either end of the table.

The young Pollansbees will be at home in Pittsburgh after March 1.

ANOTHER wedding of interest to everyone, which will take place next month, is that of attractive Mary Currier Lewis, daughter of the James Edward Lewises of Aylesboro avenue, and Solon Armour Person, of Memphis, Tenn., who's the son of Mrs. John Mench, of Pittsburgh.

Mary has chosen March 26 as the date for the wedding, and it will take place in the home of her parents at 5:30 o'clock that afternoon.

And her maid of honor will be her younger sister, Mrs. Harry Christian May, Jr., formerly Betty Currier Lewis. The two bridesmaids will be Elizabeth Charters and Phyllis Person.

Jeter Eason, of Memphis, Tenn., will be the best man, and the ushers are to be Jack Currier Lewis, Joseph C. Willey and Harry Christian May, Jr.

India Topic Of Alliance Address

WITH the same breath you indorse Thomas Jefferson you must indorse Mahatma Gandhi, the Rev. Dr. John Ray Ewers said in speaking to the Outlook Alliance yesterday on "India and Gandhi." He spoke of Gandhi as "probably the largest soul in the world, a man who exerts not brute power, but the power of a saint, a power that is greater than all the guns of the kaiser, all the ships of Britain and all the dollars of America, a man who is gentle as a child and as immovable as a mountain."

However benevolent, domination of one individual or one group by another is wrong and if any one should feel sympathy for India it is the people of the United States, Dr. Ewers went on in speaking of India's struggle for self-government. Of Gandhi's part in this, he said it was the last fight of a great soul, the outcome of which probably would be determined within a few months, or even a few weeks. Dr. Ewers described the unprepossessing little Hindu who spins, observes regularly a day of silence, lives on curds and fruits and "probably takes Jesus more seriously than most Christians." He spoke of England's long, honorable history of colonization as probably the best the world would ever know.

Mrs. G. W. Greer gave readings and Mrs. D. W. Haydock, the club's 81-year-old member, read the article which she had written on the tariff for the Congress Outlet. The nominating committee reported its ticket: Second vice president, Mrs. Charles S. Hutchison; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary Rhoades McBride; treasurer, Mrs. P. W. Dutton; directors, Mrs. John C. Park, Mrs. Mary Smith and Mrs. W. A. Thompson. Mrs. John Colclough, hospitality chairman, from a sick bed, had directed the decorative scheme, which was a most effective and artistic one in red, white and blue.

WOMAN KILLED IN WIND STORM

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—Freak weather hit the Pacific coast from San Francisco north Wednesday, causing the death of a woman in Seattle and damaging property there and in Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Teresa Corr, 40, was caught by a gust of wind as she came out of St. James Cathedral, in Seattle, and hurled down a flight of steps. Her skull was fractured and she died a few minutes after receiving the last sacrament.

The wind there tore houseboats from their moorings and battered shipping along the water front and on Lake Union. In Portland power lines were damaged and a frame house collapsed in the gale.

Off the Columbia river mouth the wind whipped over the stranded steamer Admiral Benson on which the skipper, Capt. Charles C. Graham, maintained a lonely vigil for salvage purposes. The vessel grounded last Saturday.

In San Francisco thunder and lightning created considerable disturbance around 6 a. m., accompanied by heavy rain. A power line was hit, putting out lights for a few minutes.

TAFFETA RUSTLES THROUGH THE MONTE CARLO CASINO

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—The rustle of taffeta blends pleasantly with the rustle of the banknotes as they journey over the tables of the various casinos that overlook the blue Mediterranean along the Riviera coast. At the casino at Monte Carlo as well as at Cannes quite a number of taffeta dresses have been noted worn by women famed for their chic and perfect grooming. The taffeta dresses are often of black, an exception being the flowered taffetas, so popular with the younger element, and are perfectly cut in long graceful lines, with a perceptible flare to the skirt below the knee, which lends itself to the bouffant crispness of taffeta. Some velvet and faille are also seen and, of late, much georgette thereby giving a variety of material to the mode.

THE mode along the Riviera often becomes a matter of personalities. It is interesting to observe a well-known woman and watch just what clothes she wears on various occasions. As there are so many notables both at Monte Carlo and Cannes, we thought that perhaps you might be interested in seeing sketches of the clothes worn by well known and fashionable women. And so we are glad to be able to send you a sketch of the very tall blonde Princess Pierre of Montenegro, who is an English woman, possessing the traditional English coloring. She and Prince Pierre have just come up to Monte from Rome where they attended the royal wedding. Prince Pierre being a kinsman of the Queen of Italy who was Elena of Montenegro. The ensemble shown here was worn by the Princess at the gala dinner last Sunday night given in the Empire room of the Hotel de Paris. The frock, with tight bodice and full, long skirt cut in points, was of pale blue velvet. Over this was worn a short coat of white velvet embroidered in blue and silver with collars and cuffs of sable.

RIDER ONLY U. S. RUSS RESIDENT

MOSCOW, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Throughout the Soviet Union which is three times the size of the United States, the only permanent American resident is Samuel W. Caton, of Cleveland, O.

But Caton has even greater distinction than this, for he is also the greatest jockey in Russia. On the famous Moscow race track, reminder of the days when racing was the sport of czars and kings, American tourists to Russia recently saw Caton win his sixth derby and his one hundredth victory of the season.

Even the greatest harness race drivers acknowledge Caton to be the greatest jockey of his day in the Soviet Union.

Caton's winnings in Russian trotting races are considerably less than they would be on American tracks. But the popular American driver was born in Russia and has a deep attachment for the Russian people and the country. He therefore prefers to race in Russia, where for 40 years his father, Frank W. Caton, who died only three years ago, was the czar's trainer of horses.

The son, with his brother William, who is well-known on American trotting race circuits, was raised in the atmosphere of horses and court sporting activities. Moreover, Caton is married to a Russian girl, the daughter of Count Alexander Zatoff, former president of the St. Petersburg Racing Club.

It was Caton's father who brought the first American race horses to Russia. That was half a century ago. Today, most of the horses of the Russian turf are half-American and half-Russian.

AMATEUR FINDS NEW COMET

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Harvard University has announced receipt of word of the discovery of a comet believed to be new to astronomers. It was found by L. C. Peltier, of Delphos, O., a member of the American Association of Variable Star Observers, who, having no means of measuring the comet, communicated his discovery to Prof. George Vanbiesbroeck, of Yerkes Observatory, Wis.

Measurements of the celestial body were made by Prof. Vanbiesbroeck, and the following data were submitted:

Time of discovery, February 20; position, right ascension, 9 hours 22 minutes 38.9 seconds; declination, north, 40 degrees 21 minutes 55 seconds; magnitude, 11; daily motion 13 minutes west, 4 degrees north; image, very diffuse.

Mr. Peltier is a member of an organization composed largely of amateur astronomers, whose ranks girdle the globe. Most of their observations are made through relatively small telescopes, often mounted at their homes. They report observations to the Harvard Observatory, where a headquarters is maintained.

Heffernan advised the chief that the offending officers should be suspended at once.

LOVEJOY

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER XXXIX.

WITHOUT any regret and without any sorrow Lovejoy went ahead with her plans.

She spent six or seven hours of every day in the Tudor roadhouse, packing up the things that she wanted to keep, pressing and mending the clothes that she was going to take with her to Minden, writing letters to the telephone company, the gas company and the electric light company.

She had sold all the furniture and rugs to the Vera Bloomington Auction Rooms—a company that sold antique and second-hand furniture under the hammer.

On the last Friday afternoon in August she sat on the front steps waiting for the van that was coming to take away the things.

In a few hours nothing would be left of the pretty things that she had picked out with so much pleasure last May.

Only last May! Only three months ago!

Jiminy Christmas—but life can do things to you in a hurry when it wants to, thought Lovejoy. Who would have thought last May that she and Tom would be getting a divorce before the autumn leaves fell from the trees?

Who would have guessed that she would be going out west to a tiny Nevada town on Steve Oglebay's money, leaving Tom and the baby behind her?

I wonder what Tom will do when he's free, she mused, looking down at the toes of her worn bronze slippers. Marry Norrie, probably—

She lifted her eyes at the sound of an automobile coming around the corner.

It was a small open roadster, and in it sat Norrie Shane and Louise Dunham, one of the nurses who lived with her in the flat above Aunt Em's flat.

What plain-looking women they are, thought Lovejoy, watching them come up the front walk on their flat-heeled white shoes. If Tom marries Norrie there'll be lots of times when he'll wish she had some of my looks.

Accuses Norrie

The thought gave her a good deal of satisfaction . . . Norrie might be a sweet, nice girl who would keep his socks mended and the buttons of his shirts. But she certainly was nobody to take his breath away and make his heart beat faster.

"Hello, Norrie," she said in a cold voice. "What's on your mind?—Hello, Miss Dunham."

"Tom told us that you're selling all your furniture." It was Louise Dunham who answered her. "And we came over to see if we could buy an armchair from you—cheap."

Lovejoy's green-gray eyes were as cold as the stars that shine out above the North Pole. There was a smile far back in them. A cold, hard, calculating, little smile.

"I suppose the chair that you've come to buy is Tom's own armchair, isn't it?" she asked crisply.

She turned to Norrie.

"I suppose you think it will make Tom feel cozy and comfortable to have a chair of his own when he comes to your flat for supper!" she said bitterly. "But I'm not going to sell it to you! I don't want to have any dealings with you at all!—If you want my furniture you'll have to go and bid on it!"

Miss Dunham spoke up. She was one of those talky, strong-minded women who are always fighting other people's battles for them.

"We didn't come here to be insulted, Mrs. Nicholson!" she said angrily, flushing a dull, unbecoming red. "We had a perfect right to try to buy that armchair."

"Kindly shut up!" Lovejoy interrupted her like an impolite little girl. "Your wonderful friend broke up my home and took my husband from me! But she can't have my furniture!"

Lovejoy Furious

"I?—I took Tom away from you!" Norrie sent her a wild stricken look. "Why, Lovejoy, how can you say such a thing? —I came here and tried to help you—I did my work—"

Lovejoy went into the house and shut the door.

She was shaking with silent fury.

"To think of the nerve of her! Coming over here and trying to buy Tom's armchair from me!" she said to Aunt Em late that afternoon when she came back to the Bullard street flat. I suppose she wanted it to put in that flat upstairs for him!"

Aunt Em, feeding young Tom his supper of orange juice and milk, nodded.

"He's up there now," she said. "I saw him go up the stairs a while ago. Those girls get his supper for him, I guess, every night."

From the floor above Lovejoy could hear quick, light footsteps, and once or twice the sound of laughter floated down through the open windows.

"How can a man forget his wife and his child so soon?" she asked Aunt Em when the two of them were facing each other across the dining room table a few minutes later.

"How can a woman forget her husband so soon?" Aunt Em came back at her, her shrewd blue eyes on some of Steve Oglebay's roses in the middle of the table.

I declare, when I was young, women didn't think of changing their husbands every whip-stitch any more than they'd thought of changing the color of their hair! But nowadays they do both, and think nothin' of it!"

"Well, I admit that I'm sorry I had my hair dyed," her niece began meekly.

"But I certainly am doing the right thing in getting rid of Tom Nicholson!" she added with a flash of spirit.

Aunt Em chewed a mouthful of corned-beef hash thoughtfully.

"Here you are, getting ready to run off to Nevada," she said when her mouth was empty, "and here's Tom acting as if he's courting Norrie Shane! I suppose he'll marry her as soon as he hears you've married Steve Oglebay!"

Claims Baby

"As soon as he hears I'm getting a divorce he'll try to grab the baby!" Lovejoy exclaimed. "But the baby's mine, remember! And as soon as I come back as Steve's wife I'm going to take the baby. So if Tom comes here and tries to take Tommy don't let him do it!"

It was then that Aunt Em sprang her surprise on Lovejoy.

"He'll be right here in this flat at the time, most likely," she said calmly. "I'm not going to live here with just that tiny baby all the time you're gone!—I tried living here by myself for a few days, and every night when I went to sleep I expected to wake up and find myself murdered in my bed!"

She took a sip of her strong, hot tea and went on:

"So tonight I waylaid Tom and asked him to move in here as soon as you go. I shall enjoy having him here. Tom's nice—You say that he's begun to drink, but I guess he knows better than to do much drinking around ME!"

"You're upholding him in his disgraceful love affair with Norrie!" Lovejoy accused her. "And you ought to be ashamed of yourself, Emma Pomfret!"

But Aunt Em denied that. "I ain't upholding either one of you!" she snapped. "But you've wished your baby on me, and I think that one of that baby's parents ought to be with him! Tom's an awful good father to that child—takin' him for rides and everything! —Besides I'm afraid to stay here nights unless there's a man in the place!"

Lovejoy got up from the table and carried her dishes into the kitchen.

"I don't know whether I'll let the baby stay here or not," she called back over her shoulder. "I may take him out to Minden with me. . . . I'll ask Steve about it tonight when he comes."

Steve Wants to Go

She went down the hall to her own room to beautify herself for Steve.

Between the windows stood the huge black wardrobe trunk that he had bought for her a few days before. On the faded rose-patterned carpet beside it was a dressing-bag that Sheila Nettles had given to her for the journey. Its silver-topped bottles and jars gleamed in the electric light, as Lovejoy switched it on.

The sudden radiance roused the baby.

"Go to sleep, dear little thing—" Her throat closed with a sharp tightening on the words. Tears came pricking along her eyelids . . . How could she leave this small helpless thing?

But, of course, nothing was going to happen to him! He was just as safe as he could be here with Aunt Em!

Cheerful and determined and sure of herself once more, she went on with her dressing.

She felt like a different person when she went out to meet Steve at the curb a half hour afterward.

She was no longer the worried mother of a tiny baby. She was no longer a disillusioned wife.

Once more she was the girl with whom Steve Oglebay had been in love two years ago. Her shining hair blew back against her hat in red-gold wings. She was fragrant with the scent of some gardenia perfume that Sheila Nettles had put into her dressing bag.

"How's my own girl?" Steve asked her as she got into the car beside him, and held up her face for his kiss.

He had a small white envelope in his hand. "Here are your railroad tickets," he said. "You're leaving tomorrow night at 7:30—and I'm going on the same train. Now, what do you think of that?"

Fay King's Advice to Girl in Doubt as to Marriage Is—Wait

By FAY KING

IT is so silly to hear a girl say she is equally in love with two men and cannot decide which one to marry.

If she likes two men exactly as much, she is not in love with either, and the only answer to that is don't marry—wait! You will meet someone sometime about whom there will be no doubt.

No person in the world was ever deeply in love with two persons at the same time. There is bound to be a marked preference, or it isn't love. A man or a girl must mean more to one than any other in the world. If not, you are just liking some sweet friend a lot, and deciding to marry.

You may be happy, too!

Harry Requests Repetition of Brixton Letter

I HAD not imagined the look of relief in Harry Underwood's eyes at Lillian's admission that she meant to show Helena Brixton's letter to me. I found that out immediately after Lillian went back to her own apartment to change her house dress for one that she could wear into the hotel dining room. Her husband, under the pretext of showing a suddenly remembered newspaper clipping to Dickey, did not accompany her, calling after her a careless admonition to hurry, as he was famished. Guests at the hotel do not dress formally for dinner unless they are going on to some social engagement, so that all of us except Lillian were almost ready to go down to the dining room.

But the moment the door closed after his wife Harry Underwood thrust the clipping into Dickey's hands and turned to me.

"Lead me to a secluded corner, Lady Fair," he said. "I wouldn't have words with thee."

"You don't need to move, Auntie Madge," Mary said, wrinkling her nose at Mr. Underwood. "I'm going to fix my hair before dinner, and a perfectly model Victorian wife like you shouldn't have any secrets from her husband."

"Out of the mouths of babies!" Dicky chanted, but when Mary was out of earshot he shot a quick, keen look at Harry Underwood.

"Five to three I know what you're going to ask Madge," he said.

"You can make it a hundred to one. I'll not take you," Mr. Underwood declared. "But don't delay the game. It's just this, Lady Fair. Will you turn your famous memory loose on that letter from the Brixton dame when Lillian reads it to you, so that you can repeat it verbatim to me later? I know," as I hesitated, "it isn't exactly cricket, but you know she at first intended to read it to all of us. I had it on the end of my tongue to ask her to read it anyway, but I didn't want her to get the idea that I attached any importance to the letter. She had given over her first nervousness at the thought of the Brixtons were moving down here, and I didn't want to stir her up again. She'll worry enough about it anyway when she thinks it over."

He had given me time to make up my mind, and I spoke promptly.

"Of course, I'll do what you wish. But, tell me—do you——"

"I don't know," he answered gravely. "Remember, I didn't see that Brixton bunch—more blame to me—and, therefore, I can't size up things as I might otherwise. But women like this Helena Brixton, as you describe her—naive, incapable of subterfuge—often betray things unconsciously in a letter. I may be able to get a line on what connections Brixton is going to make in this city. I'm going to put you on my sleuth payroll, Lady Fair. Don't stop with this letter. Keep your eyes and ears open for any information concerning the Brixtons and that half-brother, Owen, which may seep through. And now I'll beat it over to the apartment. I don't want Lil to start conjecturing things. She's altogether too keen. If Noel shows up here tell him not to waste any time before his mirror or he'll have to come down to dinner alone. I craves food, I does, and I'm goin' to start something wif a razah ef I doesn't get it."

"The old boy's worried," Dicky commented when his friend had gone, and I drew a quick breath of relief at his casual tone. I had been fearing this first moment alone with him ever since my inadvertent reference to Hugh Grantland when Dicky had told me that he had seen Jack Leslie. But my temperamental Peter Pan never conceals his feelings when we are alone, and I knew from the natural carelessness of his tone and manner that he either had forgotten my reference to Hugh or that Harry Underwood's camouflaging interpretation of my agitation had been successful. But I made a prompt reply to his comment and kept the conversation upon the probable complications which the coming of the Brixtons would entail until Harry and Lillian, with Noel accompanying them, came back to our apartment, that we might all go down to dinner together.

I watched Mary narrowly as she and Noel sat opposite Dicky and me during dinner, with Harry and Lillian at the head and foot of the table which was always reserved for us. The girl's confidence concerning her need of money and her wish to take a job in the chorus, together with her stormy outburst against Dicky's comment upon Marion's liking for "parties," with the declaration that she "never had had a party in her life," made me realize that my husband's wilful and winsome young niece was in sore need of wise counsel and sympathetic guidance. But I had sad misgivings as to my own ability to give either of these things to her.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

'Aunts and Uncles'

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

In a discussion the question arose as to whether it is necessary to add the label aunt and uncle to one of such a position if the age difference between the two is not very great, and, especially, if one is rather intimate with this person? Is it all right to call them by their given names?

INEEDA ADVICE.

THIS is, I realize, a question that very often arises in a family, and each time it must be decided by so many circumstances that an outsider cannot, of course, know. If, however, there is only one or two or three years' difference in ages, usually it seems more sensible and natural for the two to call each other by their first names.

Groom's Mother Honor Guest

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct for the bride-to-be's mother to ask the mother of the groom-to-be to go to the bride's home and cook the wedding dinner with a friend's help? The bride's mother cooks and serves all the large dinners on the holidays, such as Thanksgiving and Christmas. In other words should the mother of the groom cook the wedding dinner and serve the guests at the table? ANNA.

NO; it is not correct for the mother of the bride-to-be to ask assistance of the mother o' the groom-to-be. The bride's mother is the woman guest of honor. And one would not think of asking the guest of honor to assist in the service of a dinner.

Inviting Man to Theater

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell us whether this would be correct? If a girl had two tickets for a theater, would it be proper for her to ask a young man if he would care to go, and if it is—how should one go about it?

READER.

YES, it would be quite proper for her to invite the young man to go to the theater with her, if she has two tickets and she would ask him in the most natural and direct way. She might write him a note, if there is time, or, if not, telephone him, and say, "Bob, I have been given two tickets for ——, for Thursday evening. If you are free on that evening, would it interest you to see it?"

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, February 22.

CONFLICTING planetary configurations mark this day for perplexities and complications. While new undertakings may react to high stimuli, yet there may be angles of discord, unwelcome fluctuations and loss calling for keen acumen and restrained behavior.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of fine impetus in launching new projects, but there may be frustrations and friction unless resolution, sagacity and cool actions obtain.

A child born on this day may have unusual talents which should be enhanced by good training and firm discipline.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Professional Flatterers

SOME day, when I am old and dull and tiresome, I am going to hire a professional listener. Or a professional flatterer!

YOU know what I mean. Somebody to laugh at my jokes, applaud my epigrams, and listen to my complaints, my symptoms and my servant troubles.

Somebody to tell me how wonderful I am, how brilliant I am, how becoming my hats are and how young I look at least once a day. Somebody to keep my inferiority complex to zero and my self-esteem up to par.

Why not? We pay people to cater to our palates and our appetites, to give us medicine and massage; to tailor us and dress us and make us beautiful. And then we go around, pathetically begging alms and gratuities, when it comes to food for our SOULS or a tonic for our ego!

Those old kings and queens had the right idea. They PAID courtiers to listen to them and professional flatterers and "favorites" to nourish their vanity and self-complacency to help them bluff themselves!

If a psychoanalyst gets a lot of money for telling you what's the MATTER with you, a skilled flatterer with a large and flowery vocabulary ought to get twice as much for telling you that there's nothing the matter with you. Finding your inferiority complex is not such a trick—it's CURING it, that counts.

Of course, husbands and wives and loving friends are supposed to be your natural boosters and admirers. But they are usually so busy trying to "improve" you or reform you or telling you things "for your own good," that they don't find time to spread the applesauce. And they are so afraid of making you conceited!

Besides, a husband's flattery or a wife's applause, somehow, lacks the professional touch. It is so apt to come wrapped in a lot of "wholesome advice," that takes away all the kick. Where's the thrill in being told that "you have a wonderful mind, if you'd only concentrate it on something worth while?" Or in being told that you make delicious waffles, when you are longing to hear that you have alluring eyes?

* * *

That's where the gigolo and "office vamp" shine by comparison. EVERYBODY needs a cheer-leader! Everybody needs somebody to keep up his courage and self-confidence—to keep him in love with himself! And what love spills over, goes to the cheer-leader.

There ought to be a preparatory school for husbands and wives, with a special course in flattery.

* * *

They could teach it with a chart, showing all the tender spots in a man's self-esteem and all the weak spots in his egotism; and all the sensitive places in a woman's nervous system and all the sore spots in her vanity. There ought to be recipes for compliments as well as for pies, and rules for making money.

Then we could keep all the cheer-leading and flattery in the home—and gigolos and vamps would have to hustle for a living. If there were more super-eulogists, there would be less need for psychoanalysts.

Paint Stains

Keep a bottle of olive oil at hand while you are redecorating and use it for removing paint stains from the hands. It is just as effective as turpentine or paraffine, and kinder to sensitive skins.

NOT SO DUMB

By HELEN KLUMPH

From Marion Davies' forthcoming All-Talking Picture by Wanda Tuchok and Edwin Justus Mayer, based on the play, "Dulcy," by Marc Connelly and George Kaufman.

CHAPTER XVII.

THE noise of Forbes and Dulcy clattering down the stairs brought Gordon and Van Dyke from their quiet reverie over a bottle in the kitchen.

"The pearls are gone," Forbes shouted incoherently on the run.

"But there's really no mystery about it," Dulcy explained earnestly to Gordon. "Because Perkins is gone, too."

"You see," she went on, turning to Van Dyke politely to explain, "Perkins has made mistakes before. He was just on parole. And I thought he was perfectly all right."

Van Dyke was her only sympathetic listener. He took as calm an interest in the whole proceeding as though it were one of the old kitchen forks that had vanished. In fact, he seemed to look on the whole affair as a boyish prank. But Forbes, his breath coming in noisy puffs, was hurrying toward the door followed by Gordon who paused only long enough to cast one malevolent glance at Dulcy.

"I suppose it's useless," Forbes gasped. "But I am going to try to follow him in my car."

"We'll get him," Gordon assured him, though his voice sounded uncertain at best.

They flung open the door, and rushed pell-mell into the driveway, followed a moment later by Dulcy and Van Dyke. The glare of headlights flooded them, and Forbes jumped back just in time to escape being hit by a car.

"It's my car," he announced in complete bewilderment. "Did someone else go after him?"

Dulcy Succeeds

Everyone turned toward Dulcy eagerly for an explanation. She waited a moment before giving them her big surprise. Already the pearls were forgotten so far as she was concerned. The elopers were off! In that, at least she had succeeded.

Just as Mrs. Forbes, came up, unnoticed, from the garage, she announced jubilantly, "Well, they're gone."

"Yes, yes," Forbes sputtered in an agony of impatience. "Who's gone?"

"Vincent and Angela," Dulcy cooed, delighted. "They've eloped."

"Eloped?"

Forbes was no more aghast than Gordon. They turned on Dulcy, unwilling to believe their ears. Forbes was the first to regain his voice.

"Nincompoop!" he fairly shouted. "This is more of your doing. This is the last straw."

"But Bill went with them," Dulcy explained, as though convinced that this would make it entirely all right. "And he will bring your car back tomorrow when they are safely married."

"Married!" Forbes bellowed, as he wheeled and stamped into the house, adding in a cold fury, "Now, thanks to you, we have a braying jackass in the family. I hope you are satisfied that you have done enough."

The more Mrs. Forbes tried to quiet him, the more explosive he became. But as his rage died down in sheer exhaustion, he turned to Dulcy in an ominous calm.

"Miss Parker," he told her, "I am measuring my words very carefully. Since my car is gone and the last train is gone, it seems that I shall be compelled to remain in this house overnight." He shuddered at the prospect, adding: "I shall endeavor not to commit a murder."

Forbes Is Angry

Mrs. Forbes looked on with terror-stricken eyes. She wondered when her turn would come.

"It wasn't my fault, honestly," she blurted out, going up to him and putting her hand on his arm. "I really didn't know anything about it. You know I would have done anything to stop—"

But Forbes wasn't paying any attention to her. His eyes were still levelled on Dulcy and Gordon.

"Mr. Forbes, I am sure this can be fixed up in some way," Gordon began, the quaver in his voice betraying his complete lack of conviction in what he said.

"Fixed up! Fixed up!" Forbes was growing incoherent with rage again.

"Yes, I am sure it can," Dulcy cooed, her old manner of complete assurance returning. "I always say that an angry word spoken in haste—"

Forbes turned away from her as though he could bear no more. Turning to Gordon, he spoke in a cold fury.

"I am beyond anger. If I did what I feel like doing I'd tear this house down and throw it in the street." His breath came in gasps, and perspiration was pouring down his face.

"All I have to say is this," he went on, when he had recovered sufficiently. "Under the circumstances it must be obvious to you that we can't possibly get on in business together. I don't like your methods."

Mrs. Forbes Cries

He wheeled ponderously and stalked off up the stairs, leaving Dulcy gazing after him in hurt bewilderment. As she moved over to console Gordon, who looked as though the world had suddenly crashed before him, Mrs. Forbes turned on her excitedly:

"This is all your fault. You know I couldn't do anything with Angela. And if my husband ever knows that I knew they were eloping and didn't stop it, he'll—he'll—Oh, I don't know what he will do."

Her voice broke in a sob, and as Dulcy moved toward her, she brushed her away and hurried up the stairs.

Many times Dulcy and Gordon had stood at the foot of these stairs calling a gay good-night to the guests, and stealing a tremulous moment together before they parted. The ghosts of those tender, happy days came fluttering around now to mock at Dulcy.

Nothing else mattered. Nothing mattered except that she loved Gordie and he loved her. If only he would take her in his arms now and tell her that everything was all right! She would think of some way to fix everything that had turned out so badly, if only he would baby her and comfort her for a moment.

Her eyes pleaded for her as she turned to Gordon.

Gordon Ruined

"Don't even speak to me," he told her coldly, turning his eyes away from her. He didn't dare to look at her. She looked so helpless, so forlorn. Her big, candid blue eyes filled with tears were like misty pools. She looked so tiny, so pitiful. Gordon straightened his shoulders and curbed his impulse to forget all the wreckage she had made of his ambitions.

"You can see for yourself, Dulcy, that it won't work," he told her sadly. "You promised me that you wouldn't interfere, and now look at what you've done. I'm ruined. We couldn't get married with a thing like this hanging over us."

Dulcy swallowed her tears, and tried bravely to stand up.

"But Gordie—" she spoke in a tense whisper—"you love me, dont you?"

"I—I don't know. Anyway, everything is hopeless with my business ruined. I can't go on letting you ruin my whole life."

Without a glance at her, he plodded off to the kitchen. Dulcy watched him go, unbelieving. But when the realization of what happened smote her, she crumpled up in a heap, crying disconsolately.

Someone playing the piano in the living room stopped suddenly.

"Miss Parker," Van Dyke's voice called softly.

Slowly she got up and dazedly stumbled into the living room. No one could console her. But she didn't want to be alone.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

The Child's Right to Health

EVERY child has the right to good health, education and happiness. More and more we are coming to recognize this.

In the past 25 years much has been done to promote child welfare and health. This might be called "the children's age." Never were so many forces at work for the betterment of the child. Unprecedented efforts are made to study his intricate problems, to better his environment, to improve his education and physical health.

DR. COPELAND

Public health officials, together with various welfare institutions, have labored for better living conditions for the child. Public-spirited citizens have given unstintedly of time and money in his behalf. And yet we have child labor with us.

In America today 2,000,000 children are gainfully employed. Strange to say, there are just that many adults, too, who are out of employment. In short, so many children work that adults are on the street. The American public must awaken to a realization that thousands, no millions, of little children, and children of adolescent age, are being exploited for money, and society now and hereafter must suffer in consequence.

Now, we know—all the medical men will tell you—that child labor brings with it a vast deal of misery, poor health, and death. In the last analysis it is uneconomic.

The National Child Labor Committee recently made a report of some of the health hazards among children in industry—things which make us pause and think. I quote from this report.

"In a study of the causes of death among children, we find that if we compare the mortality between those from 10 to 15 years with those of from 15 to 20 years, there is a sudden jump of tuberculosis from fourth place to first. This is particularly true in the case of girls, in which, in the age period of 15 to 20, tuberculosis accounts for nearly one-third of the deaths.

"But our figures reveal still more. In the age period between 10 and 15 years, diseases of the heart and the circulatory system head the causes of death and even in the next five-year period, from 15 to 20, they rank second only to tuberculosis. These figures reflect the infections in early life, and they indicate the great importance of supervising the health of children and adolescents leaving school to enter gainful employment."

Doctors all agree that a child needs a certain amount of out-of-doors recreation and rest every day. At least five hours are devoted to school tasks, and then very often home work is demanded. These are the years when the child is growing and building up his body for later years. It is a period of growth when the foundation of future health is laid.

The American public must waken to the menace of these millions of children in enforced labor. There must come drastic measures to prevent the traffic in child labor. The health and welfare of the coming generation are in the hands of every citizen of the country.

Answers to Health Queries

Sally. Q.—What do you advise for a condition where the eyelids are swollen and puffed, over the eyes rather than underneath?

A.—My advice would be to have your doctor advise you after examination. The trouble may be due to several causes: the kidneys, possible eyestrain, etc., may be at the source.

E. S. Q.—What should a girl of 18, 5 feet ½ inch tall weigh?

2.—How can I reduce?

A.—She should weigh about 114 pounds.

2.—Eat very sparingly of starches, sugars and fats. Get regular systematic exercise. A gradual reduction in the amount of food consumed, with the regular exercise, will work wonders in most cases.

CHICKIE

with a fine, laughing fellow like Barry Dunne.

They turned off the main road, wound in and out, now in sight of the bay, now losing it.

They curved through a scrubby oak patch and stopped, running the car into a little bypath.

He took her hands, half pulling her up to the brow of a cliff. They ran upward laughing.

Through the leaves they could see the waters gleaming. The golden hush throbbed about them with a soft, gentle air, intensifying the silence—the still, remote aloneness.

"Now," he said, spreading his overcoat on the dry grasses, "sit ye down and let us enjoy this moment. Heaven knows we've looked forward to it long enough. Oh, all right, then! You haven't. I've looked forward to it alone. When the breeze blew your eyes across the alley I've thought, 'If I were only rich, I and the charming one yonder would this hour be parked out under a tree. And here we are!'"

"Yes! And it's lovely, isn't it?"

"Better than that. I could see, of course, that you were a sweet, beautiful thing. I had no idea you were deep into the bargain." He pulled Martha's old tattered volume from his pocket with a laugh. "You dropped this on the chair."

Guilty color raced into her cheeks. But he went on: "You like him. Well, come over and make yourself comfortable. I'll read you one. You won't? Don't then!" He went scanning through the book: "Oh, you have this marked—pippin, isn't it?"

He read with a deep, clear intonation the "Lost Days." When he finished he tossed the book from him, caught her hands and pressed them: "Golywogs! That puts a crimp in one, doesn't it?"

"You haven't many lost days, have you?"

"When they're lost, girl, they're lost! I never go snooping around waiting for ghosts to peer from corners I've already turned."

Chickie had all of the young girl's curiosity about the inner life of a young man—especialy of a gallant, pleasant fellow like Barry Dunne. She wondered grippingly if he had really "done things." She hoped achingly that he had not. She said: "I don't believe you have many ghosts after you."

"Thanks for that kind of thought! Would you mind twisting your elbow a little. That's better." He rested his head against her arm. "And I believe you haven't any at all. But then you're a most surprising girl." He was looking at her and laughing: "Most surprising. She won't flirt—won't even drop a fellow a smile, and then when he rescues her in the dead of night she leaves him with a cold nod. Here—read."

She took the book happily—feeling herself clothed with a mysterious charm. She read on and on, her voice singing through the stillness.

He was quiet—his eyes closed. She looked down—with a pang of dismay saw that he was sleeping. She sat perfectly still, looking at the fine, ruddy profile—the long brown lashes—his mouth so young—full cut and sweet. A lock of the red hair blew across his forehead. Thoughtlessly she brushed it back—letting her hand loiter gently.

She smiled—her fingers ever so lightly smoothing his eyebrows. Suddenly and giving her a frightened start, his eyes opened into hers. His hands reached up, drew her down. But she would not. She shook her head—gave him a little push—sprang to her feet.

He stretched and yawned and laughed .... "I suppose we'll have to go." He put his arm about her waist—and whispered, bending over her, "Why so hard and stern....Just one—please...."

She felt him leaning down—she would have liked to raise her face and find the kiss falling! Her lips were ready—her mind held her back. She said, "No—no—please don't—!"

She let the moment go—but with regret. Until she saw his eyes quick. A triumph swept her. He liked what he had not got.

She would remember that. She thought about it, smiling as they sat at the gay little dinner. He made her talk—made her tell about herself. She told a little and made up a lot. He listened with his gray eyes twinkling.

Afterward they took a ride along the bay. A warm, balmy night—a dozen automobiles parked with their lights out—couples sitting in the back.

Chickie saw the forms, close together....She felt nervous, a little shamed.

Across the bay the dim outlines of an island were visible.

He slumped down, his arm behind her, and smoked. "Did you enjoy the day, Chickie?"

"Beautiful—all of it"——

"Take off your hat, please." He touched her hair. "There, and tomorrow when you look out the window, will you smile?"

"Yes—but you aren't a lonely fellow at all—I can see that now—"

"Yes, I am—very. I'm not strong for parties like last night but they're the only kind people give these days. I enjoy a time like we've had a lot better. You're the only girl—"

She waited breathless, feeling his eyes intent on her face—

"You're the only girl like you I've met out here—"

"In the whole three years?"

"Yes, and I'd be likely to wait three more and three more after that. I knew it from that first day I saw you...."

"At the window?"

"Yes—and your hair in the sun—let me see—"

He turned her sharply, looking into her eyes, a lighter eagerness in his face. "Yes, at the window — anywhere — you're beautiful!"

And suddenly — like that — holding her, his lips laughed and closed on hers.

She closed her eyes—a moment unresistant—heard a high free note strike out exultant in her heart. She said softly, "You shouldn't. It wasn't fair."

"Ah—but so sweet."

She clasped her hands, silent, looking down, startled to find herself wondering and half wishing that he might do it again.

He took her hands, pressing them. "Look here, Chickie, you're not angry with me."

"But I told you not to—"

"One little kiss? Would you be that stingy?"

"I don't think kisses are such little things. Anyway, I'm saving mine."

"Every first, last, single one of them?"

"Yes."

"For whom?"

"For somebody great and noble."

He laughed. "Well, I guess that's I, since I got it. But if you wanted this one in particular, I'll give it back for another."

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

RICH U. S. KIN ITALIANS' HOPE

ROME, Feb. 21 (AP).—Zio d'America, which means American uncle, has become a familiar phrase in Italy.

It is the equivalent of the American phrase indicative of "rich aunts and uncles" that someone here has just come into money because of the death of a relative in America.

Whenever an Italian returns of modest means sudden to blossom out with new clothes and perhaps a little automobile, the Italians instead of saying that he has taken to boozing, shrug their shoulders and murmur: Zio d'America.

The American uncle however has in actuality not been so active recently as in former years. Mussolini's stoppage of emigration to foreign lands and the United States immigration laws have combined to limit the flow of Italians to America.

Those who have been in the United States for some years usually feel their attachment to their fatherland lessened and their wills are more concerned with their relatives in their new country than those they left behind them. It is usually the emigrant of a few years in the United States who is most regular in sending money back to his native land.

"Zio d'America," moreover, is in many cases deceptive. The American consulates in Italy as well as the police departments of both Italian and American cities are constantly being asked by some family or other to trace relatives in America who are supposed to have died and left large sums of money. In most cases the records on which the requests are based are so imperfect or so unfounded that the relatives are never found.

But America continues to be a land of hope for Italian relatives of emigrants who have come to try their luck. They look toward the West and dream of the time when "Zio d'America" will mean something enormous in their lives.

PAL OF BLONDE HELD IN MURDER

Mrs. Schroeder and Dague are awaiting trial at New Castle, Pa., on charges of slaying Corp. Brady Paul, of the Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol, last December. The Fisk Jubilee Singers are always a welcome musical entertainment, and their concert in Carnegie Music Hall last night was no exception. The concert was under the auspices of the united branches of the Y. M. C. A. of Pittsburgh and drew a good audience.

J. Fred Lissfelt

Anna Goodwin, Luther King, Jerome Wright, Ludie Collins and Mrs. James Myers make up this fine sextet, who strike a happy medium between the charm of natural singing and the concert artist. Their lovely blending of mellow voices is so marvelously attuned to the interpretation of Negro music, that every song becomes a soothing lullaby. These singers are not without humor, however, but it is never played for its own sake.

The program was made almost entirely of spirituals. Both Nevin and Foster melodies were well arranged, and Frang LaForge's song was very convincing. Luther King sang a group of spirituals by important Negro composers in a most pleasant voice. Most of the songs were old favorites and there were several encores.

RADIO MERGER BEING HINTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21 (AP.)—Prospect of initiative of Magnavox Company, Arizona corporation, into a merger possibly with Grigsby Grunow was widely discussed here coincident with official announcement by Magnavox that the company was being reorganized to facilitate possible consolidation with other radio interests.

F. W. Dobretzski, speaking for President R. A. O'Connell, announced that Magnavox Company, Ltd., would be incorporated under Delaware laws which are suited to merger developments. Shares of the new company will be exchanged for those of the old.

A new factory will be erected probably in the vicinity of Chicago.

Dobretzski announced "a valuable patent covering radio-phonograph combinations" had been granted the company January 28.

Inquiries of Grigsby-Grunow into the possible merger situation was an outgrowth of patent suits between Magnavox and distributing subsidiaries of the eastern company. It has been suggested that purchase of Magnavox outright or at least a controlling interest might be cheaper than litigation.

Authorization of an increase in the number of Grigsby-Grunow shares from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 was accepted as further indication that a combination may be forthcoming.

Minister Earnestly Praises the Virtues of Flaxolyn

Rev. H. M. Stewart, Who Has Preached Before the Congregations of Presbyterian, Methodist-Episcopal, Baptist and United Brethren Churches Throughout Pennsylvania.

Thousands of Church-Goers Who Have Listened to the Inspired Sermons of Rev. Stewart Are Astounded to Discover the Tremendous Physical Handicap Under Which He Labored, and Which He Overcame Only by the Timely Use of Dr. Luntz's New Herbal Flaxolyn.

He exhorts all fellow sufferers to use Flaxolyn immediately to check rapid burning up of energy and help renew worndown body tissues.

"Now I KNOW," says the Rev. H. M. Stewart, "that dizzy spells, insomnia, backaches, bloating, biliousness and nervousness are often symptoms of that dreadful condition called constipation.

"I praise Heaven for the relief that Dr. Luntz's remarkable discovery, the pleasant new Flaxolyn, has brought my worn out body. I cannot be too lavish in my praise of the boon which Dr. Luntz has wrought for all humanity. I feel that only a miracle could save me from the decline into which I was rapidly sinking. For years I had suffered from headaches, heartburn and spells of dizziness, which I foolishly ascribed to overwork. Gradually these attacks grew worse, and I found it increasingly hard to work properly, especially after meals.

"I discovered that I could not concentrate on my texts. Spells of splitting headaches and biliousness sometimes gripped me to such an extent that it was necessary for me to lie on my back for hours at a time.

Head Reeled as He Stood Before Congregation

"Things went from bad to worse," states Dr. Stewart, as he continues with his startling story. "This toxic condition gained a terrible grip on my body. Finally it got so that on many occasions I stood up before my congregations, my head reeling, my knees unsteady and my hands trembling. Yet I was not nervous by nature. It was the result of these continually recurring attacks of dizziness, biliousness and headaches that were beginning to tell on my weakened body.

Tried Dozens of Medicines—Took Flaxolyn Almost as Last Hope

"All during this time I had been trying every kind of medicine and drug which claimed to relieve constipation and to help correct the torpid state of my liver. I was almost forced to admit defeat, when one of my parish told me how Dr. Luntz's Herbal Flaxolyn had cured him of constipation, stomach distresses and liver sluggishness.

Flaxolyn Brings Astounding Results

"The results from Flaxolyn were hardly short of being wonderful. After the first pleasant teaspoonful, I began to note the improvement. Within a short time my cheeks began to take on a new ruddy color of health. My congregation was quick to sense the difference and many friends looked to congratulate me on my improvement.

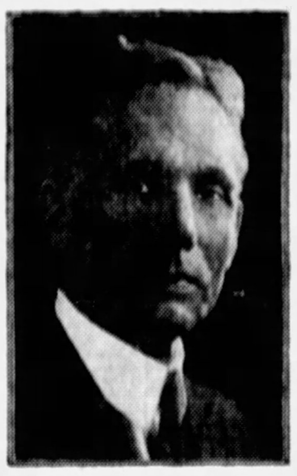
"I told them my sudden recovery was due to the remarkable results of Flaxolyn, which relieves the body from harrowing effects of constipation, that manifests itself in headaches, insomnia, gas attacks, dull appetite, dizzy spells, dull eyes . . . and from the effects of sluggish liver, which causes a yellowish, jaundiced appearance, as well as a general listlessness and tiredness.

Says Thousands Here Need Flaxolyn

"I know that there are thousands of men and women who require the use of the harmless Herbal Flaxolyn Formula to restore their bodies to normal functioning. Since my illness I have recommended it to hundreds of people, and I take this unusual opportunity of assuring my fellow men and women that I know of nothing that will help revitalize a rundown condition as quickly and as well as Flaxolyn."

New England Health Leader Personally Takes Flaxolyn

Dietitian Walter Peirce Can Recommend Flaxolyn With Sincere Enthusiasm Because It Helped Him Overcome His Stomach Distress, Toned Up His System to Such an Extent He Has Thankfully Advised Many Thousand People to Use Herbal Flaxolyn.



Walter P. Peirce, who conducts the interesting Health Shoppe at 94 Dorrance St., Providence, writes as follows to Dr. Luntz:

"I thought you might be interested to learn of my personal results in using Flaxolyn. The use of less than three packages overcame a bad gas condition, and afforded a normal bowel evacuation. No griping is experienced with its use and it tones up the whole system.

"I have myself induced thousands to take Flaxolyn, and have received some of the most marvelous reports on the results it brings."

Flaxolyn Combines the Most Precious of Nature's Herbs with Bile Salts and Other Valuable Medicaments Approved by the Very Highest Authorities.

Flaxolyn is a proven formula of pure, harmless herbs, roots, seeds, berries and barks—sun-dried and compounded with certain other ingredients known for their high therapeutic value.

Coupled with the good old fashioned Spanish Licorice, Sarsaparilla Roots, African Buchu Leaves, Chinese Rhubarb, Belgian Valerian and other herbs, are such approved medicaments as Vitamine B extract, Bile Salts, and other valuable ingredients.

One of the most important ways in which Flaxolyn helps promote health is by safely speeding the bile-secreting action of the liver when the liver has become sluggish.

Find out for yourself why so many doctors and health leaders PERSONALLY take and endorse Flaxolyn.

CLIP THIS VALUABLE COUPON

Don't wait! There is hardly a reader of this paper whose health will not respond for the better through the use of Dr. Luntz's Herbal Flaxolyn. MANILA SCHOOL STRIKE ENDS

MANILA, Feb. 21.—(AP) The 2,770 students of the Manila North High School, ended their strike today when assured that Miss Mabel Brummitt, whom they had charged with insulting the Filipino race, would no longer teach at the school.

Miss Brummitt, formerly of Valparaiso, Ind., probably will be transferred to another school, authorities said, and pending an investigation into the alleged charges and the strike she will work in the executive offices. Miss Brummitt has been in the Philippine Islands for five years.

Students at a mass meeting Tuesday, during which frequent references were made to the recent anti-Filipino disturbances in California, charged the teacher had "time and again branded Filipinos as savages, imbeciles, idiots and contemptible cads." Wednesday only 50 pupils attended classes and yesterday but 16 were present. All returned today.

Miss Brummitt said that misbehavior of several pupils in class had caused her to tell one of them he acted "like an imbecile." Others, she said, were told that they behaved like "cocheros" (rig drivers.)

CAPITAL LABOR SITUATION BAD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP) Five charitable organizations affiliated with the Washington community chest joined last night in a statement that unemployment in Washington had reached the stage where they were having "great difficulty in caring for all the cases of need arising from this cause."

The five groups, The Salvation Army, the Associated Charities, the Jewish Welfare Federation, the Catholic Charities, and the Travelers' Aid professed "grave concern unless some steps are taken either to keep non-residents in need of relief away from Washington, or to provide some further form of accommodation for those who arrive here only to find the employment field filled up."

Workers of the organizations reported that "in addition to an unusual amount of unemployment among actual residents of Washington, many persons had been attracted here by reports of large government building operations and announcement of plans for taking the census."

Irish Rebel's Affair.

How fiery zeal for national freedom tragically intruded into one of the most touching love stories in Irish history will be dramatized.

Robert Emmett, Irish rebel, and his sweetheart, Sarah Curran, are the principals in the sketch. A brilliant student, Emmett left the University of Dublin in protest against political injustice toward students, and sought an interview with Napoleon Confident of French aid, he returned to Ireland in 1802, hoping to free his people.

After a daring attempt to capture Dublin Castle had been foiled by treachery in the Irish ranks, Emmett fled to the mountains with British troops in hot pursuit. In deep hiding, Emmett contrived to send occasional messages to his sweetheart, refusing all the while to escape to America until she could flee with him.

Meanwhile, he was betrayed by a trusted friend, soldiers broke into Sarah Curran's house, and from that moment their love story mounted swiftly to its tragic finale.

BYRD EXPECTED BACK IN JUNE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—The ships of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, bringing Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his men home from their base on the Ross ice barrier, are expected to arrive here about the first week in June.

The barque City of New York, bearing the members of the expedition, left Little America Wednesday. She is expected to reach the ice pack in the Ross Sea about Sunday. The length of time it will take her to work her way through the ice depends upon the width of the pack, which at this time of year is usually about 100 miles wide. Sugar Good for Us If Eaten in Moderation

Children can use in fairly large amounts candy that adults eat, but parents should withhold from them concentrated sweets. Adults, as a rule, must be careful of bad sugar habits.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Health Commissioner of New York City
United States Senator From New York

SUGAR has played an important part in world affairs. The development of the industry of sugar making, and the wide distribution of sugar cane all over the world, has been interwoven with conquest and adventure.

There is a legend which tells how, at the dawn of time, after a hermit of India first created sugar from the juice of sugar cane. He did this to provide a "heavenly food" for the earthly paradise of his land.

Chinese writings of the eighth century, B. C. record the importation of sugar from India. Three hundred years before Christ Alexander the Great returned with his armies from India bringing the honey-bearing reed to Asia Minor and Europe.

Christopher Columbus brought it with him to the New World to Santo Domingo and planted it there in 1493. From it is traced that the Japanese brought it to Hawaii in the thirteenth century, but more likely it was brought from the South Sea Islands by the early natives inhabiting Hawaii.

NECESSARY IN DIET

During this past century there has been brisk competition in sugar production. The world's crop of sugar in 1928 amounted to 25,000,000 tons. About 40 per cent of sugar used in the United States comes from Cuba.

Two-thirds of Hawaii's productive agricultural lands are given over to the sugar industry. It is their chief industry. Most of it is raised under irrigation. It takes about 4,000 tons of water to produce one ton of sugar in Hawaii.

A moderate amount of sugar in the diet is necessary and good for us. It is a heat and energy producing food. It is more easily digested than starch.

VALUE PROVEN

Sugar assists in muscular exertion, as has been proved in various walks of life. Mosso, an Italian, in 1893, announced that reasonable amounts of sugar delayed fatigue and increased the working powers. His experiments have since been confirmed.

Its value has been proven also with soldiers on the march. There are instances of workmen using large quantities of sugar with advantage, lumbermen working in the woods, and mountain climbers in the Alps.

Too much sugar is not a good thing. An excessive amount cannot well be digested and is apt to produce acidity of the system. Children, who lead such active lives, can assimilate sugar better than most adults. However, it is wise to limit the amount of concentrated sweets a child eats. The same advice is good for the adult for that matter. Candy for instance, taken at the wrong time tends to take away the appetite for the necessary nourishing foods, and may cause indigestion.

Very many foods such as fruits and vegetables contain a certain amount of natural sugars. It would be far better for many of us to cut down on large amounts of sugar in the diet. The more nearly we follow Nature's foods the better off we shall be for health.

Fun is as important as food for livelier breakfasts, serve this modern pancake!

Is good food the only thing we need for a good meal? Certainly not. Good food can also be tiresome food—and a breakfast that is a bore is not a successful breakfast. For the sake of good digestion and good living, we need some fun along with our food—especially in the morning.

Here's a suggestion. Serve pancakes—the modern kind, made with the new Pillsbury's Pancake Flour. Watch the sparkle of delight come to a man's eye—a sparkle that has a lot to do with the day's success. You have the secret—the perfect combination of good food with good cheer—both necessary to a proper breakfast!

In reading this list, no doubt you noticed several of the soups about which you said:

"Now, there's a soup I haven't tasted for a long time. I think I'll get it today."

Exactly! There's such a delightful variety in Campbell's Soups that the full list of them never fails to attract a woman.

For that list is rich in suggestions in your meal-planning. Nothing brightens your table like good, hot, invigorating soup. Nothing gives it a more welcome note of being "different" than serving a different soup every day.

21 delicious Soups

by Campbell's famous chefs

Remember, too, that it is a splendid health rule to serve soup every day. For soup has a wholesome, tonic effect on digestion that makes all your food more beneficial.

You just add an equal quantity of cold water to Campbell's Soups, bring to a boil and allow to simmer. So convenient. Select a number of the different Campbell's Soups today. Order from your grocer.

Of course, you will include the ever-popular Campbell's Tomato Soup. This season's tomatoes were extraordinary and Campbell's chefs seized the opportunity to make their famous Tomato Soup even more delicious than ever.

The most convenient way is to get 6 cans at a time!

SUNDAY DINNER.
Clear Tomato Soup.
Stuffed Roast Shoulder of Veal.
Roast Whole Potatoes.
Creamed Broccoli.
Artichoke Salad.
Fudge Pudding. Coffee.

ONE of the prized recipes of the Creole cook is stuffed roast shoulder of veal. And you know the dishes of the New Orleans cuisine have become famous the world over. Let's prepare the stuffed veal in just the way they did, as the piece de resistance of this Sunday's dinner.

Have the butcher prepare a shoulder of veal by removing the bone. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth and dredge with salt and pepper, seasoning it highly.

The dressing is made with 1 cup stale bread which has been soaked in water and squeezed; then mix with ¼ pound chopped ham.

Season the bread and meat highly with pepper and add 1 carrot, 1 onion, 1 hard-cooked egg, a sprig of thyme, a sprig of parsley and a bay leaf, all minced very fine.

Add 1 tablespoon butter or fat and fry the stuffing for 10 minutes. Add 1 cup water and cook 5 minutes longer.

STUFF the shoulder of veal with the dressing and skewer or tie the meat at either end to prevent the filling from coming out during the cooking. Dredge the roast with one tablespoon fat. Place in a baking pan and roast slowly.

When the meat is tender remove it from the pan. To the gravy which remains add 1 cup broth or water, the juice of 1 lemon and a teaspoon butter, seasoning it to taste. Add a teaspoon of prepared mustard if you prefer. Serve the gravy with the meat and whole roasted potatoes.

TO be truly cosmopolitan we'll complete our dinner with a decidedly American dish—fudge pudding! You make it like this: Mix together 5 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ cup sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt. Add 2 cups milk and mix well. Melt 1½ squares chocolate in 3 tablespoons hot water and add to the other ingredients.

Cook in a double boiler for 10 minutes, then remove from the fire and beat well. Add the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs and stir in 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring.

The pudding may be chilled in individual or large mold, but the individual molds always make a more attractive service. Serve with whipped cream, topped with a gay, red cherry.

CORN SOUP—Chop the corn or put it through a sieve. Put into a saucepan with a slice of onion and a little chopped celery. Cook for a few minutes to get the onion flavor, then remove the slice of onion and add 1 quart of milk. Scald. Then thicken with a tablespoon of flour, which has been mixed with a small piece of butter. Season with salt and pepper.

STEAMED SNOWBALLS—Cream ½ cup of butter and a cup of granulated sugar, stirring constantly. Sift 2½ cups of flour, 3 1-3 level teaspoons of baking powder and ½ teaspoon of salt and add to the first mixture alternately with ½ cup of milk. Add a teaspoon of orange extract, then beat up 4 egg whites to a stiff froth and fold them into the mixture. Fill buttered cups 2-3 full, cover with grease paper and steam steadily for 35 minutes. Serve with a hot marshmallow sauce, made thusly:

Hot Marshmallow Sauce—Soften 20 marshmallows in a moderate oven, but do not brown. Put a level cupful of granulated sugar and ½ cupful of water into a small saucepan and boil until the syrup spins a thread when tested in cold water. If you use the candy thermometer—and I hope you do—let the syrup register 218 degrees. Add the marshmallows and beat until the mixture is smooth, then flavor to taste with the flavoring you prefer. Continue beating until the ingredients are well blended. Keep hot in double boiler. This is sufficient for 10 snowballs.

LAMB EN CASSEROLE—Cut cold cooked lamb into small pieces. Brown 3 cups of the diced lamb in 2 tablespoons fat. Cube 1 cup cooked carrots and 1 cup cooked potatoes. Place the meat in a baking dish; add the carrots, potatoes, and 6 or 8 small cooked onions. Moisten left-over gravy with hot water, and pour it over the meat and vegetables. Season with salt and pepper as desired. Bake in a covered dish in a hot oven 20 to 25 minutes.

SUET PUDDING—Here's a tasty dish! The very mention of suet pudding brings visions of the time when gallants and bon vivants stopped at romantic old taverns and were served that lusty and most delicious pudding; it was known to be a panacea for all mental woes and an argument in itself for living.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

It's easy to make one of those famous suet puddings. Chop enough suet very fine to measure ¾ cupful. Then rub it through the hands with a little flour until it is creamy. Mix with 2½ cups of stale bread crumbs. Add the lightly beaten yolks of 2 eggs mixed with ¼ cup of milk. Next add 1 cup of brown sugar, 1 tablespoon of lemon juice and the grated rind of a lemon, 1½ cups of seedless raisins coarsely chopped and a ½ cup of molasses.

Mix and sift ½ cup of flour, ½ teaspoon each of salt, soda and nutmeg, 1 teaspoon of cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon of ground cloves and add to the first mixture. When well mixed, fold in the 2 stiffly whipped egg whites. Turn into a buttered mold, cover tightly and steam for about 3 hours. Serve with lemon, vanilla or fruit sauce.

SPANISH CORN. Here's a perfect luncheon dish, specially recommended for emergency occasions. Take a can of corn, empty the contents into a mixing bowl and add 1 cup each of sweet milk and cornmeal, when the mixture is smooth add ½ can of tomatoes, or a small can of tomato sauce, 1 tablespoon of sugar, 2 beaten eggs, ½ cup of butter and ½ tablespoon of Spanish pepper. Also add the contents of a small bottle of stuffed olives, the liquid being used to make the mixture the right consistency. Pour into a buttered dish and bake in a slow oven for about an hour. Serve hot.

GELATIN CAKE PUDDING. One cup boiling water, 1 cup cold water or fruit juice, 1 package cherry or raspberry gelatin, 2 cups plain cake diced. Stale cake may be used.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water or fruit juice. Chill. When slightly thickened fold in cake. Pile in sherbet glasses. Serve plain with custard sauce or with whipped cream. Serves six.

RICE AND FISH LOAF. One cup boiling water, ½ cup cold water, ½ cup chili sauce, 1 small onion, finely chopped, 1 green pepper or 6 stuffed olives chopped, 1 package lemon gelatin, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup salmon, tuna or other cooked fish, 2 cups cold cooked rice.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water, chili sauce and salt. Chill. When slightly thickened fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into loaf pan. Chill until firm. Unmold. Slice and serve with a tart sauce. Serves eight.

JELLIED CHICKEN VEGETABLE LOAF. One and three-quarter cups boiling chicken stock or canned chicken soup, 3 tablespoons vinegar, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 cup cooked chicken chopped, 1 package lemon gelatin, 1 cup asparagus cooked and diced or 1 cup peas cooked, 1 cup celery or cabbage chopped, 1 pimento finely chopped.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add vinegar, salt and mustard. Chill. When slightly thickened fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into loaf mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves eight.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS. Grease a baking dish with shortening and cover the bottom with ½ cup soft bread crumbs. Add a layer of 10 oysters. Sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Then add 2 more alternate layers of ½ cup bread crumbs and 10 oysters to each layer. Top with a layer of crumbs. Pour ½ cup milk and ½ cup oyster liquor over all. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Garnish with crisp bacon slices.

APPLE ROLL. Sift together 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Cut ¼ cup butter or shortening into the dry ingredients and slowly add ¾ cup milk to make a dough. Roll it out about ¼ inch thick on a lightly floured board. Sprinkle the dough with 1 tablespoon sugar and ½ teaspoon cinnamon.

Cover with 2 cups chopped apples. Roll the dough and apples as you would a jelly roll, and cut in slices less than an inch thick. Bake the slices, cut side down on a greased tin for 15 to 20 minutes in a quick oven.

MEAT CAKES. Every housewife knows the embarrassment of having to "stretch" a tiny piece of steak to serve unexpected guests.

You may do it quite successfully by running the steak through the food chopper, also running through a few strips of bacon, then adding a few tablespoons of bread crumbs to the ground meat.

Season well with salt and pepper, and form into little cakes. Add a little bit of cold water to make the cakes stick together and do not make the cakes more than an inch thick.

Fry on both sides in cooking oil or bacon fat. When both sides are well browned, cover the pan and reduce the heat. Watch that they do not burn.

BEEF STEW. Wipe 3½ pounds of beef, remove all small pieces of bone and cut the meat in small pieces or cubes. Put the larger bones and rough meat into a kettle and cover with cold water. Now dredge the rest of the meat with flour, season with pepper and salt and brown it in 2 tablespoons of drippings in a frying pan, adding about half of an onion, thinly sliced. When meat and onion are nicely browned, add them to the meat in the kettle and stew slowly until tender, or from two to three hours. About one-half hour before you are to serve the meal, add one-fourth cup each of diced carrots and turnips and two medium-sized potatoes cut in large pieces. It may be necessary to thicken the gravy; if so, one-fourth of a cupful should be plenty for dredging and thickening.

BAKED RICE AND CHEESE. For this dish you will need 3 cups cooked rice, 2 cups cheese, about 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, and seasoning of ½ teaspoon salt and cayenne. Put a layer of the cooked rice in a greased baking dish and cover with a layer of grated cheese. Season with salt and few grains cayenne. Add alternate layers of the rice and cheese until all the ingredients have been used. Add enough milk to come half way to the top of the rice. Cover with bread crumbs, dot with butter, and bake until the crumbs are brown, in a moderate oven.

COCOANUT PUDDING. Mix 1-3 cup cornstarch, 1-3 cup sugar, and ¼ teaspoon salt with enough cold milk to make a smooth paste.

AIR MAIL LINE PLANE DAMAGED

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—The East Coast airmail service of the New York, Rio Janeiro and Buenos Aires Air Line, was held up by damage to one of the company's planes and legal action against another.

The airplane "Tampa" was damaged in landing at Santos and the "Porto Alegre" was libeled at Rio Janeiro by the Eta Company, which claimed that the Nyrba line had not carried out a contract for the transportation of mail between Rio Janeiro and Sao Paulo.

A third airplane, the "Rio Janeiro," was last heard from at Porto Alegre, but its present whereabouts was not known at the Nyrba office here. Since it has not arrived to pick up the mail from the damaged Tampa, the entire shipment to the United States has been held up.

A letter from President Washington Luis, of Brazil, to President Hoover, bearing congratulations on the opening of the service, is among the delayed mail.

Civil War Vet, 90, Held Dangerous Gunman

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—William Stevenson, 95, veteran of the Civil War, is a "dangerous man," according to a letter written by Police Judge Fred Starck to the commonwealth's attorney.

The aged veteran, it developed from testimony in court, has a penchant for attempting to settle arguments by gun play. Robert Holden, 35, testified that he objected when Stevenson stepped on his feet and that Stevenson returned with a gun and wounded him in the shoulder.

The judge fixed Stevenson's bond at $1,000 and then read Stevenson a letter he wrote the commonwealth's attorney recommending that the veteran be sent to the penitentiary.

"God boy," said Stevenson, as Judge Starck finished reaching the letter.

TOKIO PRINCES NOW GENERALS

TOKIO, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Two more of the princes of the blood, heads of collateral branches of the Imperial family, have been promoted to general officers' rank in the Imperial army.

They are Prince Yasuhiko Asaka and Prince Naruhiko Nigashikuni, each 43 years old, who recently have risen from colonelcies to be major-generals. Both have had real army service, rising through all the commissioned grades.

Two other princes of the blood hold higher rank in the army—Field Marshal Prince Kan-In and General Prince Nashimoto—while in the navy there is Admiral Prince Fushimi. Princes Kan-In, Nashhimoto and Fushimi are members of the Supreme War Council.

GIVES UP OFFICE AS CANDIDATE

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Julio Prestes, president of the state of Sao Paulo, has turned over his office to Vice President Penteado and returned to private life in preparation for the national presidential election on March 1. He is the candidate of the Conservative Administration party.

In doing so Senhor Prestes followed the lead of his opponent in the elections, Getulio Vargas, president of the state of Rio Grande Do Sul, who left his office several days ago and retired to the country to await the outcome.

Senhor Prestes recently asked for a six months' leave of absence from his duties in connection with the Sao Paulo government and it is believed he intends to visit the United States after March 1.

Girl Shot in Foot As Partner Drops Gun

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Miss Rae Hornberger was in a hospital here with a bullet-shattered ankle suffered during a private dance.

While Miss Hornberger was dancing at a neighbor's home in Kulpmont, a revolver dropped from the pocket of her companion. As the gun hit the floor, it discharged and the bullet hit Miss Hornberger. The name of the man was not revealed.

P. D. Bain, Peanut Magnate, Is Dead

NORFOLK, Va., Feb 21.—(AP.)—Philip Davis Bain, 69, of Norfolk and Wakefield, Va., president of the Amateur Peanut Corporation and president of the Hampton Roads Fire and Marine Insurance Company, died here yesterday.

RUSS LEGATION THREATENED

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—The Russian legation reported that it had received letters containing threats to blow up the legation building, which is situated in the west end of the city.

The letters were neither in handwriting nor in typewriting, but were compiled from printed words clipped out of Russian newspapers. All bore Norwegian postmarks.

Though the legation does not take the threat seriously, the authorities posted police around the building.

News From Hollywood, Film Review and Theatrical Notes

VETERAN GATEMAN AT STUDIO ALSO FEELS INFLUENCE OF THE TALKIES

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21.

"DAD" OWEN, the artist mentor of the M. G. M. gate, was chuckling quietly to himself.

"Say, Dorothy," he grinned, "I just heard a good one. A girl rushed from the lot and misses the bus by two steps. Then came the sound effects. Were they swell!"

Yep the talkies are even influencing "Dad" Owens' vocabulary.

Gloria Swanson

Gloria Swanson is going to have two leads for "What a Widow," her next stellar venture. To wit: Owen Moore and Ian Keith. A widow should have two leads. From hearsay, I understand they even have more. Allan Dwan will direct La Swanson.

Jack Benny steps from behind no beard to narrate the yarn about the slovely Broadway blonde who landed a job the first week in town.

"What are you doing?" Jack asked tactlessly.

"I help one of the big producers forget his appointments," she straight-faced.

Tibbett Sings In Lon's Shower

WHEN Lawrence Tibbett went to M. G. M. 'pears the studio loaned him Lon Chaney's suite. (And the typesetter who drops the "e" from suite gets sued by me.) Now this bureau gleans, Lon has a swell voice. But he sang years ago in vaudvil for his bread and board. Nevertheless Mr. Tibbett did sing in his (Lon's) shower. Which makes Chaney's voice aces.

Lawrence Tibbett

Latest reports reveal that Kay Johnson is recovering nicely from her recent automobile spill. Miss Johnson missed losing her life by inches in the smashup. She was boolevarding at a fair speed, when her car side-swiped one coming in the opposite direction. Miss Johnson's coupe turned three somersaults. John Flynn, head of the Pathe kumpny, was in the uninjured car. He leaped from his car and dashed to the wrecked coupe. Miss Johnson was badly cut and bruised and shaken up. Otherwise, and miraculously enough—no other injuries. Her companion was not even scratched.

Trailed out to the "Good News" set and a snappy chorus hitting up the Varsity Drag number headed by Dorothy McNaughton. It was about the fifteenth "take" when I breezed along, but the girls were as zippy as they come. How Miss McNaughton could be after finishing off the number with 15 "spins" in a row is a mystery.

Lola Rehearses Several Songs

AND Lola Lane leaning against the piano rehearsing a coupla songs.

And Nick Grinde directing the dance numbers while Edgar McGregor, co-megaphoner, rehearsed to one side of the stage.

And Tommy (the detective in "Broadway") Jackson among the presenters. Tommy just completed a flick at Fox. He will play the coach in "Good News."

Jackie Coogan.

And Larry Weingarten, supervisor of the vocalloid, recalling that only the other morn he received a letter from a publication in South Africa wanting him to send them some new pictures of Jackie Coogan' Years ago, when Jackie was a tot star, Larry exploited him.

Audrey White writes to ask what this bureau means by its frequently abbreviated "W. K." You're going to be that annoyed, Audrey. It means "well known," though, in some instances, "weak kneed" would fit, too.

Short financial story: Once upon a time, a chap wrote a song called "Memory Lane." He was down on his luck and when he was offered 50 bucks for it he sold out P. D. Q. The guy who bought the song cleaned up to the tune of approximately $50,000.

Well, I'll be seeing you.

Traffic Club Dinner Set for March 6

The twenty-ninth annual dinner of the Traffic Club of Pittsburgh will be held March 6 in the William Penn Hotel. The club's guests for the evening will be Taylor Allderdice, toastmaster; J. J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, and Dan Edwards, of New York. Pelley will deliver the principal address. Norman Allderdice, president of the club, assisted by H. D. Wilkerson, chairman of the dinner committee, will preside.

Back Again

George Arliss is back in the Warner again in another talkie. This time it is "The Green Goddess."

MUSIC PLAYS AND STOCK COMING

Mitzi, popular musical star, will be seen in the Nixon for a week's engagement, commencing Monday evening. She comes as star in the greatest success of her career, "Sari," Hungarian operetta which over night made her famous throughout the musical world.

Pearl Bradley and Mae Slattery, two beauties in George White's "Scandals," which opens in the Alvin on Monday evening, have formed a song writing team. Miss Bradley prepares the lyrics and Miss Slattery writes the music. Their first collaborative effort, "What Happens to the Sunny South in Rainstorms?" is now making the rounds of the local publishers.

"Aloma of the South Seas," next week's offering of the George Sharp Players in the Pitt, is the dramatic story of the life and love of a native girl who tried to force the fates. The plot of the play reveals how she eventually found happiness and brought happiness to others. Edith King will appear as Aloma and Signe Paterson, famous dancer, just returned from Europe, will present a native dance specialty.

McHugh to Address Pressroom Workers

William H. McHugh, vice president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America, will address an open meeting of press room workers Sunday afternoon in Moose Temple, Penn avenue. A program of entertainment has also been arranged for by the committee in charge.

The two from Pittsburgh are Misses Margaret Campbell, senior, Frani Blough, freshman honor list. The Butler student is Miss Irma Jean Courtice, class of 1930.

Walter Winchell On Broadway

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

THAT the pacifists had a swell fight concerning the "new" two-bit coins (quarters to you!) when they came out. Because they show the eagle flying, and Liberty armed with a shield. Too warlike.

That in Holland you may smoke at the movies and wear your hat and be served food during the performance.

That the line which aroused people most was "Reno, Nevada, is further West than Los Angeles, Cal.," and that it might have saved the Doubting Thomases stamps if they had only looked at any map!

That the bank messenger created the idea of the N. Y. Clearing House.

K. P'S TAKE NOTICE

THAT the Berlin police is composed of all ex-army men.

That among other credos is that the London cops are called "Bobbies," after Sir Robert Peel, organizer of the first police force.

That man's brains are the heaviest of all.

That the physicians of New York have an art exhibit annually, and those of Vienna have their own Philharmonic Orchestra.

That it costs more to maintain a hat than to buy one.

That your skin changes once every seven years.

That parts of our state constitution were taken verbatim from a document dated 1216.

That boracic acid powder placed in your shoes will relieve burning tootsies and keep you in a good mood.

GLASS SOLUBLE

THAT glass dissolves in water, as does everything, though only minutely.

That the so-called "grandeur" film is a standard size film—shown through a special lens.

That Lee Shubert's show, "Topaze," drew rave notices from most of the critics, who called it "magnificent," "beautiful," "grand," "fine," "great" and so on, but Mr. Shubert wasn't satisfied with it. After reading the tributes he put the show into rehearsal, deleting this and fixing up that.

That Ed Wynn, who plays the piano so well in "Simple Simon," can only play in one key—the piano being specially tuned for him.

That "He's a Phoney" in Chicagoese is "He's a false prayer."

That there is an authentic record in England telling, with proof, of the resuscitation of a criminal who was hanged, six hours after the "execution." He was pardoned—the law having been "carried out."

That chinchilla fur, which is the most expensive, wears the poorest.

That the expression, "Tell it to the Marines," first appeared in "Asmodeus," by LeSage, and published in France in 1717.

IT'S BEEN CALLED WORSE, TOO

THAT in Yurrup the typewriter is called a dactilograph.

That the minute hand on your watch moves at the circular rate of more than 1,000 miles an hour.

That a man can't be knocked out if his mouth is open.

That fish do perspire—under their scales.

That the featured nude dancer in Berlin is a New York girl—who won't do it here because of family pride.

That the insignia of New York cops is exactly like that of the Army, except in the Army all are in "gold."

That during the Spanish-American tiff every mounted officer had to buy his horse with his own coin.

That by 1 a. m. Broadway from Forty-second to Forty-seventh is dark, but Forty-eighth to Fifty-third blazes away for another hour.

PROBLEM—GET CELERY

THAT if you eat celery between drinks it is supposed to keep you from getting drunk. But who wants to know that?

That they are saying the reason Earl Carroll went to Boston to "fix up" Miss Selwyn's "9:15 Revue" flop was that he wanted his own show "Sketch Book" to run in New York longer, and it certainly is.

That Pauline Fredericks is so scared of Chicago "extortionists" she has vowed never to play there anymore.

That the "Whoopee" troupe is immune from the Chicago lads since Eddie Cantor warbled all night in Bottles Capone's hot spot.

That gangsters conceal machine guns in violin cases!

That Rin-Tin-Tin is ailing and will retire soon.

That when Bobby Clark and Paul McCullough began their career, Clark was the "straight" man McCullough the "comic."

Mackey Guest of Phi Kappa Psi

Mayor Harry A. Mackey, of Philadelphia, was expected to be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of Pittsburgh members of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity this evening. The dinner will be held at the University Club, Oakland, at 6:30 o'clock. D. F. Williams, editor of "The Shield," the fraternity's national publication, Dr. John Schneider, head of Wittenberg College's English department, and James Hindman, Pittsburgh attorney, will be the other speakers.

Fine Man in Sale Of 'Number' Slips

Accused by police of selling clearing house pool tickets in Edgewood, William Harris, of 7842 Frankstown avenue, was being held in the Edgewood lockup today pending payment of a $27.50 fine imposed by Justice of the Peace Joseph Craig last night. Harris was arrested by Patrolman Daniel Wright.

ARLISS TALKS AND WEARS TURBAN

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

George Arliss, master actor, came to the Warner screen yesterday in his second talkie, "The Green Goddess." A funny, stumy-looking little idol gives the picture its name. But it is Mr. Arliss who gives the picture its value as drama and entertainment.

"The Green Goddess," as far as its story is concerned, more appropriately could be called "The Rajah." For it is a rajah of a strange kingdom somewhere in the Himalayan Mountains who dominates the whole affair.

Of course, Mr. Arliss plays this gentleman. With sinister force he moves through the production, plotting for the deaths of two Englishmen and for the love of an Englishwoman. And he presents a strange mixture of barbarism and civilization. One moment, with polite gesture, he passes the cigarets. The next, with cruel but true aim, he sends a piece of lead humming into the heart of one of the Englishmen.

Says You, Mr. Rajah

Not a very nice fellow, after all. But Mr. Arliss, with a turban on his head and subtle dialogue on his lips, makes him a very impressive one. And he is philosophical, even though ironical, this rajah. Foiled in his diabolical plottings at the finale, he sees the Englishwoman pass to freedom. But does he rip his turban and tear his hair? He does not. He just says: "Maybe she'd have been a d——n nuisance anyway."

Alice Joyce, H. B. Warner and Ralph Forbes appear in the supporting cast. All do well, too, except Mr. Forbes. He doesn't click somehow. And I doesn't look like he used to look. For which we have no explanation to offer.

Out the Window

Ivan Simpson, present as the rajah's butler, does a good piece of work. But the poor man gets tossed out of a window and down into a deep ravine for his pains.

"The Green Goddess" is not the talkie "Disraeli" was. However, it has more action and melodrama and these ought to help it to register at the box office. As for Mr. Arliss, he is too much of an actor not to be entertaining in anything. And we make a salaam to him and say: Lon Chaney may be a man of a thousand faces, but you, Mr. Arliss, can put a thousand expressions on one face.

Leetsdale Seniors Hold Dance Tonight

The senior class of Leetsdale High School will give a George Washington dance in the school gymnasium tomorrow night to raise funds for defraying expenses of the annual senior banquet.

Dear Madam:—

Suppose you married a man who had a son by his first wife . . . and . . .

Suppose it was just the matter of hours until you were to become the mother of his second child . . . and . . .

Suppose he received a cablegram that his first wife's child was dying in Switzerland . . . and . . .

Suppose, without consulting you, he made instant preparations to hasten to the bedside of his dying boy . . .

Completely ignoring the fact that you might also die during the coming ordeal of motherhood. I want to know what YOU would do under these conditions?

McKechnie on New Job. Off for Camp Tonight. First Test of White. | Olson Brooklyn Coach. Luque Quits Holdouts. Gridder Record Student.

EX-BUC'S FOURTH MAJOR PILOT POST

BILL M'KECHNIE, Wilkinsburg citizen and former skipper of the Pirates, is all set to embark upon his newest managerial venture in baseball's big show. McKechnie, taking charge of the Boston National League club on the first lap of a four-year contract, will leave tonight for St. Petersburg, Fla., where the Braves are to do their spring training under his direction. The advance guard of the squad will greet him there on Sunday, and the first workout will be held on Monday morning. The New York Yankees are to train in the same town.

Bill McKechnie

Giving the Federal League a major rating, Boston is the fourth big league city in which McKechnie has been manager. He won pennants for two of them. On June 19, 1915, the Wilkinsburg man succeeded Bill Phillips as manager of the Newark Feds, and the club improved so greatly under his handling that it missed the first division by only three points after a poor start. On July 1, 1922, Bill supplanted George Gibson as boss of the Buccaneers and served until the end of 1926, winning the pennant and the world championship in 1925. In 1928 he followed Bob O'Farrell as leader of the Cardinals and turned in another flag. In spite of that success he was transferred to Rochester, but on July 25 last year he was back on the main line to take th Redbird reins from Billy Southworth, finishing in fourth place.

SO McKechnie has a very creditable record behind him as he moves over to superintend the doings of the Braves. Building up a winner on the ruins of the tail-end Hub outfit that lost 98 games last year threatens to be a tough job, and one that will take time, but Bill starts in on the work with characteristic determination that promises big resuls eventually. He will be aided by George Sisler and Hank Gowdy as coaches, and by Johnny Evers, Kitty Bransfield and Jack Slattery as scouts.

Barring the release of Pitcher Gorham Leverett to Buffalo, McKechnie has made no recent changes in his squad. The best of his new men include Outfielders Walter Berger, Joe Bretcher, Ralph Boyle, William Dunlap and Andy Moore, First Basemen Johnny Neun and Harry Nolan, Third Baseman Russell Rollings, and Pitchers Alonzo Smith, Bob Brown and John Clough. McKechnie said today that he hopes to close deals for a couple of good minor league prospects during the spring. He has a lot of faith in Rabbit Maranville and is counting upon the veteran to be a mainstay as the Braves' regular shortstop.

IN Chicago tonight, Charley White, once a lightweight championship contender and perhaps the greatest left-hook specialist of his day, will face the first of a series of tests in which he hopes to prove that a fighter nearing 39 can come back successfully even though he has been out of the ring for six years.

Henry Perlick

A change has been made in the special six-round bout that will mark White's return to the glove game. Instead of Frankie Hayes, as originally scheduled, Charley will meet Henry Perlick, who, like his twin brother, has been seen in action in Pittsburgh.

SHOULD he emerge the winner tonight, the single victory would not, of course, be conclusive evidence of White's ability to cope with the top-notchers again after his long absence from the fistic sport. But the bout may furnish some slight line on what his chances would be in front-line competition, and for that reason the outcome will be awaited with interest. Even if he were younger, the odds would appear to be against White's getting very far after such an extended period of inactivity. A boxer long idle may feel all right in gymnasium workouts, but a real fight involves a leg strain that often proves his undoing. Perlick is among those who can't see a chance for Charley. "If an old-timer like White can lick me I'll hang up my gloves forever," he said. "If I can't beat him, no matter how good he was years ago, I'm ready to step aside and make room for some one else."

ANOTHER familiar figure has come back to the big baseball tent and will be in evidence along the National League circuit again during 1930 after a long absence. Ivan Olson, former infielder and Dodger coach, has just signed to return to the Brooklyn club in a coaching capacity. He will be paired with Otto Miller.

Olson has been out of the majors for five years. He gave up regular playing in 1924 and coached the Robins that season, but when the late Charles H. Ebbets tried to cut his salary in 1925 a dispute resulted that led to Ivan's release. Olson managed the Pocatello club in the Utah-Idaho League in 1927 but has not been in baseball since. He is 44 years old and first broke into the professional game in 1906, entering the majors as a member of the Cleveland club in 1911. Cincinnati obtained him on waivers in 1915 and later turned him over to the Robins. Tommy Leach and others had been candidates for the Brooklyn coaching vacancy.

IN addition to acquiring Olson, the Brooklyn club also has managed to bring one prominent holdout into line. Pitcher Adolfo Luque, recently obtained from Cincinnati in exchange for Douglas McWeeny, has finally signed a contract. Pitchers Clise Dudley and Luther Roy, Infielder Jackie Warner, and Outfielders Rube Bressler, Hal Lee and Max West entered the Robin fold at the same time.

Edward A. Schultz

However, no fewer than 12 other Brooklyn players still are unsigned. They are Pitchers Dazzy Vance, Bill Clark, Ray Moss, Austin Moore, Jim Faulkner and Hollis Thurston, Catcher Hank DeBerry, Outfielders Babe Herman and Johnny Frederick, and Infielders Harvey Hendrick, Edule Moore and Gordon Slade.

EDWARD A. SCHULTZ, a member of Pitt's varsity football squad for the last two years, has maintained one of the highest scholastic averages ever made by any student attending the university. He is an unsung hero, in a sense, for though he has not played much of a part in athletics, Coach Jock Sutherland has this to say of him: "Football has a real need for men like Schultz. His scholastic achievements are an inspiration to the squad, and his determination and tenacity set a real example for the others. Schultz plays football because he likes to play. He is handicapped by physical limitations, yet he was out for practice every night, giving his best, and ready to play any position on a second's notice. We are just as proud of boys like Schultz as we are of other players who may win more applause for their football ability."

SCHULTZ is 29 years old. He was born in Pittston, Pa., and after graduating from high school there started to work in a bank. In five years he advanced to the post of assistant cashier. Then he decided to continue his education and enrolled at Pitt.

Though only 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighing but 156 pounds, Schultz reported for football and stayed out. He was tried at end, and by sheer aggressiveness became a third stringer. Ed scored a touchdown against Duke, taking a pass from Hood and running 20

PIRATES SPEED THROUGH ARIZONA

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

GALLUPE, N. M., Feb. 21.—Manager Jewel Ens, of the Pirates, today announced that when he passes out the baseball regalia at Paso Robles Saturday afternoon he will depart from the time-honored custom which has marked the distinction between the training - camp squads. Heretofore there have been the regulars and yanigans, with the badge of merit being the gray uniform. This color generally was the symbol of the first team, and no amount of argument on the part of the bosses was able to make certain of the white-clad yans think they had just as much chance as the gray-robed athletes.

Be that as it may, Ens has hit upon a new plan which will be tried out this year. The innovation will give the pitchers and catchers the white uniforms, the gray to be worn by the infielders and outfielders.

FEW EXCEPTIONS

In the past years the manager, in dealing out the suits, would make an announcement to the effect that the boys in the white suits need not think that they were second-string players; yet the inferiority complex cropped out more than once when a lad scanned the field and saw none but the stars adorned in the coveted gray.

Now there are some spunky boys who, if given a white suit, would immediately stick out their chins and make themselves into gray spangles. However, it seems that the system discouraged others, so the management has decided to try the new plan.

A few exceptions may be made owing to the unusual number of infielders and outfielders on the present squad, but the whole scheme will have been changed and the sponsor thinks it will work out satisfactorily.

The advance guard breakfasted at this New Mexico town this morning and then continued on the long jaunt to camp. The athletes were happy in the realization that they have only one more night to spend on the Pullmans. Los Angeles is due to be reached at 7:15 tomorrow. At that big city, the squad will leave the parlor cars to hustle from the Santa Fe to the Southern Pacific station. It will have 30 minutes in which to make the connection on the flier for Paso Robles. The San Francisco-bound train is scheduled to make a special stop at the training site at 2:50 p. m.

All aboard marveled at the weather that prevailed through the many states since the squad departed from the Baltimore and Ohio Station in Pittsburgh Tuesday night. Chicago had a wondrous day for the travelers and when they began to dip into the Southwest coats and vests were shed and the Pullman fans turned on to stir up breezes.

Twice during yesterday, Ens and his assistant, Max Carey, put the athletic voyagers through setting-up exercises. This idea has taken hold in the squad and there is no need of urging anybody to get in line for the calisthenics.

CALIFORNIA TONIGHT

Most of today will be spent in traversing the wild state of Arizona, the train being due to enter California by way of Needles, at 8:15.

One of the liveliest players in the group is Jess Petty, the well-known Silver Fox, who seems to have almost completely recovered from his operation for appendicitis.

"I feel great," said Petty, as he bounded off the train with the others this morning for an early breakfast.

Petty's looks upheld his remarks. Jess seems to be ready to jump into training. He has been taking light exercise in Hot Springs.

Who's Coolidge? Shires Asks Operator

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Feb. 21. — (AP.)—Although Art Shires has not yet said whether the contract offered him was satisfactory there is proof that the first baseman has been in touch with the Chicago White Sox office by telephone—abundant proof.

Wednesday he placed a call and was connected with the Chicago operator.

"This is Shires and I want to speak to the White Sox office," said the modest first sacker.

"Who," asked the operator.

"Shires," this time a trifle impatiently.

"Who's Shires?" the operator wanted to know.

"Who's Calvin Coolidge?" shot back the impetuous Art.

ENS SHOWS INITIATIVE AS PILOT

By Staff Correspondent.

GALLUP, N. M., Feb. 21.—Jewel Ens has shown initiative since he took over the reins of Pirate leadership. His latest announcement concerning the distribution of the gray and white uniforms revives much talk concerning the Regulars and Yanigans.

Jewel Ens.

Jewel seemed to have one particular case in mind when he decided to switch. A couple of years ago, the Pirates purchased a promising young pitcher from the Texas League. The hurler had knocked off something like 20 victories in the Lone Star circuit and he went to Paso Robles with high hopes of becoming a Pirate sharpshooter.

The fallen hero of this little tale was among those handed a white suit. He had a lot of ability, but seemed to be the sort of a lad who needed encouragement. It was noted that he became indifferent in his training, so much so that he was shipped back. Before he left camp he dropped the information "that he knew he was out of the reckoning when given the white uniform."

SHOWED COURAGE

To contrast this yarn is one that showed Clyde (Pooch) Barnhart, the quiet Pennsylvania Dutchman, who was not noted for being aggressive, but who, it appears, had enough courage in his makeup to batter down a barrier that had made its mark on noisier performers.

Barnhart never complained. Regardless of how things were

HOBART SIGNS JAKIE BOHREN

GENEVA, N. Y., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Karl W. (Jakie) Bohren, former University of Pittsburgh halfback, has been appointed director of athletics at Hobart College, it was announced today by President Murray Bartlett. Bohren will have a place on the faculty and will have teaching duties in addition to his supervision of athletics, President Bartlett said.

Bohren, who was selected from a large number of candidates since the resignation of Vincent (Deak) Welch last December 1, comes to Hobart from Bellefonte Academy at Bellefonte, Pa., where he headed the physical training department for two years.

For three years previous Bohren was coach at St. Vincent's College at Beatty, Pa. He is 31 years old.

PICINICH, GILBERT SIGN

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Val Picinich, catcher, and Wally Gilbert, third baseman, for the Brooklyn Robins, have turned in their signed contracts. Most of the Robins either are on their way or will leave tonight for the spring training grounds at Clearwater, Fla.

MALCO READY FOR SAYLOR RETURN GO

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

With his fight with Young Joe Walcott, of Washington, Pa., scheduled as the windup tonight in the Moose Temple, Tom Malco, of Soho, erstwhile newspaper pressman, has come out with a flat challenge to Young Saylor, of Charleroi, the man he is accused of dodging ever since their recent battle in the Moose ring in which Tom received the decision but Saylor drew the cheers of the crowd.

Tom Malco.

A return match has been in the making for some time, but Malco and his manager, Joe Holland, have refused to entertain any proposition along these lines until now. They have their own secret reason, and it is in the nature of a grievance for a wrong they believe was done them, but they finally have decided to forget their feelings and take on Saylor for any club that wants the match. It's a "natural," for the fans have been yelling "Saylor" at every mention of Malco's name since their memorable clash.

AFTER GARDEN WINNER

Manager Holland yesterday told both Francis Flynn, Moose Temple promoter, and Nate Leff, promoter of the new club in Duquesne Garden, to get Saylor for Malco. He also informed Leff he was willing to cut loose Malco against the winner of the Vincent Hambright-Jimmy Belmont bout at Duquesne Garden next Wednesday night.

Basketball Tilt Causes Girl To Collapse

SOUTH, FIFTH AVE. DECIDE HONOR TODAY

After a season chuck full of ups and downs, the battle-scarred quintets of Fifth Avenue and South will clash on the Fifth Avenue floor this afternoon for the championship of Section I of the City League and the right to meet the winner of the Section II gonfalon for the league title.

Until two weeks ago, both Fifth and South were among the also rans in the Section I race, but the cracking of the Schenley team moved the present leaders into a tie. South might have clinched the title Tuesday by beating Westinghouse, but the Silver Lakers upset Wattabaugh's team on the Market House floor, throwing the race into a deadlock.

PERRY CAN TIE

In Section II today, Perry must defeat Allegheny to get into a tie with South Hills for the lead. In the event Perry wins today, it will be necessary for the Hillsmen and North Siders to stage a play-off series to determine the championship series opponent for Fifth.

The game between South and Fifth may be termed the feature contest of the entire campaign. Fifth defending league champion, will pit the smart and clever Marty Reiter and Lou Skeegen against the clever Mervosh-Goldstein-Popow trio of South. Playing on their own floor, the Uptowners rule slight favorites.

Other contests today include the Peabody-Schenley and Ralston-Westinghouse games in Section I and the Vocational-Oliver and Carrick-Langley tussles in Section II.

All sections of the W. P. I. A. L. will see action tonight. In Section I, Tarentum offers the leading New Kensington team opposition. Avalon invades Ambridge for a game with Moe Rubenstein's hopefuls in Section II, and in division III, New Castle tackles Elwood City.

TOUGH TILTS CARDED

Aliquippa has a tough one to get by in Monaca in Section IV, with Monessen playing Monongahela in Section V. Apollo and Ford City put on a Section VI, and in Section VII, the champion Homestead team meets McKeesport.

North Braddock and Rankin have an important tussle booked for Section VIII, Johnny Reed and Jock Rosenberg tossing their fives against each other. Corapolis meets McKees Rocks in Section IX, with Latrobe and Uniontown meeting in Section X.

Wilkinsburg and Oakmont top the bill in Section XI; Belle Vernon and Dunbar in Section XII; Point Marion and N. Union in Section XIII; McDonald and Burgettstown in Section XIV, and Trinity and Waynesburg in XV.

NEW P. I. A. A. PLAN

HARRISBURG, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—A new plan for selecting contestants for the state track and field championship meet, was announced today by the board of control of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association. The date of the meet was fixed for May 24 with the place to be announced later.

The eight districts again will hold sectional meets, and then each district will select a team to represent it at the state championship. The first and second place winners in each event will be nominated for the district team, and if one or both men cannot go, their places will be filled from among the next three finishers. In the past, first and second place winners at the district meets were sent to the state games by their individual schools.

Sport Vignettes

Tomorrow (in case you don't know) is Washington's Birthday. . . . . Washington was our first big lumberman . . . For him were written the immortal lines, "Woodman, Spare That Tree" . . . . His birthday sees two minor boxing features listed to celebrate the occasion . . . . Jackie Fields, the welterweight champion, meets Young Corbett in a non-title bout at San Francisco and Kid Chocolate boxes Vic Burrone at Havana, Cuba . . . Time was when such holidays provided many big fistic attractions . . . In the heyday of California, for instance . . . On Washington's Birthday, 1908, Stanley Ketchel knocked out Mike (Twin) Sullivan in one round at Colma, Cal., to retain the middleweight championship . . . . . On the same holiday in 1912, Johnny Kilbane won the featherweight championship by defeating Abe Attel in 20 rounds at Vernon, Cal., and Frank Klaus, of Braddock, one of the middleweight champions, defeated Sailor Petrosky in 20 rounds at San Francisco, while Billy Papke, Ketchel's greatest rival, lost a 20-round decision to Frank Mantell at Sacramento, Cal. . . . According to Davis J. Walsh, New York scribe, Jack Dempsey is all peeved up at Jimmy Johnston, manager of Phil Scott, who once had a 10 per cent cut of Sharkey's fortunes . . . It seems, according to Walsh, that Jimmy is going about Miami telling everybody Sharkey is a big bum and Sharkey himself will tell you he's not as big as he looks . . . . Worst thing about the approach of spring is that it brings on the outdoor track season . . . . We haven't been bothered about indoor track meets around here for a long time . . . . Wotta break, if you ask us . . . . . One of the great players of all time in basketball went over the Great Divide when Andy Sears died down East the other day . . . . . He was a star in the old Central and Eastern Leagues . . . . . After what happened to Pitt and Tech in California, no one can say the Pirates haven't a lot of trust in mankind to return to Paso Robles for their spring training . . . . . Phil Scott will enter the Miami fight with an injured finger on his right hand . . . . . Must have got it in his haste to sign for the loser's share . . . . . Writers' cramp is something you get from sitting up all night trying to figure out what these modern novels are all about . . . . Who can remember the good old days when the baseball clubs carried only one extra pitcher, who worked in the outfield on off days, and all of the star athletes didn't have appendicitis operations? . . . . . MAROONS HERE TOMORROW

The travel-worn Pirate hockeyists today returned home from Toronto, where they concluded a record-breaking barnstorming road trip last night. The Bucs are to make their first appearance in two weeks before home ice fans at Duquesne Garden tomorrow night, when they will meet the sportly Montreal Maroons in a game that will mark the International Group pari-seller's last appearance of the season here.

In their last two meetings with the Maroons in Montreal, the locals held Nels Stewart and his heavyweight mates to 2-1 and 3-1 scores, and tomorrow's joust promises to be a rough engagement.

Only two games with Les Canadiens and the Chicago Hawks, will remain on the Pirates' home schedule after tomorrow night's game has been erased.

STEEL CITY LOOP MEETS

By TOM BIRKS.

From the result of last night's meeting of the Steel City Baseball League at Honus Wagner's there is reason to feel a number of new clubs will be operating in the best light first-class loop in the city this season. The Demor Club, backed by Anthony Demor, manager of the Dispatch Club, which went into a tie for titular honors in the first half, will be back again. The only other member of the clubs which started last spring will be the Whoopee Club under the leadership of Meeder, and this outfit, playing at Wilson Park and having a large following on the North Side, will change its name to the Conservatory Clivics.

The Herron Hill Cardinals will be missed, but the East End Cardinals, under the leadership of Prata, will fill the gap. The East Enders have been knocking at a championship door for a couple of seasons.

Seven other clubs were represented at the meeting, and it is possible the loop will be split into two sections, with the Oakland district as the dividing line. It is impossible to have much traveling in this loop as the clubs have little revenue and cannot afford it.

At the present there are three clubs in the South Hills, three clubs on the North Side, including Etna, two clubs from Oakland, two from Homewood, one being a new club, the Collier Club, the Hale Club of Turtle Creek, and the Jack Potts Club, of Homestead, so it will be possible to make two groups of this circuit.

Any manager with a team in this class, wanting to join either of the sections, should get in touch with Honus Wagner as soon as possible.

Bunts

Jack Sparrow, popular catcher from the Bay, who was with Reliance Life last season, is in the Presbyterian Hospital. Jack has been having trouble with his throwing arm and wants to get it in shape for the coming season.

The Tuxmont Baseball Club will hold a benefit show at the Harris Theater, Inc., next Friday midnight, February 28. A number of acts will feature the program, including Ed Manke, South Hills magician. Kelso is going to pull winning ball games out of the fat. Bandleaders and their friends are invited.

The McKeesport Heritage will hold their annual outing this evening. Manager Herb Hyde's banner crowd and Honus Wagner has promised to be on hand.

Followers of the Allegheny County League were treated to the greatest exhibition of gameness and endurance last night when the Fintex team defeated the J. J. Veronas at Columbus Temple in a contest that required four extra periods. The score was 37 to 35. In the other league encounter the Duquesne Lafayettes, defending champions, defeated the Elizabeth Independents at Elizabeth, 43 to 20, enabling them to deadlock the Veronas for second place.

Eddie Losman

RECORD CROWD

The Columbus Temple fray not only drew the largest basketball crowd in the history of that hall but set a record for extra periods. The two clubs battled neck-and-neck throughout the contest, the largest advantage held by one team being a four-point margin held by the Veronas early in the game. Only one substitution was made during the entire game, Tommy O'Hara replacing Jimmy Serbin in the third overtime session.

Throwing all caution to the winds and with the incentive to win or die in the attempt, the Fintex quintet surprised its followers by staging the greatest exhibition it has given in its history as a basketball unit. This quintet entered the contest the under-dog, but before the battle reached the half-way point, the Veronas knew they were in for a struggle to the finish.

Led by Sammy Klateman, Eddie Losman, Wy Paris and Harvey White, the Fintex passers kept apace the local Italians throughout and not once did they slacken their pace. The Veronas likewise played a remarkable game with Sid Twyman, Dom Demaria and Artie Hoffman taking the stellar roles.

SPEER ALL EYES

Al Speer, veteran local referee who is rated as one of the best in the game hereabouts, lived up to his reputation by handling the contest in a faultless manner. Speer saw everything and called everything and as a result kept the situation well in hand.

Desite the tenseness of play, the game was cleanly played considering the rivalry between the two clubs.

The defeat of the Veronas strengthened the Goldensons' hold on first place and adds much color to the battle next Thursday night at the South Side Market House when the Goldensons clash with the Veronas.

In the meantime, County League contenders see another menace in the Duquesne Lafayettes, who are slowly but surely reducing the gap that separates them from the top.

While the Allegheny County League teams enjoy a day of rest, the majority of the local circuits have games carded tonight. In the West Penn League, North Side Community House plays at Penn Five. Reick's meets Real Estate Savings in a C. & I. League struggle, while Trinity Cathedral is the attraction at the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House in a Central Pittsburgh League fray. St. Casimir's plays at St. Henry's and St. John's at St. Wendelin's in the two Catholic Lyceum League battles, while Westinghouse club is at Hill Top Y in the Institutional League.

PENN FIVE WINS

The Penn Five set down the Y. M. H. A. passers, 36 to 25, in the West Penn League; Y. M. H. A. tripped East Liberty Y, 23 to 19, in the Institutional circuit; Carnegie Steel beat Pressed Steel, 40 to 20, in the C. & I. loop, while Sales and Service won from Equitable Gas, 34 to 26, and Philadelphia toppled Duquesne Light, 21 to 19, in the Philadelphia Company League. The County League lineups:

Fintex 37		Veronas 35
Klateman	F	Serbin
Zippe	F	Hoffman
Losman	C	Twyman
Paris	G	Miller
White	G	Demaria

Substitute—O'Hara. Field goals—Zippe 2, Losman 3, Paris, White 3, Hoffman 3, Twyman, Miller, Demaria 3. Fouls—Fintex, 19 out of 30; Veronas, 19 out of 31. Referee, Speer.

Substitutes—A. Reid, Goldstrohm, Ed Ramsay, J. Minnick, Cieszenski. Field goals—J. Minnick 4, Whitehead 3, Ramsay 4, Wunderlich 2, J. Minnick, Cieszenski 3, Lauder 2, Leonard 2, Coles. Fouls—Lafayettes, 5 out of 11; Elizabeth, 10 out of 14. Referee—Mackey.

SHARKEY SET TO 'TAKE' SCOTT

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21.—Mr. Jack Sharkey, brown as a berry and apparently in fine physical condition, sat at the wheel of his parked automobile here yesterday and indulged in a little reportorial repartee. He had just gone through a workout at the dog track in preparation for his bout next Thursday night with Phil Scott, the English champion, and he was in a relaxed and thoughtful mood.

"Well, are you going to take this bird?" he was asked.

"Sure thing," he replied.

"How are you going to fight him—go in there and slug, or are you going to box him?"

The baleful look in Sharkey's small, narrow eyes which show two slits of white became more baleful. He seemed to regard the question as impertinent.

"I can't tell what I'll do until I get in there," he said. "If he puts his hands up in a certain way I'll knock him dead in a punch."

"How much do you weigh, Jack?"

"Two hundred pounds, socking wet."

He meant when he emerged from the shower.

"Well, then, you're overweight?"

"I certainly am not. I weighed 196 when I went in against Tommy Loughran and you know what I did to him."

NOT WORRIED, JACK SAYS

"They say you are worried about this fight, that you've been very irritable of late."

"That's a lot of hooey for you paper guys."

"They say in Scott's camp that if Scott is on his feet in the fifth round your goose is cooked, and that he'll box you into submission."

Sharkey's lips curled. He seemed sorry for the reporter's lack of fistic intelligence.

"Say," he replied, "ever since I have been fighting I've been hearing a line of stuff just like this. Always one of you guys come around and tell me how good the other fellow is and what he is going to do to me. The other fellow always has a good straight left. Now I'm supposed to go in there and stick my face in that left. I'm just supposed to be a sucker."

Without further ado, Mr. Sherkey stepped on the gas and soon was whirling up the street.

JOHNSTON OPTIMISTIC

His car had hardly disappeared and from out of nowhere, Jimmy Johnston, the gabby American manager of Scott, appeared.

"Oh, that was Sharkey, eh?" said Johnston. "Worried, isn't he? I got it straight, he's been telling his wife and his manager, Johnny Buckley, that he doesn't know why he should be worried, but he is worried.

"You know the old psychology is working in Phil's favor. Everybody down here in the South wants to see Sharkey licked and he knows it. England wants to see him licked, too. Its just like when Lindbergh hopped off. Everybody's thoughts and good wishes were with Lindbergh and he got there. It will be the same way with Phil.

"Why, every time I meet Scott now I say: 'How's the champ today?' He answers right up. Shows he feels he's going to be the champ. It's the old psychology. That's what's going to whip Sharkey, the old psychology."

Bourbon King, Champion Show Horse, Dies

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Bourbon King, world champion five-gaited show horse and sire of show horses, died yesterday at the farm of A. G. Jones & Sons, North Middletown, from the infirmities of age. The noted stallion was 30 years old.

Experienced horsemen often called Bourbon King the greatest show horse of all time. As a 3-year-old in 1903 he vanquished such stars as Rex Peavine, Carolina and others. During the three years he was shown he never met defeat.

He was bred by R. B. Young at Mt. Sterling who sold him as a weanling to Allie Jones, in whose ownership he remained until his death. Bourbon King was sired by the champion, Bourbon Chief, by Harrison Chief and was out of Annie C., by Harrison Chief.

SOCIETY VIEWS PHIL SCOTT IN ACTION

PALM BEACH, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Society in the ultra-exclusive Oasis Club of Palm Beach took to the ballyhoo for the Scott-Sharkey fight in a very big way yesterday.

The folks of wealth and fashion, smartly-gowned society women and bankers, magnates and politicians, sat in the adbored recesses of the club's patio while Phil Scott, the British heavyweight champion, and Tommy Loughran, the former American light heavyweight titleholder, contributed their part to an elaborate fistic program in a ring pitched beneath a grove of royal palms.

It was quite the swankiest affair that professional pugilism has had anything to do with in many a moon; the first time that the boys who have their records in the boxing guide, have enjoyed the sensation of doing their stuff for the exclusive benefit of the people whose names fill the social register. Invitation to the "boxing tea"—for the cups clinked with the glasses—was by invitation only.

400 GUESTS

There were more than 400 guests for the occasion, exclusive of the curious, who climbed the palm trees to view the proceedings from the outside.

Loughran, the Philadelphia Adonis, who has been taken up by the social set in his training for a part in the fight show at Miami, February 27, started the activities with a brisk sparring session, but the ceremony was made of Scott's part in the program.

Pale and lanky Phil was introduced with a flourish as a "great champion," by Sir Oliver Duncan, British oil man, in a workout of seven rounds against four sparring partners, including Jack De Mave, Jack Renault, Billy Middlekauff and Charley Hahn, the Britisher was scanned with expert eyes by the society folk who have made boxing one of their favorite hobbies during the winter season.

BASKOB PRESENT

At the ringside, for instance, was Edward F. Hutton, the New York broker, who maintains a "stable" of boxers in Palm Beach on a philanthropy basis; James H. R. Cromwell, who boxes regularly and will take on Tommy Loughran in an exhibition tomorrow; John J. Raskob and Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City; Mrs. Irving Hall and Miss Marjorie Oelrichs; Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, of New York, and Father Francis P. Duffy, Mrs. Jules Mastbaum and Mrs. Charles A. Amory.

Scott was cordially received by this critical gathering, possibly because the folks felt this was the chance to do something in a social way for the Briton and for their friends on the directorate of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, led by big Bill Carey, Frank J. Bruen, Matt Z. Rush, James J. Bush, Walter Chrysler and others who mix boxing with society and business.

BOB JONES' 67 SETS PACE

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Blazing a par-shattering trail in his first tournament play of the year, Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, National open champion, shot a 67 here yesterday to lead the field of 90 starters at the end of the first round of the 72-hole $3,000 open golf tournament. Jones' mark was seven under standard figures.

A single stroke behind the leader were Emmett French, of Southern Pines, N. C., and Jeff Adams, Scotch professional at the local club.

Cards of 69 placed Bobby Cruickshank, of Purchase, N. Y.; Clem Weichman, of Portsmouth, O., and Fairley Clark, Savannah professional, in a tie for fourth place.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn, of Pensacola, Fla., who scored an ace on the third hole of the outward journey, finished the round in seventh place with a 70.

PICKARD WINS, SIMPSON IS BEATEN

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—The defeat of George Simpson, of Ohio State, and another flashing triumph for Stella Walsh, spectacular Cleveland miss, furnished the high spots of the Canadian indoor track and field championships here last night.

Simpson, after winning his preliminary and semi-final heats in the 60-meter sprint, bowed to the flashing speed of Leigh Miller, of Toronto, recent conqueror of Jack Elder, in the final. Johnny Fitzpatrick, who finished second to Miller when the latter beat Elder was third.

Miss Walsh came through a preliminary heat and the final of the 60-meter sprint with flying colors, beating the famous Canadian star, Myrtle Cook, of Montreal, in the final in 7 5-10 seconds. Florence Bell, of Toronto was third.

Phil Edwards, New York University Negro, now competing for the Hamilton Olympic Club, won the 60 yards run; the high jump went to Harold Osborn, of the Illinois A. C.; the pole vault to Vic Pickard, University of Pittsburgh athlete, and the 1,000 meters event to Dr. Paul Martin, of Switzerland. Pickard's mark was 12 feet 6 inches.

Jimmy Ball, of Winnipeg, member of the last Canadian Olympic team, won the 300 meter race in 36 4-5 seconds. The 3,000 meters championship went to Arthur Keay, of Toronto. The time was 9 06 2-5.

Phil Edwards, star Negro runner from New York University, and representing the Hamilton Olympic Club, won the 600 yards event in 1:24 2-5.

GROVE CITY PLAYS DUKES HERE TONIGHT

TARTANS MEET C. C. N. Y. IN NEW YORK

Probable Lineup

Duquesne.		Grove City.
Lubic	F	Fegley
Benedict (C)	F	McCann
Vernon McGrevey	C	Hilderbrand
Stephens	G	Stavinsky
Parry	G	Ryan

Officials—Referee, Cal Buhler; umpire, Beggs Snyder.

By JESS CARVER.

Bob Thorn's fightin'est basketball team, his 1930 model Grove City team, a team with the old heart that enables it to overcome seemingly impossible handicaps and win important ball games, will show in Pittsburgh tonight, meeting the Dukes on the Bluff gym court at 8 p. m.

The meeting between the Dukes and the Grovers, marking the second appearance of the Crimson in Pittsburgh this season, heads the night's cage card in the tri-state district. In its first trip here, Grove City lost to Pitt.

For all the Dukes have been traveling at a great winning clip, bowling over Geneva, West Virginia, American University and Waynesburg in a row, they are in for a tough evening with Grove City. The Crimson was trailing an "on" Geneva team at New Brighton Wednesday night by 19 to 7 at half time, but came back to out game and out play the Covenanters and win with a point to spare.

Chaps of the class of Fegley, Stavnisky, Burke, Rankin and the incomparable Ryan will make it far from rosy for the Dukes tonight.

WATCH CUBBON

The appearance here tomorrow of West Virginia recalls the coming of Francis X. Stadsvold and his Mountaineer warriors a year back. The gentlemanly Francis X. brought a very much primed ball club to the Stadium to put the Panthers on the old skids last winter. Francis X. had Pitt in a hot spot, the latter refusing to take West Virginia seriously, thinking of nothing but the Army game listed for the following week. They beat the Army o.k. but West Virginia beat them.

It may be that young Eddie Cubbon, who has been cutting no small figure in the play of the Mountaineers to date, will be the big shot of tomorrow's game, stealing the show from Charley Hyatt and Little Sleepy Glenn.

TECH IN NEW YORK

Carnegie Tech resumes operations along the eastern front tonight, meeting City College of New York in Gotham. The Tar-lans were defeated by the Army their first start Wednesday.

In the Tri-State Conference, Thiel plays Bethany at Bethany tonight. Wash-Jeff begins a week-end trip by meeting Allegheny at Meadville, which promises the Methodists a rough evening. West Virginia Wesleyan meets Marietta at Marietta to complete the card.

The Tipoff

Ken Loeffler thought he was going to get away with a fast one on Bob Thorn Wednesday. After his starting lineup had piled up a big lead, Coach Ken inserted a second lineup, and he let it finish the half and start the second period.

His hopes of a rout sided with over the Crimson were halted when Thorn's team came back with a bang, dropping in five field goals before Geneva could count again, and then even when the first lineup was returned, went on to outfight and outscore 'em and cop the decision.

Little Joe Fegley, Grove City's diminutive forward star, took a whale of a beating every minute of the game, but stuck in there through it all and aided materially in winning the game. He was on the floor time after time after having outmanaged for the ball with bigger Covenanters.

Coach Hinderbrand's varsity swimming team of Carnegie Tech trades natatoria with the Franklin and Marshall tankmen this afternoon. The F. & M. squad met Wash-Jeff last night.

Giants Take It Easy, Thanks To White Sox

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 21.—(AP.)—Members of the New York Giants owe a vote of thanks to the Chicago White Sox. Because of the poor condition of the field they originally planned to use, the Sox have been using the Texas League Park, spring home of the Giants, in the afternoons while the Giants cavort about it in the morning. Had not the Sox found their own field in bad shape, the Giants would have been going through both morning and afternoon workouts.

Sam Leslie's powerful hitting was the feature of the Giants' long morning session yesterday. Sam's a first baseman by trade but may be converted into an outfielder.

MICKEY HANDED NEAT LACING IN TUBE CITY

Mickey Scullen, New Castle welterweight, had a fairly last night when Pal... Mickey... a neat lacing... Moretti shifting... City Auditorium fight that kept the... fans at a high pitch... opening gong... the tenth session.

Solmen went... ninth round... eight and a... count of... meets in Mickey... Moretti in the tenth stanza. In every other round except the second and fifth Moretti had things as he liked them. Dancing around with his left flicking right jolted Mickey's seasoned... worried... the battler... the early... start of the New Castle boy's attack. In the last round slowed up the New Castle lad considerably.

SOLMEN TAKES COUNT

Rights and lefts found their way to Mickey's features with terrific force and by the time the ninth round was started his face was a bloody mess. Moretti continued his assault and at each... during the fifth stanza floored Solmen for the first time by connecting a hard... followed by another right and left to the body. Mickey dropped to the canvas and took a count of eight. Arising he ran into a volley of rights and lefts to the body and assault was dropped. The bell ringing as Referee Red Roddick reached the count of four.

Mickey showed his best form in the second and fifth... rounds credited to him. In both sessions he had Moretti worried as he crossed his hard right to the jaw, but Gene never seemed to falter, coming back more in the following rounds to more than even the score. The fight was a decidedly clean one all the way with Solmen doing most of the leading only to find Moretti as clever a counter-fighter as ever stepped into the Tube City ring. Solmen weighed 153½, while Moretti scaled 150.

DEVORE VICTOR

Harry Devore, Barky Huntington, W. Va. fighter, after losing a fast first round came back nicely to hand Danny Russell, of Braddock, lately of Baltimore a trimming in the six-round semi-final. Devore injured his left hand in the first round and this proved a handicap to him during the remainder of the fight, although he managed to pile up enough points with his right. Russell was the more aggressive but his blows were easily warded off by Devore, and when they did land proved ineffective. Russell came in at 150¼, while Devore weighed 150½.

Joe Corelli, of Erie, and Young Martin, of Youngstown, paced through six hard-fought rounds in the second bout with Corelli getting Referee Robinson's decision, after Frank Ferris, one of the judges, called it a draw, and Jock Simco, on the other side of the ring, voted for Martin. Corelli weighed 151, just five pounds more than Martin.

POSITO STOPPED

Louie Posito, of Pittsburgh, was knocked out after two minutes of fighting in the second round of the opening bout. Casey Hayes, Homestead Negro slugger, administering the kayo potion. Posito was floored for a count of eight just before a hard right to the stomach put him down for the final count. Hayes weighed 150, while Posito scaled 142¾.

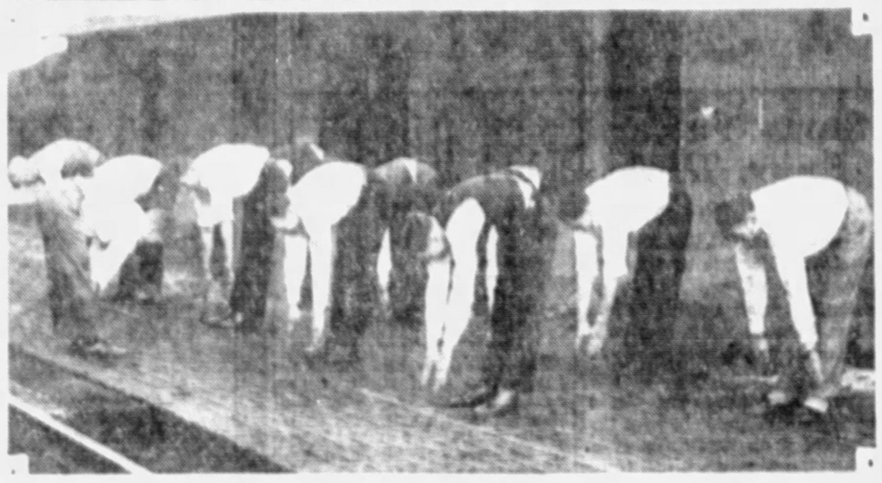
Brown Is Retained As A. A. Umpire

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—(AP)—President Thomas J. Hickey, of the American Association, yesterday completed his staff of umpires for the 1930 season by engaging two new arbiters, W. P. Clayton and Clayton Bailey.

Clayton, whose home is in Texarkana, Tex., is a former Western Leaguer. Bailey is from Columbus, O.

Six members of the 1929 staff were retained. They are P. H. Connolly, Frank Brown, George H. Johnson, C. E. Johnston, George Rue and R. W. Snyder.

PIRATES LIMBER UP ON WAY WEST



MANAGER ENS LEADS SETTING UP EXERCISES

The advance squad of the Pirates has managed to break the monotony of the long jaunt from Pittsburgh to the training camp at Paso Robles, Cal., by going through a series of calisthenics at every opportunity. Above Manager Jewels Ens is seen leading the athletes through a drill at one of the western stopover towns. The squad reaches the camp site tomorrow.

MALCO READY FOR SAYLOR

Malco fought a draw with Hamilton at the Coliseum in the only show held there.

With the answer to the hue and cry about another meeting with Saylor off his chest, Malco is ready to plunge in and go after a record for himself, beginning with tonight's battle with Walcott, who has been going well against Young Rudy Hans Roberts and others recently. He wants to carve out a decisive victory to make a second Saylor bout stand up as a real attraction.

Jack Wilson, of Jersey City, who knocked out Georgie Chambers, of the East End, in making his local debut a few weeks ago at the Moose Temple, meets Chuck Zelnack, of Glassport, in the semi-final tonight. In the second bout Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, boxes Andy Andrusek, of the East End, while Mike Hogan, of the North Side, and Peaches Gallagher, of Swissvale, answer the going for the opener.

AMATEURS BOX

Another local attraction tonight is the intercity amateur show at the Keystone A. C. between teams representing Pittsburgh and Buffalo. Seven bouts are listed, as follows:

112-pound class, Joe Mure, Buffalo, vs. Jack McGann, 118 pounds, Vic Stack, Buffalo, vs. Mose Butch, 126 pounds, John Bill Smith and Leonard McLean, Buffalo, vs. Mose Butch, 126 pounds, John Capuson, Buffalo vs. George Julius, 136 pounds, Lester Yockum, Buffalo, vs. Bob McCormick, 147 pounds, Charles Harling, Buffalo, vs. Chuck Mullins, and, 160 pounds, Charles Young, Buffalo, vs. Al Becker. Bill Simendinger will referee.

Dan Bonch, of Duquesne, is back home from Allentown, Pa., where he lost the decision to Ike Hart in a hard-fought eight-round return bout last Tuesday night.

Mickey Scullen, of New Castle, hooks with Tommy, of Washington, all-Service middleweight champion, in the main bout of a show at Cumberland, Md., next Thursday night.

Maxie Rush, of Erie, and Battling Nelson, of New York, provide the 10-round main bout at the Erie next Monday night. Red Jaderberg and Jack Davis are in the semi-final, while Ike Bonomo and Freddie Wade meet. Tony Brown is one of the preliminaries.

Eddie Brannon, of the E. and Johnny Baron, of Buffalo, have been matched to box the main bout at McKeesport next Thursday night.

Gene Moretti, of Atlantic City, winner over Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, at McKeesport last night, surely will be matched to box Young Saylor, of Charleston, in Pittsburgh, at the Motor Square Garden, it was learned this afternoon. The match was in the making this afternoon.

ENS SHOWS INITIATIVE

breaking for him, he would sally up to the plate and knock some of the best pitchers in the game loose from their moorings. In 1925, Pooch rose to dizzy heights. His bat drove in something like 120 runs in 130 odd games. His fielding was fine and he did not let his thunder at the plate cease until the World Series victory was in possession of Pittsburgh.

Just about this time, the Pirates purchased Paul Waner for a princely sum. There was hardly anything to do, but to play Brother Paul, so when the team reached Paso Robles the next spring, the self-effacing Barnhart was handed a Yanigan uniform. More than one of the players took exception to the procedure in view of what Pooch had accomplished.

"That's a fine deal they give Barney," complained one of the Bucco. "They hand him a Yanigan suit every spring and he hits himself right into a regular jacket before the bell rings."

PIE SHOWS NERVE

Heinie Meine brings along a thrilling tale of Pie Traynor. Pie went from his lair in the Wisconsin woods to St. Louis to visit and hunt with the pitcher of the musical name. On a bird-hunting expedition Traynor brought down a pair of specimens on one shot, but the birds fell on the opposite side of a creek that had no bathing charms since winter was upon the scene.

Meine said there was nothing to do, but to leave the birds where they were, but Traynor dirobed and swam across the chilled waters to come back with the game.

Three players will form the advance guard, Pitchers Foster Edwards and Freddie Heimach and Catcher Bill Karlon. They should arrive in St. Petersburg Sunday at about the same time that 22 other Yankees make their way to the same spot by other routes.

Illinois University Elects Chase Head

URBANA, Ill., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, for 10 years president of the University of North Carolina, has been elected president of the University of Illinois.

The choice was made at a long session of the school's trustees who considered a report on various candidates for the post returned by a committee headed by George A. Barr, of Joliet.

Charley White 7-5 Favorite to Win

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—(INS)—Despite his long layoff from the ring, Charley White, veteran local lightweight, ruled a favorite to whip Henry Perlick when they meet tonight in the feature event of Jack Dempsey's Coliseum boxing show.

White, after six years' retirement, has decided to show the present crop of lightweights how the game should be fought.

The veteran is a 7-to-5 favorite to win the six-round bout.

CURTIN TRADED

yards for the score. He was a member of the traveling squad and competed in a number of games.

SCHULTZ is employed part time to aid in paying his expenses through school, but despite the fact that he works and also plays football he has managed to earn 71 credits or hours of A, seven credits of B and four credits of C in his liberal arts course at Pitt. The best mark given is A and it represents unusually fine work. The normal load is 16 hours per semester.

Schultz has established very nearly a perfect record, has worked to assist in paying his way, and has played football as well, never missing a practice. That's a record worthy of recognition.

George Glasco

THAT Max Rosenblum, owner of the world champion Cleveland basketball team, is building for the future, is indicated by his action in letting Johnny Beckman go to Ft. Wayne and acquiring the younger George Glasco to take his place. Pete Barry and Dutch Dehnert, though veterans in a sense, still have years of service ahead of them, so that Rosenblum's present combination, which will be seen in a regularly scheduled American League game with Paterson on the Duquesne University floor here on March 13, promises to prove a lasting one. Other American League clubs wanted Glasco, but when they learned the size of the salary called for by his contract with Ft. Wayne they passed him up, whereupon Rosenblum, who had pretended he was not seeking the player, stepped in and obtained him. Glasco is very fast, a quick thinker and one of the best point-getters in the big league. He is a native of Trenton, N. J., and a protege of the once famous Harry Hough, and in action he is said to handle himself much like the Tamaqua and South Side star of other days.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The bond market gave another dull exhibition today. Liberties and treasury certificates again sold higher and a few high-grade rails drew sufficient support to hold them at about the level of Thursday's close, but for the most part the list was stagnant.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Transactions on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows. Sales in dollars, United States bonds in dollars and thirty seconds of dollars.

BULLS, BEARS BATTLE FOR CONTROL

Market Backs and Fills As Contenders Strive To Obtain Advantage

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP.)—Bulls and bears staged another tug of war with prices on the New York Stock Exchange today, with the former apparently gaining a slight advantage. The market opened irregularly higher, ran into a flurry of selling which wiped out many of the initial gains before the end of the first hour, turned briskly around mid-day and then backed and filled during the afternoon.

Trading showed a marked falling off as brokers were disinclined to make aggressive additions to their commitments over the week-end. Strength of some of the high grade utilities was based on confirmed reports that a group with important banking connections were heavy buyers on yesterday's reaction, one of the most drastic of the year.

NEWS NOT BEARISH

Except for a further drastic decline in the commodity price index, largely to the lowest point in grain prices, there were few unfavorable developments in today's news. A few minor reductions were announced overnight and favorable dividend action taken by a few small corporations.

Call money reheard at 4 per cent, and was in such plentiful supply that the rate was dropped to 3½ per cent in the outside market. The time money market was quiet with rates unchanged.

National Lead directors declared an extra dividend of $3 yesterday, fell up nearly 9 points before the rally was checked by profit-taking. U. S. Rise, Brooklyn Union Gas, Eastman Kodak and Auburn Auto sold points higher at one time. Pullard Company and Devoe & Raynolds moved into new high ground for the year.

OTIS BREAKS

Otis Elevator which closed at high as 33⅜, early this week broke 10 points to 315. Safeway Stores and Simmons Company were again heavily sold with some of the liquidation attributed to "bear" operators now vacationing in Florida. American Tobacco issues also fell back on realizing.

Fresh selling came into some of the railroad shares as a result of the disappointing character of some of the recent earnings and traffic reports. St. Louis Southwestern was hammered down nearly 5 points before it met effective buying support and Pere Marquette and Union Pacific sold 3 points below yesterday's final quotations.

Federal Reserve Ratio at 78.5%

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Federal Reserve system ratio for this week stands at 78.5 per cent against 77.7 per cent a week ago and 70.8 per cent a year ago. New York Federal Reserve Bank ratio for the week is 75.1 per cent compared with 76.1 per cent last week and 83.1 per cent a year ago.

The consolidated statement of condition of the Federal Reserve banks on February 19 made public by the Federal Reserve Board shows a decrease for the week of $5,000,000 in holdings of discounted bills and an increase of $3,000,000 in holdings of bills bought in the open market and of $2,100,000 in government securities.

There was no change in amount of gold earmarked for foreign accounts.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP.)—The curb market turned dull and irregular today with leading issues inclined to tally. Bullish sentiment appeared to have suffered a blow from yesterday's reaction but bears were not attempting to extend their short commitments to carry over the Saturday holiday and Sunday. Price changes were narrow, mostly limited to a point or less.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded in (00 omitted in sales column of stock list, 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

B. & O. ACCEPTS MERGER PLAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP.)—The New York Times today says the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is prepared to accept the Interstate Commerce Commission's consolidation plan. This is the first complete acquiescence of a railroad to the proposal, made late last December.

The Baltimore & Ohio is prepared to submit a new merger petition to the commission, in conformity with the commission's plan, and to give complete financial details in the petition at the same time withdrawing its old petition.

The B. & O.'s new petition, according to the newspaper, will omit from its merger plans the Wabash and the Ann Arbor, two lines that were named in the petition it filed a year ago. In the new petition, the B. & O. will name only roads the commission has allocated to it, with the possible exception of the Western Maryland.

The B. & O. management is still undecided how the Western Maryland will be treated in the new petition. The B. & O., which controls the Western Maryland, asked for it in the merger plan filed a year ago, but recently was ordered by the commission, under the Clayton anti-trust act, to give up control.

Labor Banking Hasn't Fulfilled Rosiest Hopes

By B. C. FORBES

ORGANIZED labor had visions of dotting the continent with labor banks and becoming a towering power in finance. But labor has discovered by painful experience that banking isn't child's play.

Bluntly, labor banks have dwindled from 36 in June, 1926, to 22 in June last year, and the disintegration has continued since.

CLEVELAND, the hatching ground of the banking movement by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, reports that the Engineers' National Bank is being taken over by another (non-labor) banking institution. This deal, says a newspaper dispatch, "heightens reports that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is relinquishing its active banking connections."

The Cleveland Labor Bank was founded in 1920 and two years later had $17,000,000 deposits. For a time, the organizing of labor banks flourished. In 1925 the writer said in this column:

"So far labor banks have escaped the price usually paid by beginners. It is one thing to launch a ship and sail it on a smooth sea and another thing to keep the ship safe and afloat when terrible storms arise. Most of America's labor banks are being conducted conservatively but it will be a tremendous misfortune if all labor banks do not get on the right track and forge ahead to success."

That was written because rumblings were heard even thus early of poor management which threatened to lead to disaster. The suggestion was then made that officers of other labor banks visit the Federation Bank of New York and study its management.

IN 1927 this column said:

"Labor has just received its most striking lesson that it takes brains to carry on business successfully. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers set out several years ago to demonstrate its ability to compete with 'capitalists' in conducting various enterprises. It launched bank after bank; it entered the real estate field on an ambitious scale; Warren S. Stone, then its president, took over coal mining properties; a Florida development of magnitude—and unusual beauty—was undertaken and has been energetically pushed forward; trust company functions were entered upon, and in other directions this labor union turned employer."

It came to the front at the brotherhood's convention that year that all was not well and that drastic housecleaning had become necessary.

THE first labor bank in the United States was organized in May, 1920, in Washington, D. C., and in the following month reported total resources of $900,000. By June, 1926, labor bank figures reached their maximum. The 36 labor banks then had aggregate capital funds slightly exceeding $13,000,000, deposits of $109,000,000, and total resources exceeding $126,000,000.

Instead of continued growth, in line with the nation's banks as a whole, retrogression set in. By June of last year the number of banks had decreased 14, capital funds had fallen below $10,500,000, deposits to $92,000,000 and total resources to below $109,000,000. Were up-to-date figures available, they doubtless would show further shrinkage.

A WELL-KNOWN writer and dramatist who launched a theatrical enterprise which has gone into bankruptcy confessed that he had discovered that "business is an art." It has been customary for all sorts and conditions of highbrows and theorists to belittle business and finance, and to pooh-pooh the idea that brains are necessary for achieving success in these fields. Labor unions sometimes have talked in similar vein. Probably President Stone of the locomotive engineers had the view that it would be quite easy to attain success in banking, in business, in real estate, in mining—in any line he and his labor colleagues cared to enter.

Commenting on labor banking three years ago, the writer opined:

"Gaining experience in any line usually proves rather costly."

The decline in labor banking proves the soundness of that truism.

EXPLAINING why so many labor banks have gone out of business, a banker who has followed the movement, says:

"Labor banks frequently refused to join clearing house associations and abide by the strict banking standards they maintained. The ranks of labor did not rise to support these banks, as customers, as extensively as anticipated. Loan activities, shaped partly by motives of favoring labor, led to profitless business and in some cases bank failures. Trade union politics sometimes proved harmful. Lack of a seasoned experience as bankers by those placed in charge was another handicapping factor.

"Also, relations between employers and workers have greatly changed for the better in the last 10 years so that 'labor capitalism' has become less of an objective."

THERE are several conspicuously successful labor banks still in operation.

But apparently banking is going to continue to be done by bankers, not by non-bankers.

TRUST POLICY ON STOCKS CHANGES

New Popularity of Shares As Long Term Investment Alters Ideas on Estates

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The new popularity of common stocks as media for long term investments, which grew in geometric proportions until the debacle in Wall street last autumn, has even changed the policies of corporate trustees, whose business it is to conserve the estate of others.

Since the stock market rally, there has been a revival of doctrinaire espousal of the desirability of common stocks as vehicles for long term investment. At the eleventh mid-winter trust conference of the American Bankers Association, which closed its sessions here yesterday, there was a vivid clash of opinion between the representatives of two schools of thought on the common stock issues.

The ideas expressed should prove stimulating to individual investors who are seeking to make up their own mind on the question of the relative desirability of stocks versus bonds in investment portfolios. Incidentally, even the most outspoken advocates of common stocks for the portfolios of estates concede the desirability of a balanced investment diet. Some old-fashioned trust officers indicate that they do not buy any common stocks on their own initiative for estates trusted to their care, whereas others, reporting their own experience, indicate that from 10 to 60 per cent of estate funds may be astutely invested in high grade common stocks.

FLUCTUATES WITH MARKET

In discussing the suitability of common stocks for trust investments, H. F. Wilson, vice president, Bankers Trust Company, New York, said that the answer fluctuates with market conditions. He indicated that before the panic the bank advised co-trustees to reduce common stock holdings, and after the debacle suggested that stocks be repurchased.

"Our thought (in mid-November)," he said, was to invest at about the prices then prevailing, say 10 per cent of each trust, in carefully selected high-grade stocks, in cases where it seemed appropriate, and we were also willing to place orders below the market for another 10 per cent. Because of the wide fluctuation in the prices of many stocks, greater care is naturally required in their selection and review and in the prices paid or realized than is the case with bonds."

Joel H. Prescott, executive vice president, Union Trust Company, Detroit, said:

"When common stocks come into us as part of an estate, we weed out the weaker ones as soon as feasible and retain only the stronger ones. In large estates, we increase common stock holdings by exercising rights to subscribe to additional stock. This practice has been especially profitable when applied to local bank stocks, the value of which in some estates has increased tenfold. Even where wills give us the broadest discretionary power, we would not make initial investments in common stocks; we invest only in stocks with a long dividend record and a long record of successful operations.

"We have sold bank stocks in a number of instances recently on account of the low yield afforded, but only in cases where the beneficiaries were in need of the largest practicable income return."

INCREASE BOND HOLDINGS

Harold Eckhart, secretary Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, indicated that it is the policy of his bank where common stocks are received in estates to hold them until it seems to the best interests of the particular estate to dispose of them in whole or in part. The decision depends on the character of the shares, the size of the estate, and the needs of the beneficiary. If the stock is speculative, Mr. Eckhart indicated that the bank disposes of it as soon as practicable. Moreover, if the estate is small, the bank disposes of all or part of the common stock on the theory that the fund is too small to be sufficiently diversified to absorb losses. If the estate is large and is invested mainly in stocks when received, the bank reduces the proportion of stock holdings, increasing bond commitments. Mr. Eckhart added that the bank does not purchase stocks for estates of $200,000 or less, but does so for estates running half a million dollars or more.

Numerous other bankers indicated that they thought common stocks were unsuited to the requirements of estates. Ronald Ransom, vice-president of the Fulton National Bank, of Atlanta, said that his institution, acting as executor and trustee, objected to common stocks because of the lack of any standard for measuring their intrinsic value and on account of their price instability.

F. N. Bancroft, Colorado National Bank, Denver, indicated that the Colorado statute discouraged trustee investments in common stocks. Hence this bank disposes of common stocks in estates unless there are specific instructions in wills to retain them. In living trusts, he pointed out, the bank does not act on permissive authority to buy common stocks, only doing so if such instructions are made mandatory.

Public Building Shows Gain for Month

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

TWO distinct trends in the construction business are apparent in recently published figures for January. Public works and public utility construction have carried out predictions and have shown an impressive degree of expansion. On the other hand, residential building has fallen into the worst depression since the war in spite of the general belief that improved credit conditions would act as a stimulant to both types of work.

A large amount of work in the former class had been deferred pending the establishment of more satisfactory conditions in the money market. Contracts for this work are now being placed in large volume.

While tight money was blamed for the lull in residential construction last year it now seems quite certain that the market was sufficiently supplied with new houses and apartment buildings. At any rate, more than easy money seems necessary to revive residential building. In this city an exceptionally large number of houses built within the past three years are now on the market which indicates that the general business depression has had a distinctly adverse influence on the public's ability to improve its living conditions.

Public Building Gains

CONTRACTS awarded in 37 states during January for public works and public utility construction amounted to $112,065,200, an increase of 116 per cent over December. A new January record for the past six years was also established.

According to the records of the F. W. Dodge Corporation of New York, construction contracts for public works and utilities in January, 1929, were valued at $66,522,000 against $72,039,000 for January, 1928, $58,955,000 for January, 1927; $52,922,000 for January, 1926, and $37,669,000 for January, 1925.

In the field of private construction "commercial buildings" registered an increase of about 62 per cent in January over December, the figures being $33,392,100 for December and $54,052,300 for January.

Residences Show Decline

IN the face of these impressive gains the general rate of all classes of building showed a sharp decline. The total contracts for January of $323,975,200 gained over December's total of $316,368,100, but were far below January, 1929, when contracts amounted to $409,967,900.

The outlook for building in Pennsylvania during the next few months is far from encouraging, judging from reports of building permits from 43 of the principal cities and boroughs. Out of these communities 27 showed declines and of the 16 increases only three represented gains of any consequence.

Pennsylvania Building Small

THE records of the State Department of Labor and Industry show that permits for building work to cost only $4,874,024 were issued during January, 1930, as compared with permits for work to cost $21,645,470 issued during January last year, a decrease of $16,771,446, or 77.5 per cent.

This is the largest decline in building recorded during the five years that this department has been securing comparative records of building permits issued in the various cities and boroughs of the state.

Classification of the January permits according to the classes of buildings to be erected shows a continuation of the low level of residential building construction, particularly of one-family dwellings. Permits for 117 one-family dwellings costing $704,900 were issued during January, 1930, as compared with permits for 480 one-family dwellings costing $2,125,674 issued during January, 1929, a 75 per cent reduction in the number of dwellings and a 68 per cent reduction in total costs.

Jersey Standard Cuts Gasoline Price

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Standard Oil of New Jersey reduces tank car price of gasoline ¼ cent a gallon to 8½ cents on eastern seaboard.

Continental Sugar Receiver Appointed

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Thomas G. Gallagher, vice president and general manager, has been appointed receiver for Continental Sugar Company.

WIRE PRODUCTS IN DEMAND

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 21.—February sales of wire and wire products by the leading district producer will show a gain not only over January, this year, but over February, 1929. New orders are coming in fast and in most cases quick shipments are desired. Moderate weather in the Mid-West the past week has stimulated spring demands somewhat ahead of time. The price situation in wire products is not as satisfactory as it might be, because of concessions by makers, anxious to keep their plants running as close to physical capacity as possible. Price disturbances, therefore, are likely to affect net operating profits in such departments.

Moderating tendencies are creeping into current buying of steel by automobile companies, but it is believed any lull that may develop will be followed by renewed buying on a larger scale. There is as yet no danger to the maintenance of current active operations, although producers of sheets and strips have been advancing production in keeping with orders. Some backlogs have been built up, but these would soon be wiped out with any buying recession.

In rolled steel, pipe still lags and while this market has maintained the gains made in January, there has been no appreciable increase in volume of tonnage this month over January.

Heavy melting scrap is firm, with a sale reported during the week at $17.25, and the market is regarded as quotable from $17 to $17.50.

The forward steps taken by the industry have met with some resistance this week, but steel producers are inclined to believe that any moderation is of a temporary nature.

OIL PRODUCTION SHOWS GAIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Final figures are expected to show a production of 1,006,000,000 barrels of crude oil for 1929, Department of Commerce announced. This represents a new record for total production and is 104,500,000 barrels, or 12 per cent, above the 1928 output.

According to preliminary data, the world's production of crude petroleum in 1929 amounted to 1,488,604,000 barrels, an increase of 12 per cent over 1928. Of this total the United States produced 67.6 per cent against 68 per cent in 1928 and 71.4 per cent in 1927. Production in United States increased more or less steadily up to August, the peak month, but decreased steadily during the last four months of the year. Demand, however, increased during latter part of year and stocks accumulated in all months.

DAILY TRUE STORY

That Dimple

OLLIE NORTON came across the unfenced lawns that separated our suburban homes.

We had just finished luncheon and Will, my husband, was getting ready to drive back to his office. He saw Ollie approaching.

"Now for an afternoon gabfest," he whispered as he kissed me.

"Oh, dear, and I have so many little things to do," I said. But we greeted Ollie cheerfully because we both were fond of her.

After Will had driven away and Ollie came up on the sun porch with me, I saw she was still worried and guessed that it was about Gertie, her younger sister.

Ollie had been one of my few girl chums. She, May Ashton and myself had been called the "Unholy Trio" in school—a girls' school—where we had been responsible for half of the devilry and blamed for all of it.

"I've got an idea, Jennie," she said as we settled back in the wide porch chairs.

"It's probably about Gertie and Gerard," I answered.

"Of course—you know I'm worried sick about Gertie, the way she raves about that worthless Gerard Doolittle—my goodness, his very name fits him!"

"The difficult part of it is that he is a mighty good looking chap, Ollie, and Gertie—" I hesitated.

"Thinks she loves him because of his looks," Ollie finished. "Just because he has big dark eyes, wavy hair and a dimpled chin."

Ollie Worried

"And just because of that cleft in Gerard's chin," Ollie was really worried. She had set her heart on having her younger sister Gertie marry Mr. Tuttle, a rather solemn but decidedly wealthy man of around 40.

"The trouble is, your sister Gertie considers Gerard's cleft in his chin to be a dimple—a beautiful dimple!"

Ollie stared at me. "You guessed it!" she said, and just then Gertie's little yellow roadster stopped in front of Ollie's home. Gertie and Gerard were in it. Gertie saw us and waved, got out and ran into the house. She had always lived with Ollie since their mother died.

Gertie came out of the house again, hopped into her car and drove away.

"Big loafer sits back there and lets Gertie do the driving. I've told her she'll always have to do the driving, all through life!"

"What was your idea, Ollie?" I finally asked.

"Oh, yes—you can help me hold May up to her as a horrible example. I know from what I have heard outside and from what little you have dropped that when May married Jimmy Parsons she made an awful mistake."

Our beloved chum, May Ahton, had first married Harold Dane, but they couldn't make a go of it, so they agreed on a divorce and within a year May had married Jimmy.

"Jimmy is the same sort of a useless man as this Gerard Doolittle is," Ollie said, "and I like him a whole lot, even to the deep cleft in his chin that May calls a dimple."

"But how can I help you? When a girl is as much in love as Gertie—"

Jimmy Flop as Husband

Ollie interrupted me.

"You've said enough to make me know that May is terribly unhappy with Jimmy—that he is an awful flop as a husband. And since you haven't seen her for almost two years, since they were first married, you must have learned it from May's letters. Now look here, why can't you let me show Gertie those letters? She will know it is no fake and it will open her eyes."

"I'll tell you what I'll do, Ollie," I finally agreed. "I will get out May's letters. We will go over them together and if you think, as a whole, they would help Gertie, I'll consent to let her read them."

I ran up stairs, coming back with a packet of letters.

May had gone to the adjoining city to take up Art, with a capital "A" after her divorce, and had married Jimmy there.

"Well, here's one," I said, and read:

"Dearest Jennie: Forgive me for not writing for so long. I've been awfully busy trying to get some commercial value out of my sketches. I might as well confess that Jimmy is breaking my heart—not that he is unfaithful, but because he is downright lazy. I have learned that he gave up his position when we were married. He hasn't done a stroke of work since. He gets his sixty a month from the government for his war injuries—but what is that? We can't manage on it at all. Harold has found it out, and he wants me to divorce Jimmy and re-marry him. I'm almost frantic. Do write me all the home news, and I will let you know if I am ever to have any luck. "MAY."

Reads Another

Ollie's eyes were eager. She reached and took the letter and, with pencil, wrote "Number One" on a corner of it.

"That will make Gertie do some thinking," she said. "Are there any more?"

"A few," I admitted, and then I read this one:

"Dearest Jennie: I met the dearest man, a Doctor Johnson. He's around 40, just the right age—he wants me to divorce Jimmy and marry him. I wish I could decide—either Harold or the doctor are worth a bushel of Jimmys. I go out with the doctor a lot. Jimmy thinks I am consulting with authors about illustrating their stories. He knows how hard up I am and insists on lending me money. Harold gives me money, too. Jimmy gets up for breakfast and goes back to bed again. He sits up nights and plays solitaire but he won't work. He won't do a thing except hand me half his pension money—which amounts to a dollar a day. I'm in hopes of selling some of my sketches—perhaps there'll be a way out before long. Unhappy.

"May."

"Lovely!" Ollie cried, snatching this letter. "Wait until I show this to Gertie. I'll say, 'There's you future—taking money from other men to support a lazy husband.' These letters will surely open her eyes."

Perhaps so, and there is another letter—this one will make a hit with you. It seems that this Jimmy, poor May married, is also one of those handsome men with a cleft chin that fool girls call dimples—"

"Read it—do read it!" Ollie begged. So I read:

"Dearest Jennie: I've sold two sketches—didn't get much for them, but it is encouraging. Good to have something encouraging. Jimmy is just the same—not a stroke of work—never intends to work, but always smiling and kind. If he suspects the doctor is fond of me he doesn't seem to care, and I would have been wild if any other girl had tried to catch him when we were courting. I always did rave over his beauty and that dimple in his chin! Harold is jealous—imagine an ex-husband being jealous! He says Jimmy's cleft chin denotes only brutal stubbornness. I won't stand this much more—perhaps my next letter will be from Reno. Both Harold and the dear doctor want to finance my divorce. I'm crazy to sell more of my sketches. I must have clothes—I'm just a dowdy. Something sensational will happen soon. I can feel it. I'll let you know—and thanks for your lovely newsy letters.

"Uneasy, but game for anything. "May."

Raves Over Dimpled Chin

"Gertie raves over Gerard's dimpled chin. Wait until I show her this, where it says that a cleft chin in a man denotes brutal stubbornness. Are there any others? What does May decide, or can't she decide? Is she still miserable?" commented Ollie.

"The fourth letter — attention!" I said. Ollie sat up and leaned forward to listen as I read:

"Dearest Jennie: Harold is getting dictatorial — he insists that I divorce Jimmy and remarry him. The darling doctor is urging me to get Reno-vated so as to become Mrs. 'Doctor.' I've sold some more illustrations and got a decent lot of clothes so that I can go to Reno looking half decent. Wish I could decide between the kind, elderly doctor and the ex-husband. Jimmy loafs calmly as usual. Sometimes I wish he'd grow a beard to hide that distracting chin dimple. I'll probably write from Reno next time. Thanks for the birthday card. I'm just all 'a-twit.'

"May."

"Goodness, what a mess. I'll tell Gertie this will be her fate if she marries Gerard. What's the next letter?" Ollie asked. I read it:

"Dearest Jennie: Destroy my other letters. I didn't mean half I wrote. I'm selling my illustrations regularly, but even if I were not selling a thing I would do as I have done. I came back from a magazine office the other day feeling fine. Jimmy was just getting up. I started to get his breakfast. He came out and kissed me and he was just fresh from the bathroom, shaven and nice, and I just looked at him and hugged him and looked at that adorable dimple and kissed him on the chin, so Jimmy just picked me right up. Well, I was wrong—it's Jimmy forever—I love him and adore that dimple—we'll get along. I'm bound to be happy—don't think me silly—you never loved a man with such a dimple. The doctor was honest and right. He said the cleft denoted passion and vigor and—kindness. He was right. Don't worry, I'm awfully happy.

"May."

"Of all the silly fools!" Ollie screamed. "I only will show Gertie the other letters—"

Ollie's maid had directed a messenger boy across to my house. He delivered a note to Ollie. It was paid and the boy wheeled away. Ollie read it and screamed. I don't wonder. The note was:

"Dear Sister Ollie: Have just married Gerard. Don't be cross—I adored that dimple in his chin and we'll always be happy.

"Gertie."

Sees All, Nose All

Washington Monument, February 20, 1930.

ONE of the sad experiences of my life came shortly after I was married, divorced, and remarried. I came home one night, tired and hungry, after a long chase. Exhausted and nervous, I went to the kitchen, where I reached for a bottle of vanilla extract and was about to revive myself by sniffing the invigorating aroma, when I noticed a strange man under the sink.

Fortunately his back was turned. I thought quick. Surveying this intruder at a glance, I noticed a large, ugly bottle in his hip pocket with which he intended to strike me. On the floor was a grip of burglar's, or plumber's, tools. The coward had a great wrench in his hand and was attaching it to a drain pipe from the sink. Seizing a paper bag, I hastily pulled it over the intruder's head, and tied him securely.

"Say Jack Robinson!" I commanded.

Before he could answer, I had snatched the bottle and was running to headquarters to have it analyzed—but before doing so I met a friend, who suggested—

Mayor Kline Takes Action At Last in Taxi Strike

After weeks of inactivity, Mayor Kline at last has taken action in the taxicab strike.

It does not seem to be courageous action, but it is a relief to note that he did do something—he ordered the taxicabs off the city streets.

The strike disorder, that caused death and injury, was a disgrace to Pittsburgh. The city police failed utterly to preserve order. In many cases the city officers appeared to encourage the rioters, doubtless remembering the fact that Mayor Kline, during the milk drivers' strike, had reinstated policemen that refused to obey orders to guard company property.

Mayor Kline, in his statement of reasons for ordering removal of taxicabs from the streets, makes points that will appear most plausible to a great many persons.

First of all, it has behind it the purpose of preventing disorder, riot and bloodshed, and that will be considered of higher importance than anything else, even if the actual act of stopping taxicabs, in effect, appears to be a surrender to the disorderly element.

To justify his conclusions the Mayor points out that protection of property, such as a factory, as a far different matter from protecting a moving taxicab in the city streets, which belong, not to the taxicab company, but to the people.

There is some merit to the Mayor's argument. With the present status of the cab strike it is evident that they cannot be operated without force. The point then is, shall that force be permitted and to what extent? To date the show of force represented in guards armed with riot sticks on cabs, and the assemblage of police at various points where trouble might be expected, has not been successful in restoring taxicab service.

Shall the show of force be made greater? Shall the taxicab guards be supplied with arms? That was the point Mayor Kline had to consider. A great many people will say that he showed more wisdom in deciding that there has been no taxicab service whatever and that, rather than make the streets an armed battleground, there should not be any further attempt to show there is such service.

It is an extraordinary decision, but it should be remembered the occasion of it is extraordinary.

It may not be legal, but it appears to be prudent.

It is a humiliating surrender to irresponsible rioters, but not so humiliating as daily flouting of police and unrestrained showers of brickbats.

Now that this extraordinary action has been taken, its only excuse will be a speedy end to the strike.

If Mayor Kline can knock the heads of the two warring forces together and make them listen to reason he will, to some extent at least, justify his order.

U. S. Faces the Truth In Narcotic Education

Narcotic education week, observed every day throughout the country, begins today and will last until February 28.

It is honestly observed in the United States, where it is really a narcotic EDUCATION week. In most of the rest of the world it would be pooh-poohed, or politely hushed, or twisted and turned until it became merely a parody of a narcotic education week.

But the United States faces the truth about narcotics because we have been fighting them for nearly a century and have led the fight against the traffic many times in that period.

Great Britain fought China in 1839 because China was trying to prevent the smuggling of opium from India. In the first treaty THIS country ever made with China, in 1844, it agreed to prohibit the smuggling of opium in American ships, and reaffirmed that treaty in 1880 and 1887.

President Roosevelt called an international opium conference in Shanghai in 1909. President Taft called another at The Hague in 1912. The United States has fought opium since the deadliness of the curse was first recognized, has refused to allow its production in any American possession, and has INSISTED on honest international efforts to kill the opium traffic.

Those are a few facts for narcotic education week—and here are a few more:

A sub-committee of the League of Nations met at Geneva recently and accomplished nothing because it was forbidden to discuss the curtailment of opium production.

The opium evil can NEVER be ended until the nations that profit from opium agree to relinquish those evil gains.

Italy, China, Spain and the United States have no stake in such profits and want none. All other nations who attend the opium conferences quibble and evade and work to MAINTAIN the opium traffic. The League of Nations, created ostensibly to bring peace on earth, with good will to all men, actually protects the ghastliest trade on earth today.

And the United States, unable to win the opium producing nations to honest action, can do just two things—prevent the smuggling of DOPE into this country and prevent the sale of the dope that does get in.

The practical thing that YOU can do in narcotic education week is to write to your congressman and senators and tell them that you are EDUCATED in this matter and want them to support the two fine narcotic measures proposed by Representative Porter, of Pennsylvania.

They create a separate narcotics bureau with a commissioner at its head who will have real power; they provide a medical board to advise and recommend as to the proper amount of drugs needed for medical and scientific use in this country; and they authorize the government to deny licenses to narcotic addicts or to individuals and firms convicted of narcotic crimes.

Write those letters to Washington and you will make this narcotic education week well worth while in THIS country.

Are You Normal?

Noted Psychiatrist Says Most of Us Are Not.

In his new and widely-read volume, "The Human Mind," Karl Menninger, M. D., attempts to tell the layman something about modern conceptions of mind and health.

Dr. Menninger is a distinguished psychiatrist. It is comforting to learn that most of us are abnormal—and that there is neither hope nor comfort in sinking to the low level of normalcy. Indeed, Dr. Menninger contends that we would be robots were it not for the divine madness that sends us beyond normalcy.

Men have long been concerned about their souls. The time has come for men to become curious about their own minds.

Will the Fish Get Away With the Boat?

Drawn by Nelson Harding

Oh, have a care if you would tame
This terror of the sea,
Or in the struggle it may put
Your boat in jeopardy.

All very well to try to halt
The monster, if you wish;
But first be certain which is caught,
The fisher, or the fish!

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

YOU know how men will open their hearts to one another sometimes. It's when the ice cream soda is specially good, I reckon. Anyway, there was two of them talking in a place with a tall counter and some tables, and one of them had some sort of tears in his eyes, and he says to the guy across from him at the table, "But looka here. I've got a daughter that can sing but won't. Ain't that about the worst?"

The other guy shed a tear, too. He says, "Say, brother, that ain't nothing. I got a wife that can't sing and will. You can't beat it."

A DELILAH THAT TRIMS 'EM ALL

By Herbert Kaufman

TEN years ago, the news wasn't aware of ninety per cent of the notables whose names are, today, DEAREST to the headlines.

In 1920, the general public wasn't conscious of Walter Chrysler's EXISTENCE—no linotype had ever spelled "Mussolini"—ambition hadn't even veered Pat Hurley's imagination toward a Cabinet post, and a certain Charles A. Lindbergh wasn't aspiring higher than the COCKPIT of a MAIL PLANE.

There's nothing about the EGG to indicate a forthcoming CHAMPION game-cock.

The seed of the sweet and the sour apple look PRECISELY alike.

Powers bears no birthmark. Greatness begins in the same obscure areas as inefficiency.

Don't underestimate the "other fellow." He may be an oak, biding his appointed time in an acorn. You can't tell when he'll decide to branch out or how WIDELY he'll spread, until his root action has fairly developed.

THERE'S only one SAFE rule by which to judge capacity—and that is to follow NO rule.

Appearances are treacherous guide-posts to competence. All faces aren't SHOW-CASES.

Ability can't be weighed on meat scales.

Every now and then, six feet of over-confident bully gets the surprise and trouncing of its life from a seemingly inconsequent RUNT, who refuses to share his chin's RETREATING habit.

More than one pale-faced, soft-spoken citizen is rambling about town with an outfit of safe-racking tools in his cranium. The apparent dub sitting at the opposite desk, likely as not, jingles the pass-keys to a bank president's office in his latent shrewdness.

Success and failure are determined at the goal, not the scratch.

YOUR successor seldom arrives from an ANTICIPATED quarter; he's MORE apt to be running a newsstand at the moment, Or pounding a typewriter. He may climb from the shipping department or step out of the freight elevator.

Don't confide too much faith in the temporary advantage of a college education or influential connections, or lean so heavily on past performances.

Whenever you start to feel cocky and self-assured, some watchful unknown is due to smash through your lowered guard, and bow to the cheers that YOU were taking yesterday.

Stick to the idea that your potential antagonist will be sounder, subtler and bolder than yourself. Exaggerate rather than MINIMIZE his competition, and be wary accordingly. Conceit is the Delilah that trims ALL Samsons.

Wherever over-confidence is advising a top-liner that his button is punch-proof, he's already EN ROUTE to a knockout.

ANYBODY who coddles the notion of indispensibility, is cutting cloth for a figure that doesn't EXIST.

Anybody whose check-outs exceed his rainy-day deposits of information, is bound, finally, to overdraw his account.

Vanity is a trick mirror in which ant-hills behold themselves as mountain peaks.

As soon as you conclude it's no longer necessary to do your mental daily dozen, you're certain to be thrashed to a frazzle by a stranger, whose ONLY right to dig the heel of the victor into your larynx lies in the fact that he's so afraid of a mauling that he's continually prepared for the worst and, consequently, never RELAXES in his training.

The waste baskets of business are jammed with discards—with asses who mis-played admirable hands—with folk competent to have CINCHED noteworthy positions, had they simply PROTECTED their chances and estimated the "other fellow" at a HUNDRED AND TEN instead of NINETY per cent.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

"WHAT CAN A MAN BELIEVE IN THAT WILL MAKE LIFE SEEM WORTH WHILE?"

"Last night five of us were talking at the club," he writes. "Representative American business men, you might call us. All successful, in our various lines . . . all married, with nice families . . . all decent citizens with assured positions. Yet now, at forty-seven, (most of us are around that age) we found ourselves making an amazing confession. NOT ONE OF US COULD HONESTLY SAY THAT HE HAD ANY DEFINITE FAITH IN ANYTHING. Of course we believe in fair play, and all that . . . and we're fond of our families . . . but we have absolutely nothing to take the place of the religious faith our fathers had. And, frankly, life is coming to seem a pretty flat affair.

"We aren't alone in this. I am sure that there are thousands like us. You seem to know life pretty well. How do you size it up? Honestly, Miss Robinson, have you found any belief that you can really bank on . . . that makes life seem worth while?"

Yes, I have. I'm not sure my belief will do you much good, stranger, but it settles the whole show for me. And, such as it is, you're welcome to it.

What do I believe?

I BELIEVE IN PEOPLE!

Yes, I know we're cussed. But the more cussedness I see the more I believe in us. For that very cussedness in us makes the beauty the more miraculous.

And so, I believe in people.

I believe we're Important Phenomena.

I believe we're made for some definite purpose and that that purpose persists—not just for this life, but for all the lives which may be necessary for our growth. For I'm certain we have more than one life. YOU CAN'T TELL ME THAT PROVIDENCE WOULD GIVE A FISH WORM MILLIONS OF YEARS IN WHICH TO EVOLVE ITS TECHNIQUE AND THEN EXPECT A HUMAN SOUL TO DO ITS STUFF IN A MEASELY SIXTY OR SEVENTY YEARS.

Where did we come from—where are we going, in all these lives? I don't know. And I've stopped wondering. BUT I'M SURE WE'RE ON OUR WAY.

I'M SURE THAT, LITTLE BY LITTLE . . . LIFE BY LIFE . . . WE'RE GROWING UP.

It's obvious that some of us haven't grown much yet, and that even the best of us haven't much to boast about—but I'm certain that we're all getting along . . . and that some day we'll all straggle home.

That's what I believe. Perhaps it doesn't seem much of a belief to you, but it answers all the riddles for me . . . all the tangles of badness and sadness and madness . . . these handicapped starts we call birth . . . these blundering exits we call death.

Three score years of life, then harping in heaven or toasting in hell for eternity . . . that plan may appeal to some, but it's a mighty unfair and tiresome scheme, to my notion.

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

THE definitive characteristic of this class of seed-plants is that the seeds are not enclosed in special ovaries, but sit exposed at the bases of the scales; for this reason they are called gymnosperms, which means "naked-seeded."

In the second class the seeds are housed in ovaries, and the members of the group are therefore called angiosperms, which means "with seeds in containers."

H. G. Wells

The class includes nearly all of the herbs and trees with which the reader is familiar.

They belong to the contemporary world.

There are no phanerogams in the most ancient rocks; gymnosperms appear in association with reptiles; and the angiosperms, flowers and grass and leaf-shedding tree, only become dominant as the mammal and bird become prevalent in the world.

Sec. 5—Ferns and Mosses

We turn now to plants that do not possess flowers, and do not distribute themselves by means of those elaborate and sexually-produced structures we call seeds.

The reader will be familiar with the appearance of one or two kinds of fern, but he or she has probably only met the comparatively unassuming members of the group that inhabit temperate countries.

For the ferns attain their fullest, luxuriance in tropical climates. In Central America the common bracken fern towers to double the height of a man, and there are species peculiar to the tropics that grow like trees, with erect cylindrical stems sixty feet or more in height, bearing crowns of spreading fronds.

The group is large and varied; it includes over three thousand species, ranging in size from these tree-ferns to the minute filmy ferns, hardly larger than mosses.

Instead of bearing flowers and seeds, ferns reproduce themselves by means of spores. A spore is a tiny particle of living substance, enclosed in most instances in a more or less resistant shell, and capable of growing directly into a plant without any sort of fertilizing process.

It is an airasexual production. Fern-spores are produced by proliferation of cells in the pale brown areas that form such conspicuous patternings of circles or stripes on the lower sides of the fronds of most ferns.

The spores are very small and light; indeed, they are single cells, and when they are ripe they escape and are blown about, often for considerable distances, by the wind.

If a spore drops on suitable soil it germinates and begins to grow, but it does not develop into a new fern. It grows into a structure called a prothallus, which, instead of bearing conspicuous erect fronds, is, in most cases, a flat leaf-like plate of green tissue, less than an inch across, and sending a few tiny roots into the soil.

This simple object is not a young fern—indeed, it is not a young thing at all, for it is sexually mature, it reproduces, and dies without further development. It is a generation in itself.

Scattered over its under surface there are tiny reproductive organs of two kinds, male and female. The female organs are shaped like long-necked flasks, waiting in the belly of each flask is a single egg-cell.

The male organs are globular, and consist of masses of tissue that is proliferating and giving rise to the male gametes. Now the male gametes are not passive, like pollen-cells, but they swim actively like spermatozoa.

They have little bodies, shaped like a corkscrew and with a tuft of lashing tails at one end; at the other they usually carry hollow, bladder-like structures which may come off and be left behind without in any way disconcerting the little swimmers.

These spermatozoa make their way through the moisture that usually collects under the prothallus towards the female organs, and they pass down the necks of the flasks to fertilize the waiting egg-cells.

All this is more like animal reproduction than anything we have hitherto related of plants. As the result of fertilization the egg-cell begins to grow, and it develops into a fern-plant like the one we started from.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Thoughts while strolling: That quick step of pedestrians in the middle of the street when a cop blows his whistle. Why do Italians own all corner fruit stands? The former Joan Sawyer. Who danced with Valentino. The soft loveliness to the chime of far away bells.

John La Gatta, the artist. And Harry Kemp, the poet. A quiet dignity about a linen store. Richard Whitney who cried "205 for steel!" And was hailed as Well Street's savior in the slump. All the boot blacks have radios. Six kittens trailing a mother cat. And traffic stops.

Inez Haynes Irwin, a Rio Janeiro, Brazil, girl, who made good in the city. Tough mugs who photograph for tabloids. And always get the photos, too. Those windows flooded in red, green, and yellow changing lights. And the shoe shop with blue shutters and trailing vines.

Still more street bands. The sudden giddiness when you plunge into the vaulted dome of Grand Central from the street. Everybody for some reason approaches a train caller humbly. The wealthiest travelers carry the least baggage. Tempting displays of magazines and brigh-jacketed books.

Ladies who look about before stepping on coin-in-the-slot weighing machines. Redcaps talking of majoring in this and that. Wonder if four out of five still have it? The fellow who peddles horse-hair belts—made in prisons. And the fly-blown stationery store with the ostrich egg in the window.

School children don't seem to carry books home any more. William H. Todd, the Brooklyn ship builder. Flowers blooming in the crannied walls of an abandoned brewery. The East Side children's only winter game—sidewalk hop scotch. Why are so many waiters Swiss? Lewis Brander.

Staring babies in perambulators Marketing mothers in aprons and shawls. Bargaining for pennies. But with good humor. The blue lights in the gloomy undertaking parlors. And the black derbied attendants with black ties. The odor of myrrh. And squawking radios.

Somehow—and here I go again—I've had my fill of all night stay-outs who drop in the next morning with a satchel under each eye and feeling like the last 10 minutes of a misspent life just to tell you what a big night they had.

* * *

There is always at least one cut-up at such parties who is described the next day as "a scream." With very few exceptions, I have never seen a funny drunk at a party—unless you call—and please don't—wearing a woman's hat funny.

Small specialty shops now feature "clerks with a personality." These are salesmen and saleswomen who have distinct followings. When they go from one shop to another they take customers with them. In a theater program ad of one shop I notice a line: "Ask for Mr. David." Several billboards herald: "Mr. So-andso, Broadway's favorite clerk, now greets you at Blank's."

* * *

A number of these energetic clerks are willing to work for a guarantee of a very small sum—often $10 to $15 a week. But they are hustlers, and with commissions often realize from $75 to $100 a week. They send out personal letters and use the telephone to tell of the arrival of special articles.

* * *

A theatrical producer confides there are very few stars who do not hate their understudies. The reason, of course, is jealousy. "The so-called bravery of performers in illness or sudden disaster," he says, "is largely bunk. They have built up the pretty legend 'The show must go on!' The fact is most of them are afraid the understudy, when given a chance, will run away with the part."

* * *

It just comes to me, however, that there are not many of us in any racket who want an understudy fooling around with our jobs.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

MR. HUSBAND, do you give your wife a fair deal when you call up just before dinner to say that you are bringing a friend home with you?

You cannot understand why she should be annoyed and perhaps give reasons why it is not convenient to entertain dinner guests that evening.

It is very easy for you to say that he is an ordinary sort of fellow. That what she had planned is good enough for him as for you.

But there is a big difference between preparing a meal for the family and one to which an outsider is invited.

Naturally the wife would like to prepare some little delicacies that are not served ordinarily to the family.

When you take a friend home you do so because you are proud of your family and your home, and your wife knows it.

If your wife is a good cook, you take pride in that fact.

It does not cost you any extra effort to entertain a friend, but it means considerable effort and work for your wife, if you are not fortunate enough to keep a maid.

The matter of invited dinner guests should not be a one-sided affair.

Your wife should have something to say about it, especially about the time.

You are not pleased when your wife invites friends to your home without first having consulted you, are you?
